PHONE COMPANY WINS FRANCHISE BY 37 TO 9 VOTE

Agrees to Negotiate Subway Removal.

The city council voted 37 to 9 last night to grant the Illinois Bell Telephone company a twenty-three year franchise. This action came after seven hours of turbulent and bitter debate which came to an end with the roll call about midnight.

Leaders in minority against the ordinance included Aldermen John Clark [10th], Arthur F. Albert [43d], Dorsey Crowe [42nd], and A. J. Horan [29th]. Ald. John A. Massen [48th] was also vigorous in his disapproval of the measure until the final vote when he switched to the yes column because "the ordinance is about the best we can get."

Arvey Is Chief Supporter.

Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the council gas, oil and electric light committee which drafted the franchise ordinance, was its chief supporter, and he was aided by Ald. Berthold A. Cronson [4th] and James R. Bowler [25th]. The final vote registered:

For the franchise:

Coughlin	Sloan
Jakstas	Leahy
Jackson	Maypole
Cronson	Konkowski
Dunne	Smith
Cusack	Roszczynialski
Wheeler	Kaindl
Dolezalek	Self
Schoenecker	Nusser
O'Toole	Taylor
Byrne	Ringa
Ryan	Ross
Doyle	T. J. Bowler
Pucinski	Feigenbutz
J. L. Horan	Hoellen
Quirk	Massen
Thum	Williston
Arvey	Mellin
J. R. Bowler

Against the franchise:

Keating	Landmesser
Brown	Crowe
Northrup	Albert
A. J. Horan	Loescher
Clark

Most of the afternoon and evening debate, which frequently became vehement, concerned one point—whether the ordinance provides specifically that the telephone company be forced to relocate its conduit, cables and equipment in the projected subway at the company's expense. As finally adopted, the ordinance allowed the company to agree to this if it can reach an agreement to do so with the three chief Insull utilities which are also concerned in such removals.

Ordinance Is Changed.

The committee draft of the franchise had provided that the company should, independent of the rest of the utilities, remove and relocate its equipment in the subway at its expense in the event a "valid" ordinance is passed requiring it. There was some debate in the gas, oil committee over this word "valid" and the measure came upon the council floor yesterday with several aldermen doubtful of its import.

Last minutes conferences were held in anticipation of this objection, and Ald. Arvey announced, as the council resolved itself into committee of the whole, that an agreement had been reached by the telephone company together with the three major Insull properties—the Commonwealth Edison company, Peoples' Gas, Light and Coke company, and the various lines which are to form the consolidated local transportation company.

Insull's Position Told.

The statement that such an agreement had been reached represented the joint attitude of Mr. Insull, and three of his associates, Britton I. Budd, George Cooke, and Waldo Tobey, it was said. It included this phrase:

"It is Mr. Insull's position that the public utility companies under his general control should bear all the reasonable and necessary expense of relocating and adjusting their facilities during and after subway construction and that they should pay such compensation, if any, as may be just and reasonable in view of the new location provided by the city."

"But this isn't a part of the ordinance, is it?" questioned Ald. Clark after the statement had been read. He was told that it wasn't.

The minority, led by Albert, Horan and others, then began objections to "the stampede" in behalf of the franchise and pleaded for more time to consider section No. 4 which was substituted for the clause which made the company bear the expense of its equipment relocation independent of other utilities.

Agree to Negotiate.

This section stated that the telephone company "agrees to enter into negotiations for and to become a party

ASSAILS INSULL; ASKS QUIZ INTO PRESS FINANCE

Ald. Albert's Eye Is on Newspapers.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Ald. Arthur F. Albert in the session of the city council yesterday advocated a federal government inquiry to ascertain whether any Insull interest has tried to influence Chicago newspapers.

The alderman had just returned from a hearing before the Illinois commerce commission. He had petitioned the commission on June 5 to revoke the leases between the Chicago Rapid Transit company and the Aurora-Elgin third rail electric, and the North Shore electric line. To the Aurora-Elgin Line the "L" paid $379,047 in rent last year to operate its cars to Westchester and $243,634 to North Shore line for the operation of "L" cars to Niles Center.

Ald. Albert desires that those funds be spent for the benefit of Chicago patrons of the elevated. Yesterday the alderman ascertained that the commission had granted permission to the "L" lines to buy $246,000 worth of prior lien preferred stock of the Aurora-Elgin line that it might elevate its tracks over steam railroad tracks.

Asks About Newspaper Financing.

Then when Ald. Albert obtained an opportunity in the city council meeting yesterday afternoon he presented and had passed an order on Samuel A. Ettelson "to interest himself as corporation counsel" in these matters "with a view of protecting the rights and interests of the people of Chicago." In connection with this order the alderman said:

"It might be wise for the council to wake up before intervention on the part of the federal government to find to what extent this fellow Insull and his emissaries, Halsey Stuart & Co., are reaching to influence the newspapers of Chicago."

Halsey, Stuart & Co. are a bond house. They were recently asked by Samuel Insull to become consolidation manager in the merger of the surface and elevated lines. This company was also selected as underwriting managers to raise the first $25,000,000 to be spent for extensions and improvements by the consolidated company.

Sell Newspaper Bonds.

Asked later to what he referred in regard to influence on newspapers, Ald. Albert said:

"I have been informed that Halsey, Stuart & Co. have sold bonds and debentures of some of the Chicago newspapers. I want the federal government to ascertain whether they have attempted to influence any of the Chicago newspapers. Some time ago, I asked the city council to have the Norris committee invited to investigate the local utility interests. Now I shall attempt to get something done along that line."

In his speech on his resolution, Ald. Albert said further:

"The Elevated lines have not been able to raise enough money to give Chicago the sort of transportation it desires and needs. Yet it is spending $600,000 a year in rentals to run "L" cars to Niles Center and Westchester, where they have to be careful that the cars don't run over the cows. All the time the people of Chicago are suffering from lack of transportation.

Would Fight "This Octopus."

"On top of that the 'L' now proposes to buy $246,000 of the prior lien preferred stock of the Aurora-Elgin line that it may elevate its tracks over certain steam railroads. The directors who put through such deals should be put in jail. This evil influence should be curbed.

"I would like to see the mayor use his vigor and zeal in fighting an octopus of this kind rather than the king of England. We have people around here who represented Samuel Insull yesterday and will represent him tomorrow, but who today are supposed to be representing the people."

Seeks Car Extension Permits.

Attorney Harry P. Weber for the South Side Surface lines petitioned the Illinois commerce commission yesterday for the privilege of establishing 4½ miles of bus lines and 15½ miles of street car extensions. A hearing will probably be held Thursday. The proposed new lines are as follows:

South Western avenue from West 75th street to West 119th street—5½ miles.

East 51st street from South Park way to

CHICAGO LAWYER LEAPS TO DEATH IN MILWAUKEE

John J. Poulton, Chicago attorney, and formerly active in Democratic politics in the organization of the late Roger C. Sullivan, leaped to his death yesterday afternoon from the 27th street viaduct in Milwaukee. The tragedy was witnessed by street crowds. Mr. Poulton for six weeks had been a patient at Sacred Heart sanitarium, Milwaukee, following a nervous breakdown.

Mr. Poulton, who was 52 years old, is survived by the widow and by his mother. The family home is at 7244 Coles avenue He maintained law offices at 7 South Dearborn street and at 3036 East 92d street, beginning his practice here shortly after graduating from the Chicago Kent College of Law in 1904.

Mr. Poulton became active in politics as a young man. He was long a leader in the old 8th ward, now the 7th, and was elected to the state legislature in 1905, remaining there until 1911. Later he became an assistant state's attorney general under Patrick J. Lucey.

The widow is the former Elizabeth Sullivan of Springfield, whom Mr. Poulton married in 1917. Funeral arrangements had not been completed last night.

"MEANEST MAN" GOES TO JAIL TO WORK OUT FINE

Mrs. Josephine Blotteaux appeared in Stockyards court yesterday against her husband, Leo, 39 year old plumber of 1816 West 39th street.

"He spends his wages on liquor and he beats me, but that isn't the worst," she told Judge Fardy. "Our baby, Lorraine, 14 months old, is ill with anemia in Michael Reese hospital and he has refused to give blood to save her. I have submitted to several transfusions, but it sapped my strength and kept me away from my job in a factory."

The judge turned to Blotteaux.

"You," he said, "are the meanest man I ever encountered. You're almost inhuman. I'll fine you $100 and, since you can't pay, you may serve it in the Bridewell."

BRITISH PEERS PASS NAVY PACT; NEED KING'S O. K.

LONDON, July 29.—(AP)—The London naval treaty passed through all its stages in the house of lords this afternoon and tonight only needed the royal assent before becoming effective. The bill already had passed the house of commons. It gives legal support to the pact entered into at the recent London naval conference. The royal signature will be affixed, it was said by officials, before parliament is prorogued this week.

Lost Police Papers Found; Aid Mooney

San Francisco, Cal., July 29.—(AP)—Police documents lost 14 years ago came to light today during the state Supreme court examination of John MacDonald, recanting witness in the preparedness day bombing trials, and refuted his original identification of Thomas Mooney and Warren K. Billings, serving life terms for the bombing, which took 10 lives and injured 40 persons.

The papers were the report MacDonald made to police two days after the bombing July 22, 1916, and the original police report on the subject.

Defense attorneys immediately pointed out that descriptions given in the reports of the two men MacDonald said were implicated in placing the bomb laden suitcase varied definitely from the actual measurements of Mooney and Billings.

Police Suppressed Reports.

At the hearing today it was brought out that despite police knowledge of the reports, MacDonald was permitted to take the stand during the subsequent trials and identify Mooney and Billings as the men he saw place the bomb.

The documents, unearthed from police files during the last fortnight, were introduced at today's hearing unexpectedly. They never before had appeared in any phase of the 14 year old case of Mooney and Billings.

Introduction of the reports followed MacDonald's reiteration before the seven Supreme court justices considering Billings new application for a pardon, that he perjured himself at the original trials at the instance of former District Attorney Charles M. Fickert and Police Captain Charles Goff, then a sergeant.

The accusations of MacDonald, a Baltimore waiter, were heard by both Fickert and Goff, who occupied seats in the court room.

Insists He's Telling Truth Now.

Wan and nervous, MacDonald frequently broke down, but despite frequent tangles in which he found himself, he clung firmly to his assertion he lied at the Mooney-Billings trials.

"I lied then, but I'm telling the whole truth now," he said time and again.

Under questioning by Justice John W. Preston, MacDonald admitted he had told "five different stories at five different times" about the bombing. Asked how the court was to know which one to believe, he replied:

"Only by your own judgment."

The aged waiter opened his testimony by saying he was now in a frame of mind to tell the truth. In addition to asserting he gave testimony damaging to Mooney and Billings at the time of the bombing because he was "induced to do so," MacDonald admitted he had been drinking considerably a year or two before the event.

"A whole pack of lies was packed into my head," answered MacDonald.

"When did you start packing those lies into your head?" Preston asked.

"I did not pack them in. Mr. Fickert did," the witness asserted.

MacDonald said his first contact with Mooney and Billings was a few days after the bombing. Capt. Charles Goff, he said, brought him a book containing pictures or Billings and Mooney.

"Goff told me these were the men," MacDonald said, "but I told him they didn't look like the men to me."

STEAL 11 CASES OF OLD SCOTCH IN EVANSTON HOME

Art Prevost, Fred Kemper and Elmer Wisemant, three Highland Park gardeners, drank too deeply of Kemper's moonshine and drove to Evanston, where Wisemant had learned of a pre-war Scotch supply at the home of Lynn A. Williams, patent attorney, 568 Ingleside place. The attorney and his family are on a vacation trip on his yacht.

The gardeners found the liquor in a closet on the second floor and carried away eleven cases, which they sold to a roadhouse proprietor for $500. Then they started celebrating. Prevost, arrested in Highland Park yesterday for disorderly conduct, told the police the whole story. Kemper, also intoxicated, was arrested later, and he confirmed Prevost's confession. Wisemant hasn't been found.

Chinese Reds Burn, Loot City of 500,000

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, China, July 30 (Wednesday).—(AP)—Changsha dispatches today said communists, checked in their wholesale destruction of the city, systematically burned foreign properties after giving their contents to street rabble.

BULLETIN.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—(AP)—The state department tonight announced that the Nanking government had been cautioned against the loss of American life or property at Taian, Shantung, China, and that should such loss occur "the American government reserves all rights in the matter." Official sources also reported that the U. S. S. Palos, which had removed Americans from Changsha, had left there because it could not protect property in view of the "overwhelming number of communists."

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, July 29.—All the provisional government buildings, as well as the homes of the officials of Changsha, capital and commercial metropolis of Hunan province, were burned and looted last night and today and the entire population of more than 500,000 was robbed by a Red army of more than 10,000 men. The communist forces occupied the city following the defeat and evacuation of provincial troops.

According to reports received here from foreign sources this afternoon, the entire foreign population, excepting two American missionaries, were safely evacuated aboard one American, two British, and one Japanese gunboat, which are now stationed in the Hsiang river five miles north of Changsha. An Italian Catholic priest, Father Baima, was captured by the Reds.

Chicagoan Stays in City.

Two American missionaries, the Rev. Allen Cameron, a graduate of the Moody Bible institute of Chicago, and William Lingle, member of the Presbyterian mission, informed the American naval authorities that they were "conscientious objectors." They refused to depart aboard the gunboat. Miss Maud Rusohell of the Y. W. C. A. at first refused to depart, but later changed her mind, when she realized the ferocity of the communist horde.

The American gunboat brought out the staff of the Standard Oil Company of New York as well as a number of missionaries connected with Yale-in-China university and Bible institute members of the Presbyterian and Episcopal missions, and also many German business men and European Catholic priests.

Fear for Foreign Property.

Due to the cutting of the telephone and telegraph wires between Changsha and Hankow, no reports have been received regarding foreign properties, but it is thought likely that these have been burned and looted, particularly the foreign settlement, located on an island in the center of the Hsiang river adjacent to the city. It is here that the British and Japanese consulates are located. The American consulate at Changsha was withdrawn two years ago.

Changsha is the richest prize to fall into the hands of the communists in the last two years. Red depredations in Hunan and Kiangsi provinces have laid waste a section of territory as large as two middle western states of the United States.

Official Blames Moscow.

Gen. Ho Chien, head of the Hunan provisional government, when asked concerning the situation, declared that the communist army is operating in accordance with definite plans outlined and carried out by the Third International headquarters at Moscow. He said the Chinese communist leaders are maintaining direct contact with Moscow and receive regular financial support which is transmitted through soviet agents in Shanghai.

Gen. Ho Ying-chin, minister of war of the national government, who is commander in chief of government troops in the Hankow district, has ordered reinforcements to Changsha.

Reported Far from Irish Coast.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, July 30 (Wednesday).—(AP)—The dirigible R-100 reported her position at midnight, Greenwich meridian time (7 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time), to the air ministry as 53.05 latitude north and 21 longitude west, which is 473 miles west of Ireland. The airship radioed that the sky was overcast and the wind had slightly decreased. Visibility was good. The dirigible reported that she was making a speed of 50 knots and all was well on board.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, July 30 (Wednesday).—(AP)—The master of the steamship Montclare radioed the Associated Press this morning that at 3:17 a. m., Greenwich meridian time (10:17 p. m. Chicago time), he had given the Canada bound dirigible R-100 his position as 52:16 north latitude and 18:26 west longitude, or about 387 miles west of the southern tip of Ireland. He said the British dirigible was bearing from him.

LONDON, July 29.—(AP)—Great Britain's R-100, the biggest dirigible in the world, tonight was well out over the Atlantic ocean on her way to Montreal, Canada.

With her six Rolls-Royce engines smoothly turning out a speed of sixty miles per hour, she reported her position at 7 p. m. British summer time [1 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time] as 200 miles west of the Irish coast.

A wireless from the master of the British steamer Manchester Exporter tonight said the ship had been in communication with the dirigible about 300 miles west of the Irish coast at 8:25 p. m. G. M. T. [3:25 p. m. Chicago time.]

Reports Good Trip.

The ship did not sight the R-100, but got her wireless signals very strong. The message said:

"Latitude 51.50 north, longitude 17.41 west, in wireless communication with R-100, bearing two and a half degrees true from that position. Signals very strong, but not sighted.

"Weather fine and clear with wind from the northwest. The barometer is rising slowly. The R-100 reports having a good trip so far."

Route Followed by Ship.

Since leaving her mooring mast at Cardington at 2 a. m. today, the pride of Great Britain's dirigibles had described an arc over northern Ireland. Quitting the English coast at Liverpool, she passed over the Isle of Man and through the Mull of Kintyre, the narrow channel separating Ulster and Scotland.

Then, flying over Rathlin island, she circled above Malin Head, Ulster, and headed southwesterly along the general line of the ship lane from Glasgow to Quebec.

On board the big airship, her messages said, passengers and crew had settled down to the normal routine of airship life, which they will pursue, barring accidents, until they arrive late Thursday or early Friday morning at St. Hubert airport, Montreal.

"Nothing of Interest."

"Nothing of interest to report," one message said, "Every one now settled down to normal routine. Nebulous clouds 1,300 feet and good visibility. Flying at 2,100 feet."

Periodic broadcasts from her well equipped wireless sets to the air ministry kept Great Britain informed of the first day's progress. She was constantly in communication with ships and picked up frequent weather reports.

As she headed toward the open sea, the winds facing her unexpectedly shifted, and from having been favorable when she started became adverse. This change produced a deviation in her intended course. Instead of heading north from the Irish sea to the Hebrides the airship cut much closer to northern Ulster.

Will Follow Great Circle.

Meteorological data picked up from passing ships proved to be of great value in determining her course. In general her route remains that of the great circle across the Atlantic. Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, her commander, probably will keep to his preferred course, heading to a point south of Cape Farewell, Greenland, then crossing Labrador and following the St. Lawrence river to Montreal. However, the choice has been left entirely to his discretion and will depend on weather conditions.

Apart from adverse winds, the R-100 met fair weather. A few rainy patches, with squalls blowing from Argyle, greeted her while passing out from the Irish sea, but once over the ocean the weather was fine and cold.

Passengers Carry Luck Tokens.

A number of good luck tokens were carried by those on board the dirigible. Sir Charles Denistoun Burney, designer of the ship, took a small ring which his wife, the former Gladys High of Chicago, had owned since she was a child.

"I gave it to him because it always brought me luck," Lady Burney explained.

Squadron Leader E. L. Johnston, the navigator, had a photograph of his wife which he had carried for 18 years.

"I have had good fortune ever since I met my wife," he remarked, "and you can bet that same good fortune will be with us on this little trip."

Burney Expresses Confidence.

As Sir Charles smoked a final cigar before embarking he said he believed the R-100 would come up to his expectations after years of designing.

"If we can make the outward journey in 60 hours, as we hope to do," he said, "and the homeward trip in 50, it will prove that we are getting on top of the job.

"It brings the day appreciably nearer when airships will be commercial propositions. To my mind, the airship of the future will be one of about double the displacement of the R-100, with cruising speed of 85 to 90 miles an hour."

Maj. G. H. Scott, who flew the British dirigible R-34 across the Atlantic and back, and who is also aboard the R-100, shares Sir Charles' confidence in the R-100.

"She is very easy to handle," he said, "and is perfectly steady, even when traveling at top speed. I am certain that she will do well. Weather prospects are good and everything points to a pleasant crossing. If all goes well we should be in Montreal about dawn Friday."

BERLIN-CHICAGO FLYERS DELAY HOP TO ICELAND

KIRKWALL, Orkney Islands, July 29.—(AP)—Wolfram Hirth and Oscar Weller, German aviators attempting a flight from Berlin to Chicago, paused here today, undecided as to the next move in their progress. Their plans for the next hop, to Iceland, were halted by information today of unfavorable weather and the lack of a landing field at Reykjavik.

Advices by cable from Iceland said Kaldadarnes would be suitable for landing. The airmen could not find that place on available charts.

BRITAIN TO PROBE "DRUNKENNESS" IN PARLIAMENT

Charge of Graft Also Up for an Airing.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 29.—By an overwhelming majority, the house of commons tonight decided to refer to the committee on privileges the charges of bribery and drunkenness against fellow members of parliament, made by E. Sandham, Laborite, in a public speech Saturday.

When called upon by the speaker to give an explanation of his allegations Mr. Sandham declared:

"I will stand by everything I have said," and proceeded to read extracts from his speech, including the offending passage, "Labor members have accepted money from money lenders and other interests to help pass doubtful bills, and Labor members get drunk in the house."

Accuses All Parties.

In a lively debate which followed, Mr. Sandham was solidly backed by the rebel leader, J. Maxton, who declared that he was quite prepared to have the matter probed to its very foundation.

At this point, E. Scrymgeour, Independent Laborite, entered the affray, challenging the house by declaring:

"I will admit that there is no member of this house who can dispute having seen from time to time members of all parties under the influence of drink."

Hints at Documentary Evidence.

After the uproar had died down, W. J. Brown arose to support Mr. Maxton.

"I have documents in my pocket which are going to be produced if this charge of corruption is gone into," he declared significantly.

The speaker of the house then requested Mr. Sandham to leave while the house considered the question. After his departure, Prime Minister MacDonald said:

"I think the duty of this house is perfectly plain. The earl of Winterton drew attention to the speech delivered by Mr. Sandham. There were two statements in that speech upon which any action may be based.

"Very Serious Statements."

"The first is that Labor members can receive bribes to help pass doubtful bills in the interest of private individuals. It is perfectly obvious that the 'can' there means we are free to do so if we like and that the act has been done.

"The second statement is that it is known that Labor members take from money lenders and other interests. That is one point repeated with two variations. Both are very serious statements.

"The honorable member must have had in his mind facts of men and occasions and he must be asked to inform a representative committee of the house who they are and on what basis he made his charges."

Sandham to Tell His Story.

Thereupon Mr. MacDonald proposed that the matter be referred to the committee on privileges, a course in which Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, and David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, acquiesced. The proposal was carried by 419 to 8 votes. Mr. Sandham will appear before the committee tomorrow.

Report MacDonald May Get $10,000 Raise in Salary

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 29.—A recommendation that Prime Minister MacDonald's salary be raised forthwith from $25,000 to $35,000 a year, it is reported, will be made to parliament by the select committee which inquired recently into the remuneration of the premier's crown.

CANADIAN TORIES PLAN NEW BLOWS AT YANKEE TRADE

Election Victors Map High Tariff Wall.

BY GEORGE SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., July 29.—[Special.]—Higher tariffs against the world in general, and especially against the United States, and withdrawal of the Liberal government's extended trade preferences to Great Britain unless the mother country gives preference to Canadian grain and farm products in her markets, are expected as a result of the election landslide which swept the MacKenzie King government from office and installed a Conservative administration under Richard B. Bennett yesterday. Mr. Bennett is expected to call an immediate session of parliament to reconstruct Canada's economic structure.

Hard times in Canada twisted customary political sentiment out of all recognizable shape in yesterday's election. Liberals were swept out of Quebec province strongholds where the normal vote is two and three to one Liberal. The Conservatives increased their parliamentary representation from four to 23 in Quebec and from one to 23 in the low tariff prairie provinces.

They gained five seats in Ontario and, curiously enough, lost three to the Liberals in the British Columbia Conservative strongholds.

Tories Win 137 Seats.

The Conservatives emerge from the fray with 138 seats all told, a working majority of about 25 over all other parties.

The resignation from office of Premier MacKenzie King and his surviving cabinet ministers is expected this week, and Premier Elect Bennett will commence immediately to form the new Conservative government.

With three ridings still in the doubtful column the election result this evening is as follows:

Conservatives elected	138
Liberals	85
United Farmers	10
Progressives	2
Liberal Progressives	2
Labor	3
Independents	3

See $500,000,000 Blow at U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 29.—Predictions that the victory of the Conservative party in the Canadian elections will mean a loss of $500,000,000 in exports from the United States to Canada because of the tariff plans of the Conservatives are borne out by the general protectionist scheme of the victorious party to raise still higher tariff walls against the whole world.

American business men saw some hope in the fact that the Conservatives had promised equal tariffs against all nations, but this optimism is vanishing as it becomes apparent that the Conservative tariff will be much higher than any in the history of Canada.

New Premier a Vigorous Man.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 29.—[By the Canadian Press.] — Canada's next prime minister, R. B. Bennett, is a man of extraordinary mental and physical vigor. He passed his 60th birthday this month.

For seven weeks he campaigned through every province of the dominion, covering almost 14,000 miles and addressing more than 100 meetings, yet if he was fatigued he did not show it. His broad shoulders give a touch of massiveness to his appearance and he is almost 6 feet tall.

Mr. Bennett was born in Hopewell, N. B., the ninth generation on the American continent. He was admitted to the bar of New Brunswick, but in 1897 he moved to Calgary, where he has since resided. He is a bachelor. Mr. Bennett entered the house of commons in 1911 from Calgary. He was minister of justice and attorney general of Canada in the Meighen cabinet.

NOVICE PILOT'S PLANE CRASHES; 2 BURN TO DEATH

Craft Bound from Chicago Falls at Madison.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., July 29.—[Special.]—A new airplane flown by a novice fell 150 feet into a marsh near the Madison airport today, killing the pilot and his companion. The flyers were unable to extricate themselves from their safety belts before the plane caught fire and they were burned to death.

The aviators were Charles E. Anderton Jr., 29 years old, Los Angeles broker, who was piloting the plane, and George A. Morgan, 22, of St. Paul. They were flying a new Great Lakes Trainer, powered with a Cirrus motor. They had kept the plane at the Curtiss airport in Chicago, from where the flyers started on a journey to St. Paul early today.

Takes Off Across Wind.

The pilot did not take advantage of the full length of field in taking off, airmen said, pulling the plane into the air after only a short run. Contrary to custom, the plane took off across wind, instead of directly into the wind, the airport pilots asserted. Without sufficient altitude the plane approached a grove of trees and the pilot swerved down wind to avoid them, losing flying speed and stalling, according to witnesses.

The plane wabbled and fell, but the pilot managed to land it in an upright position. Both men were seen to stand up in their cockpits and struggle to free themselves from their safety straps, but the plane soon caught fire as the ignition switch was not turned off. Airport pilots reached the damaged plane shortly after it crashed, but were unable to rescue the flyers because of the flames.

Anderton maintained a temporary residence at 49 East Cedar street, Chicago. He is said to be survived by his widow and child living in Deauville, France. Anderton's father, Charles E. Anderton Sr. of Milwaukee, had not been notified of the fatal accident tonight and his secretary was trying to reach him in northern Wisconsin. Anderton was graduated at the University of Wisconsin in 1915.

REDS BURN CITY

'Arrow points to Changsha, capital of Hunan province, China, where a communist army of 10,000 burned public buildings and residences of officials and robbed the 500,000 inhabitants. American, British, and Japanese gunboats rescued most of the foreign residents. It is feared the Reds have also burned foreign properties, including consulates and missions.

KINGSFORD-SMITH ANNOUNCES NEW AUSTRALIAN HOP

SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 29.—(AP)—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, who recently made a westward crossing of the Atlantic in his famous airplane Southern Cross, announced on landing from a ship here today from the United States that he is planning a solo flight from England to Australia, "simply because it is cheaper and quicker than going by sea."

After visiting Amsterdam for a fortnight on business, he plans to return to England. Then he will prepare for his Australian flight.

"My plans are indefinite after that," he said. "The only certain thing is my wedding with Mary Powell at Melbourne. We are to be married within about a month after my return."

JAIL BOY SLEUTH HOT ON TRAIL OF PLUGGED NICKEL

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 29.—[Special.]—Eagle Eye Louis Horowitz, the boy "detective" hot on the trail of a plugged nickel, lost his badge, his liberty, at a staring contest today in a Times square subway station. Louis lost his badge and his liberty to a real detective and was outstared by the Scotch eye [it makes a nickel look like a dollar] of a busy turnstile coin container.

Eagle Eye Louis is "going on 21" and for half of his years has been eager to arrest some one. Until two months ago he was an indifferent shipping clerk, but when he was graduated from a "detective school" he agreed with his employer that carting boxes around was not his racket. So Louis acquired a brass badge inscribed "Private Detective No. 48," a gunmetal toy automatic that served as a cigaret container in spare moments, and an urge to be known as "The Master Sleuth."

Guards Subway Turnstile.

Equipped with the working tools of his profession and a burning ambition to clean up the underworld, so far as it pertained to subways and slug cheaters, Louis mounted guard over turnstile No. 1 at the foot of the 42d street Interborough subway entrance.

Glaring suspiciously at every person who clicked through the turnstile [and that called for consistently steady glaring], Eagle Eye Louis walked over from time to time to peer into the magnified glass eye of the coin box at buffalo nickels that were a bit the worse for wear.

Jerry Haley, railway policeman, became curious and asked Louis what it was all about.

Whispers He Is Burns' Sleuth.

"Honest?" queried Haley.

"O, yeah, I'm the head man in the Burns' outfit," said the youth, "and I'm hot on the trail of those scoundrels who put slugs in the subway stiles."

Haley telephoned the Burns' detective agency and Detective Benjamin Hall dropped in to look over the new man. He said Louis did not belong to Burns.

Held for Disorderly Conduct.

So Louis was arrested and stripped of his badge, "pistol" and professional standing. This afternoon Magistrate George W. Simpson found Louis guilty of disorderly conduct and remanded him to jail for investigation and sentence on Friday.

HAMER TAKES LAP TO OGDEN, BUT GEHLBACH HOLDS AIR RACE LEAD

Ogden, Utah, July 29.—(AP)—Herman Hamer of La Salle, Ill., was the first pilot of the all-American Air Derby to arrive here today for an overnight stop.

Hamer made the long hop of more than 600 miles without stopping to refuel. He won the $1,00 prize offered by the Ogden Chamber of Commerce for the best time between Los Angeles and this city.

BABY SHUFFLE STIRS THREAT OF BIGAMY ACTION

Watkins Accused by His First Wife.

The bringing of bigamy charges against William Watkins, father of one of the two "mixed babies" born in the Englewood hospital was threatened yesterday by Mrs. Anna Van Stan Watkins, Philadelphia night club entertainer, according to Philadelphia dispatches.

The dancer, according to the dispatches, professed her devotion to Watkins, saying "Despite everything, still love him."

She said they were married on Dec. 1917, in Philadelphia, when she was years old and that she had left him eight years ago because of his cruelty. A son, William Jr., was born to the couple. He is now 12 years old.

Doubts That He's Divorced.

"I don't believe Mr. Watkins ever got a divorce," the first Mrs. Watkins was quoted as saying. "If he did, I was never notified. If he advertised the divorce in some obscure rural publication, then he obtained the decree illegally because he knew my address at all times."

The dancer said she first heard about "the other woman" from her son, who was taken to Chicago by Mr. Watkins last summer after he had visited his mother in Philadelphia.

To substantiate her cruelty charges she said that Mr. Watkins sometimes hit their son and on one occasion held him under a cold water faucet just to hurt her.

Mr. Watkins denied his first wife's charge that he had not been legally divorced from her. He said he had obtained a divorce in March, 1928, in Cook county. A search of the divorce records revealed none. On June 29, 1929, Mr. Watkins said, he was married to his present wife, then Mrs. Margaret Stahle Johnson, who also obtained a divorce in March, 1928.

Mr. Watkins said his son was born in May, 1918, two days before he left for overseas service in France, where he was wounded. He asserted that he lived with his first wife for two years after his return from the war.

He said she was not notified of the divorce but that he conformed with all legal requirements.

Divorce Action Secret, He Says.

"I won't say anything about the suit which would damage her reputation, because, after all, she is the mother of my boy, although my parents have cared for him since he was 3 years old," Mr. Watkins said. "That is why I only charged desertion in my divorce proceedings and made them secret."

In her apartment at 1619 West 82d street Mrs. Margaret Watkins, mother of one of the 4 week old babies involved in the case, was informed by a reporter yesterday morning of the charges made by her husband's first wife, and was shown a newspaper story concerning them.

"For God's sake, who put that in?" she exclaimed. "Of course I knew he was married before, but it's got nothing to do with us and the baby. O, isn't that an awful thing for her to do! It's not true. I can prove it. Wait until my husband comes home."

Later she sat, hugging the baby to her, staring into space. Mr. Watkins had not yet returned home.

"Love's the most important thing, and I love my husband, and he loves me," she said. "He's a home loving sort of man. He's good to me. I trust him."

Wants Her Own Baby.

Even should her marriage be proved illegal—and she says it is not—she will fight to get her own baby in case it is proved that the one now held by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bamberger, 5523 South Paulina street, is really hers, Mrs. Watkins said. In any event, she will stick by the father of her child, she declared. Asked where the marriage took place, she said she would give no information on that until her husband returned, but she explained that she had known Mr. Watkins more than three years before they were married.

Following their marriage, Mrs. Watkins said, her husband took her to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Watkins of Conshohocken, Pa.

"This story of that woman's," Mrs. Watkins said, "has ruined me. I have nothing to hide, though, nothing to be ashamed of."

Seek to Straighten Tangle.

Throughout the day, Mr. Watkins and his attorney, Barratt O'Hara, continued their efforts to find a solution of the increasing complications attaching to the identities of the two babies.

Mr. O'Hara had prepared to file yesterday a $100,000 damage suit on behalf of "John Doe," 4 weeks old, against the Englewood hospital, alleging he had lost his identity and his right to force either the Charles Bambergers or the William Watkinses to rear him, under his present status.

Instead, pending an investigation of the first wife's charges against his client, Attorney Ronald Oldham, associate of Mr. O'Hara, filed a bill in equity in the Circuit court asking that the identity of "John Doe," the child held by the Watkinses, be established. The bill was filed in behalf of Mrs. Grace Dibrell, acting president of the Associated Mothers of Illinois, against the Englewood hospital, Mr. and Mrs. Watkins and Mr. and Mrs. Bamberger.

The complaint suggests that the court appoint a guardian for the child and asks that the court take judicial notice because "experts and scientific evidence are available to establish proper identity." The complaint also asks that a summons in chancery be issued by the court and that the defendants appear on the first day of the August term. The summons was answered yesterday by Mr. Bamberger.

Mr. O'Hara said he intends to file a suit for $100,000 against the Englewood hospital today in behalf of Mrs. Watkins.

Bambergers Are Unmoved.

Out at the Bamberger home, Mrs. Bamberger said the news that the first Mrs. Watkins threatened to charge bigamy against the father of one of the babies failed to stir her deeply.

"O, more trouble!" she exclaimed. "I ain't ever heard a word about this. But it don't have anything to do with me. The Watkinses talk of bringing us to court. Well, let 'em."

Bamberger, asked if his attitude was changed by the new complications, replied: "Not a bit. And I've heard all about it. Now I've got nothing more to say."

Although Mr. O'Hara and Mr. Watkins declined to say yesterday where Mr. Watkins' second marriage took place Charles Stahle of Braceville, father of Mrs. Margaret Watkins, said his daughter was married in Chicago. Mr. Stahle and his wife spent a few hours with the baby who may be their grandchild.

A resolution was introduced in the city council last night by Ald. Thomas J. Bowler of the 41st ward that the committee on public health be directed to make an investigation of maternity wards in every hospital in the city, with a view to preventing a recurrence of such situations as that involved in the Bamberger-Watkins case.

ROBBED OF GEMS IN HOME

MRS. ANNA WOLFORT.

POSE AS PLUMBERS

Police of the East Chicago avenue station yesterday were hunting two bandits who robbed Mrs. Anna Wolfort of jewelry valued at $7,900 in her third floor apartment at 201 East Delaware place. Mrs. Wolfort is the wife of Samuel Wolfort, manager of the First State Pawners' society. The robbers gained entrance by posing as plumbers.

COUPLE ON PORCH SHOT BY VOLLEY FROM DARKNESS

Five shots, fired from the darkness of an alley, struck Mrs. Lena Manze, 39 years old, and the man who had for seven months posed as her husband, as they sat on the rear porch of the home of Mrs. Manze's mother, Mrs. Anna Cosenza, at 7717 Greenwod avenue, lastnight.

Wounded twice in the abdomen and once in the arm, the woman's condition was pronounced critical by surgeons at the Jackson Park hospital. The man, known to neighbors as James Manze and whose true name the police were seeking to ascertain, was shot in the right hip and left leg.

Mrs. Manze's four children, Frances, 18 years old; Frank, 16; Anna, 14, and Michael, 13, told Lieut. Al Booth that their father and mother had been divorced and that he was paying her $40 monthly alimony. Their mother had introduced the second man to the household about Christmas time and instructed them to call him "father," they said. Manze is being sought for questioning.

Lowest Senate Campaign Expenditure Is 14 Cents

Washington, D. C., July 29.—(AP)—The lowest campaign expenditure reported thus far to the senate was received today from Matthew M. Neely, Democratic candidate for the West Virginia senatorial nomination. It totaled 14 cents, the cost of postage on the announcement filed with the state secretary.

WHY POLITICIANS GO TO CHURCH IS SUBJECT OF QUIZ

Pastors' Tribunal Tackles New Subject.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Politicians who join the church for the sake of political advantage rather than for spiritual inspiration are to get themselves looked at by the crime investigation committee of the Chicago Church federation. This development of the work of the federation committee was announced yesterday by the Rev. Dr. Frank E. Jensen, pastor of the Mount Zion Lutheran church and chairman of the committee. The committee met yesterday in the Hotel La Salle, and it was announced that no more formal meetings will be held until Sept. 9.

Dr. Jensen said the work of the committee is becoming a hopeful movement which will help unsnarl Chicago's crime-politics-newspaper tangles. He asserted that at no time had there been a thought of abandoning the work started soon after the killing of Alfred Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter. Dr. Jensen referred to a published report that discussion had arisen in the committee as to whether the inquiry should continue or not. However, Dr. Jensen admitted that such discussion had taken place in the committee.

Get Confidential Information.

Dr. Jensen stated that a considerable amount of confidential information had been volunteered to the committee. The crime committee chairman asserted that many people who held such information prefer to give it to the church leaders rather than to other investigating agencies "because of the confidence they have in the leadership of the church federation."

This information, according to Dr. Jensen, will be digested along with other findings of the committee and then disclosed in formal statements when the committee is ready to report to the church people of the city.

Already the committee has proved that it cannot be bought off, Dr. Jensen stated. He then told of an offer of money for committee expense which had been refused. "I told the man that if he should send a check the committee would burn it up," said the pastor.

Dr. Jensen did not reveal how much was offered or who the donor was.

Bars Political Petitions.

Speaking of politicians who join churches to enhance their political reach, Dr. Jensen told how one family was lost by his congregation because, as pastor, he refused to let either the man or his wife solicit signatures at church gatherings for political petitions.

"The congregations should be informed about politicians who join churches," said Dr. Jensen. "Many church people see a man in the congregation who is a candidate for office. He makes a good appearance, but members of the congregation know nothing about him. He may give liberally to the church. For these reasons he garners church votes. Church people are puzzled as to what they should do. This committee will consider this difficult problem.."

Describing the work of the committee as "a movement and an inquiry" rather than an investigation, Dr. Jensen asserted his confidence that the committee would be an important unit in the solution of the city's problems. He stated that it was gathering force daily by drawing the confidence of individual church members. Dr. Jensen related that the Lutheran church was founded on the principle of separation of church and state, but asserted his right, as a citizen, to enter the arena for public betterment.

Walter Mee, secretary of the church federation, told of the plan of the committee to look into the overlapping of reform and uplift agencies which depend upon the support of church people.

U. S. SPURS HUNT FOR FRANK NITTI, AID OF ALPHONSE CAPONE

Federal authorities yesterday renewed the search for Frank Nitti, alias Nitto, reputed treasurer of the Alphonse Capone liquor and vice syndicate, who has been under indictment for four months on charges of evading income taxes.

After Nitti's indictment, he was reported visiting with Capone in Florida and a certified copy of the true bill was forwarded to authorities there, with no results to date. Deputy marshals here have been seeking Nitti with a bench warrant issued at the time of the indictment, but Assistant United States Attorney Dwight H. Green yesterday obtained a second warrant from Federal Judge Woodward, Nitti's alias being used.

Clarence Converse, ace investigator of the intelligence unit of the internal revenue department, is expected to return soon from Detroit to assist in the hunt for Nitti, who is alleged to have evaded payment of some $277,000 in taxes and penalties on liquor and gambling profits.

ACCARDO, M'GURN PAL, GIVES UP ON GUN CHARGE

Tony Accardo, gangster companion of Jack [Machine Gun] McGurn and indicted some months ago, surrendered yesterday in the courtroom of Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the Criminal court. He had previously forfeited his $10,000 bond, but by surrendering saved the forfeiture. Judge Normoyle, however, raised the bond to $25,000.

Accardo was arrested with McGurn last February when the police found them riding in a taxicab armed with revolvers. McGurn was tried and convicted on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was sentenced to 1 year in the county jail and fined $300. He is at liberty on bond pending appeal.

"Neither my client nor myself knew the trial date," was the excuse offered by Attorney John Johntry for the fact that Accardo had previously forfeited his bond. "He is now ready to stand trial."

1,500 GAL. STILL SEIZED IN CICERO BUNGALOW RAID

Prohibition agents late yesterday raided a 1,500 gallon alcohol recooking distillery in a bungalow at 1815 South 52d avenue, Cicero, believed to have been operated by the Capone booze interests. One day's output of the plant, at current wholesale alky quotations, would be worth $7,500, according to the agents. Two cookers, John Rinkus and Joseph Walski, were arrested. Twenty-four alleged Capone stills of smaller capacity were seized in raids on Cicero bungalows last month.

Simmons, Dean of Senate, Seeks Rest in Hospital

Washington, July 29.—(AP)—Senator Furnifold M. Simmons of North Carolina, 76 year old dean of the senate, has entered a Washington hospital to regain strength after his labors in the tariff debate. His condition was reported not serious.

GRAND JURORS TO HEAR LINGLE REPORTS TODAY

Swanson's Staff to Tell Work Done on Case.

$55,725 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,725 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503, Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

The grand jury today will hear reports on progress being made in the investigation of the Alfred [Jake] Lingle murder. At the suggestion of State's Attorney Swanson the jury has invited the three men in charge of the Lingle inquiry to appear before the jury.

These three are Charles F. Rathbun, member of THE TRIBUNE law firm and assistant state's attorney in charge of the investigation; James E. McShane, assistant state's attorney, and Pat Roche, chief investigator.

The Prosecutor's Views.

State's Attorney Swanson is said to have taken the position that there having been so much public discussion of the manner in which the investigation was being conducted, it would be well for a judicial body, such as the grand jury, to consider the steps taken and to render some sort of judgment upon them.

So the Lingle staff will today acquaint the grand jury confidentially with the nature of the investigation, the manner of obtaining and following clews, the assembling of witnesses, and relative matters.

What action the grand jury will take after having heard many witnesses, both in the Lingle case and in connection with charges that other Chicago newspaper men are engaged in racketeering enterprises, was a matter of conjecture.

Report to Be Informal.

It was pointed out that, while the jury has no right under the law to submit a formal report to Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle, other steps might be taken to bring the views of the grand jurors before the public.

One procedure would be for the grand jury to present, through its foreman, Bernard De Vry, an open letter to the public generally discussing the matters before the jury. Another method suggested was for the foreman to deliver an oral statement, which he might read from material approved by all the grand jurors, in Judge Normoyle's court at the time of the jury's discharge.

Former Police Commissioner Russell yesterday visited with Mr. Roche at the Lingle investigation headquarters in the Temple building. Both men said there was no significance in the visit.

Representatives of Chicago Kiwanis clubs, meeting in the Hotel Sherman last night, voted to give financial support to Col. Isham Randolph and the Association of Commerce committee which is endeavoring to clean up crime conditions. "It is up to business men to do all in their power to help the organized agencies to combat crime," said Daniel Wentworth, who presided.

HOOVER READY TO SHOW WHO'S BOSS, 'TIS SAID

Gives Signs of Political Independence.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—There is a new Hoover in the White House, according to the politicians—a strong, self-reliant executive who purposes to rule instead of being ruled.

They have been saying this for some weeks—ever since he slammed a couple of vetoes at congress, dictated terms in the final showdown on the tariff and veterans' legislation and held the nose of the senate to the grindstone till it ratified the navy limitation treaty. Not to mention his persistence in edging Claudius H. Huston out of the chairmanship of the Republican committee.

Enters Congressional Battle.

The politicians were more convinced than ever of the changed attitude of the President when they learned that he has intervened in a Republican primary in behalf of one of the candidates for congress in defiance of the rule prescribing neutrality of the executive in the contest within his own party. Like Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson and also Mr. Coolidge, who indorsed Senator Frederick H. Gillett in the Massachusetts primary, Mr. Hoover apparently feels that circumstances justify exceptions to the rule.

Representative B. Carroll Reece [Rep., Tenn.] is a candidate for renomination, his opponent being Samuel W. Price. The chief issue of the contest is the proposed Muscle Shoals legislation, in which Tennessee is intensely interested. Mr. Price accuses Congressman Reece of scuttling the Norris government operation bill in the house. Mr. Reece, who sponsored a private operation bill, denounces the Norris measure as a "bolshevik scheme framed in Moscow."

Writes Letter to Reece.

President Hoover came to the rescue of Congressman Reece with the following letter:

"I hear that your opponents are charging you with failure to serve the interests of your constituents because you refused to accept the senate plan for dealing with Muscle Shoals.

"The fact is that the house plan will secure developments of this great resource more effectively and more greatly in the interest of Tenessee than would the senate plan. I am assured that the senate plan cannot be passed in the house. Nor would I approve the plan, because it is not in the interest of Tennessee or the rest of the nation. Your course has been the only one which can secure an advancement of this development in the interest of the people of Tennessee."

Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.] asserts that his letter places the President "on the side of the power trust." The Scripps-Howard newspapers found in the letter a new reason in addition to his signature of the tariff bill for repudiating Mr. Hoover, whose election they championed so ardently. They pronounce the indorsement of private operation by the President as a repudiation of his Elizabethton speech which he told the editor of the Knoxville News Sentinel was to be construed as favoring government operation of Muscle Shoals.

Might Accept Democrats.

Evidence is not lacking that the administration would not be exactly dejected if such Republican insurgents as survive the primaries should be defeated by Democrats in the election. Senator Thomas D. Schall [Rep., Minn.], whom the administration tried unsuccessfully to defeat in the primary, is complaining that the White House is holding up the appointment of a new federal judge in Minnesota in order to injure him. His Democratic opponent, Einar Hoidale, is highly regarded by Minnesota politicians connected with the administration.

The executive committee of the Republican national committee will accept the resignation of Chairman Huston on Aug. 7 and elect Robert H. Lucas of Kentucky chairman of the executive committee. James Francis Burke, general counsel of the national committee, has ruled that the executive committee lacks the power to fill the vacancy in the chairmanship of the national committee for which Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio is slated. Vice Chairman Ralph Williams of Oregon contends it has the power under the rule adopted by the Kansas City convention. If the Burke ruling prevails the election of Mr. Fess probably will be postponed to a meeting of the national committee in September.

OIL MILLIONAIRE IS LEADING GORE, BLIND EX-SENATOR

Murray Is Ahead for Okla. Governorship.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 29.—(AP)—Surging suddenly into a lead of more than 300 votes over T. P. Gore, blind former senator, Charles J. Wrightsman, Tulsa oil millionaire, led nine candidates for the Democratic senatorial nomination on returns from 362 of the state's 3,338 precincts. Wrightsman had 8,013 votes, Gore 7,175.

The state's second governor, Lee Cruce of Ardmore, was increasing his proportion of the total vote of probably 300,000 and from 576 precincts polled 6,157 ballots for the senate place. J. B. A. Robertson's campaign opposition to prohibition apparently netted him no better than a poor fifth place. His vote was 2,439.

Senator Pine Ahead.

Meanwhile Senator W. B. Pine's lead over two opponents bore out pre-primary predictions that he would go into the general election next November as the Republican nominee without being forced into the runoff.

Pine, from 169 precincts, had 4,080 votes; Charles J. Benson of Shawnee, 901; and J. J. Bebout of Kingfisher, 756.

J. C. (Jack) Walton, who after being ousted as governor won in 1924 the Democratic senatorial nomination, will go into the November election as an independent for the same office. Six years ago he defeated Wrightsman in the primaries. Robertson also is a former governor.

Murray Leads Field.

Increasing his proportionate lead over the field of eight other Democratic candidates for governor, William H. Murray, oil operator, had 26,904 votes on returns from 730 precincts.

Frank Buttram, wealthy Oklahoma City oil man and novitiate in professional politics, stayed far in the lead of the remaining candidates with 14,794 votes, compared to 8,834 for M. E. Trapp, former governor.

EX-OPERA STAR RESCUES FRIEND TIED BY BANDITS

Mrs. Helen Sontag was waiting last evening for a visit from her friend, Mme. Rosa Olitzka Sinai, former grand opera prima donna, when there came a rap at the door of her eighth floor apartment in the Cornell Towers hotel, 5346 Cornell avenue. Believing Mme. Sinai had arrived, Mrs. Sontag arose and opened the door.

Two roughly dressed men, both masked and both carrying pistols, pushed her aside and strode into the room. One of them bore a coil of rope. He thrust Mrs. Sontag into a chair, bound her securely with the rope, and pushed a gag into her mouth. Then he and his companion stripped off her jewels, three diamond bracelets, a necklace of pearls, and two diamond rings—the total valued at $6,700. They also took $25 in cash and escaped.

An hour and a half later Mme. Sinai, who lives at 5489 Cornell avenues arrived at the Sontag apartment and found Mrs. Sontag near collapse. She unloosed her bonds and summoned a physician. Mrs. Sontag is the wife of Louis Sontag, an executive of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

HOOVER CONFERS WITH WOODCOCK ABOUT DRY LAWS

Frowns on Spectacular in Enforcement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—Dry law enforcement policies under the new régime of Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock were the subject of an hour's conference at the White House today between President Hoover, Mr. Woodcock, Attorney General W. D. Mitchell, and G. A. Youngquist, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition.

The President was believed to have put his approval on the Woodcock plan of "conscientious and lawful steady pressure" in enforcement, instead of the somewhat spectacular tactics employed in the past.

Hope to Improve Personnel.

Mr. Hoover also was understood to have had something to say to his three dry law chieftains about the question of personnel in the new prohibition unit. Mr. Woodcock has stated that he proposes to raise the average of the corps of dry agents, bringing an increasing number of young men into the service and to eliminate politics in their selection. Higher salaries for dry agents also are under consideration.

The questions of the use of arms by prohibition agents, the killing of citizens, and transfer of agents' trials from state to federal courts did not come up at the conference.

The White House meeting came on the eve of the meeting here tomorrow of the twelve dry administrators and special agents in the prohibition director's office. Mr. Woodcock said that he would make a public announcement of his "policies" immediately afterward.

Commended by A. A. A. Chief.

Director Woodcock today made public a letter from Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile association, commending him upon his suspension of Prohibition Agents Charles B. McCartney and John T. Weigel for searching, without cause, a citizen's automobile in Maryland last week.

"The A. A. A., representing the organized car owners of America, has consistently and persistently maintained that the exigencies of law enforcement cannot be permitted to abrogate the rights of innocent users of the common highway," Mr. Henry wrote.

"There have been far too many instances where the use of hair trigger methods has resulted in the death of law abiding citizens and in endangering the lives and outraging the rights of others.

"The prompt action you took in the recent incident, while in no sense an assurance to law violators and racketeers, is calculated to promote a very much needed measure of confidence among the millions of motorists who in these days of crowded highways, use the roads more and more at night time. Such a policy will inevitably regult in a larger measure of coöperation between the overwhelming law abiding element of our population and our duly constituted officials of law enforcement."

ACCIDENT BARES ITALIANS FLEEING MUSSOLINI RULE

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, July 29.—Several groups of Italian anti-Fascisti fleeing Italy without passports and with little money have crossed the Alps into Switzerland at much risk during the last few days.

A large group yesterday was crossing Theodule pass, more than 10,000 feet high, near the Matterhorn when a woman with two young children fell on the glacier, breaking a leg, and was abandoned by her companions. The accident was witnessed by the keeper of an Alpine hut who signalled to Zermatt from where guides set out and carried down the woman and children.

The fugitives declare that life under Premier Mussolini's rule and restrictions has become unbearable in Italy and that they prefer exile.

Couple Injured in Motor Accident Sue Ald. Nelson

Ald. Oscar Nelson [46th] was sued for $90,000 in Superior court yesterday by Sam Marshall, 7632 Greenview avenue, a real estate salesman, and Mrs. Helen Gutthroph, 861 Buena avenue. The suit charges that Marshall's car was crowded off a highway last May 10 by Nelson's machine which was being driven by Clarence Erickson, 16 year old nephew of the alderman. Marshall and Mrs. Gutthroph claim they received serious injuries which made them patients in a hospital for several weeks.

CIRCUS FANS CLAIM G. O. P. UNWORTHY OF ELEPHANT AS SYMBOL

Des Moines, Ia., July 29.—(AP)—The Republican party came in for a bit of jestful rebuke today at the hands of the Circus Fans of America, who adopted and forwarded a resolution to President Hoover suggesting that his party abandon the elephant as their symbol.

"Politics in general are unworthy of the noble beast," the fans resolved, adding that the elephant is also the symbol of their own organization and "it is quite embarrasing for circus fans to be mistaken for Republicans."

Atlantic City, N. J., was named as the 1931 convention city, and Harry Hertzberg of San Antonio, Tex., was chosen to succeed J. A. Wagner, Des Moines, as president of the group.

HOOVER DEFENDS HIS APPOINTMENT OF COMMISSIONS

His Latest Will Study Unemployment.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—In announcing the appointment of another commission, President Hoover today defended his practice of naming investigating bodies of this character. His latest commission to be added to the score or more similar groups selected since he became President is to study the question of unemployment statistics.

"To some who are anxious over the appointment of temporary committees and commissions for advisory fact finding coördinating or negotiating purposes I may suggest that they are not a new necessity in government," said President Hoover. "President Roosevelt created 10, of them; President Taft, 63; President Wilson, 160; President Harding, 44, and President Coolidge, 118.

Will Appoint Others.

"As we need the best brains of the country to assist in government and in the coördination of public efforts I shall appoint others.

The President sent invitations to labor, business and economic groups to select members to serve on the new commission on unemployment statistics. Ethelbert Stewart, commissioner of labor statistics of the department of labor; William M. Steuart, director of the bureau of census for the department of commerce, and a representative of the department of agriculture will be ex officio members of the commission.

President Hoover said that the purpose of the commission will be "to advise the government departments on methods for revision of the statistical services for the determination of unemployment and to establish the method of coöperation between government departments and business."

Task Is No Easy One.

"The question is not as simple as it appears on the surface," Mr. Hoover said. "The inclusion of a determination of the amount of unemployment in the census taken April 1 gives us for the first time an accurate base on which to formulate plans and a knowledge of the whole problem which we have never hitherto possessed.

"But if we were to attempt such an absolutely accurate determination of employment once every three months it would require a house to house canvass of the entire nation and would be practically the equivalent of the census and might cost us ten or fifteen million dollars per annum. On the other hand, it has been long recognized that the present department of labor statistics are inadequate, the cost of which is about $150,000 per annum.

"In order to secure the information we need at reasonable cost we must find a new basis for recruiting it. Such a basis can only be formulated by the coöperation of industry, labor and other agencies."

SAND BOAT TIPS AND SINKS WITH 15 OF ITS CREW

Six Picked from Water by Passing Steamer.

Erie, Pa., July 29.—(AP)—A cargo of limestone, absorbing water tossed up by high waves, first caused the listing of the ill-fated sandsucker, the George J. Whelan, which tipped over and sank early today off Dunkirk, N. Y., with a loss of 15 lives, according to testimony given tonight by six surviving members of the crew.

The survivors said that high waves were tossed up after the wind suddenly shifted and that, as the limestone absorbed more of the water, the sandsucker began listing to port. The crew then was called on deck, the survivors related, and sat down on the right side.

They testified that there was ample time to get the lifeboats away after it became apparent that the boat would tip over, but the captain did not issue the orders.

Thrown Clear in Upset.

The survivors testified that the boat overturned so suddenly that they were thrown clear, thus accounting for their escape. They said the boat left Sandusky at 7 o'clock Monday morning and was headed for Buffalo. The exact location of the sinking is believed to be 35 miles north of Erie.

In the early hours this morning the steamer Amasa Stone came into port here with the survivors and the first definite word of the wreck.

The one body recovered was that of Thomas Pierce, Sandusky, O., found by a coast guard cutter out of Buffalo late today. Among the other victims were the captain of the Whelan, T. J. Wagge, Cleveland, and a woman, Mrs. Charles Godfrey of Cleveland, a cook on the vessel.

Started to Swim for Shore.

Arthur Stamm, 1028 Hancock street, Sandusky, O., a tall, bronzed youth of 22, was thankful for his swimming ability.

"There was nothing to do but swim for it," Stamm said. "I found myself in the water without a life preserver and, sensing the direction of the shore, started out. I must have swam for nearly a mile and my arms had hardly begun to tire when I sighted the lights of a ship.

"My cries were heard by the captain of the ship, which happened to be the Amasa Stone. It was short work picking me up, although it was very dark. I sure was glad to see that ship and will always be thankful to her captain."

Second Disaster for Boat.

The steamer Whelan once before had a disaster. It sank in the Detroit river on its maiden voyage in 1910, after a collision. Built in Toledo, the boat made its first trip under the name of the Irwin L. Fischer. It was raised and sold to an English firm which took it across the ocean, where it remained until after the war.

2 DIE AS AUTO HITS STREET CAR AT EAST CHICAGO

Two men were killed yesterday when their automobile collided with a street car at Chicago and Kline avenues, East Chicago, Ind. They were F. G. Cady, 21 years old, 477 Arthur street, Gary, a steel worker, and Regis Grayden, 20 years old, 469 Fillmore street, Gary. Miss Julia Kader, 21 years old, a passenger on the street car, was cut by flying glass.

In an accident near Minden, Neb., Mrs. Laura W. Kelly, 434 Linden avenue, Glen Ellyn, was killed, and her husband, John T. Kelly, was injured. The Kellys were making a motor tour of the west.

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock issued an order whereby police captains will be held responsible for the appearance of traffic violators in court. Captaises for the arrest of offenders will be sent to the captains of the districts in which the defendants reside, and in case the offenders fail to appear in court the captains will be charged with apprehending them. The plan is designed to simplify the prosecution of cases in Speeders' court.

Struck by an automobile last night at 83d street and Jeffery avenue, Daniel Mole, 66 years old, 2006 East 83d street, was taken to the Jackson Park hospital, where he died within an hour. South Chicago police are holding the motorist, Oscar Zarr, a baker of 7850 South Shore drive.

This death raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to 550.

HELD TO FALLING PLANE BY SHIRT, HE SAVES SELF

The officer's plane collided with a scouting plane 3,000 feet up. He jumped with his parachute. His shirt caught on a projection of his plane and he fell with it to nearly 200 feet from the ground when he extricated himself enough to break his landing. His only injury was a sprained back.

U. S. COMMITTEE WALKS OUT ON REDS' ATTORNEY

Congressmen Conclude Chicago Hearings.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

The congressional committee investigating Red activities in the United States completed its Chicago hearings yesterday. Their next session will be held in Los Angeles, probably in September.

Their final hearing here was enlivened by the appearance of Attorney Arthur W. Fisher, president of the American Civil Liberties committee of Chicago, which has come to the legal aid of the communists on several occasions. Mr. Fisher is a son of Walter L. Fisher, traction attorney.

Members of the committee of which Hamilton Fish Jr. of New York is chairman subjected Mr. Fisher to what he described as a "cross-examination" and exhibited an attitude toward him and his Civil Liberties committee which he considered hostile. The congressmen, however, insisted that they were seeking for facts and objected only to the airing of opinions.

Leave During His Statement.

Mr. Fisher pointed out that they had listened to opinions and long statements from witnesses who have made a "racket" of anti-Red agitation, and that he should be given an opportunity to make his statement if the committee wanted to be considered fair. This was taken as something of a threat, and when the young attorney tried to talk he was interrupted often and finally the committee arose and left him, terminating the session abruptly.

Mr. Fisher said the one illegal act of communists in Chicago during the last ten years was the beating of a stool pigeon who had been sent to their headquarters. On the other hand, he said, many illegal arrests had been made and the communists subjected to torture and indignities.

The communists, the lawyer, declared, were making an effort to hold legal meetings and demonstrations and were willing to adjust their program to bring it within the law. The demonstration last July 4, he said, was the result of a misunderstanding over a permit by the west park board and the police. He gave the attitude of Commissioner Alcock as being opposed to breaking up meetings where the communists were within their legal rights.

Questioned on Arrest Theory.

"Assuming that a communist speaker denounced the government and asked that it be overthrown, would you consider a police arrest justifiable?" Chairman Fish asked him.

"I would not criticize the police for making an arrest under such conditions," said Mr. Fisher. "My belief further is that so long as that act is in no imminent danger in leading to violence, that it should be permitted."

Mr. Fisher said he was not a communist and considered their theory and practice wrong. The Civil Liberties committee, he said, presented in his opinion a cross section of the best citizenship of Chicago.

Asked about his war record, he said that he had served in several branches of war work for the government, and had been exempted from active service because of a dislocated shoulder.

"Did you ask exemption as a conscientious objector?" asked Mr. Fish.

"I wouldn't say that I did," the attorney replied.

Much of Mr. Fisher's examination was conducted by Congressman John Nelson of Maine. The manner of questioning led the witness at one point to appeal to the chairman, but it was ruled that Mr. Nelson was within his rights in demanding direct answers.

Opposes U. of I. Military Ruling.

Mr. Fisher, who is a graduate of Harvard Law school, said he had taken an active part in the work of the committee which sought to bring about a change at the University of Illinois making military training optional, as at the University of Wisconsin. He accompanied an American trade union delegation to Russia in 1927, as an expert on foreign concessions.

Mr. Fisher also said he coöperated with Manuel Gomez in the work of the All-America Anti-Imperialist league. He had been retained by the New York civil liberties committee to represent communists arrested here. He said he was a director of the Amalgamated bank, which had "financial relations" with the Amtorg Trading corporation, and some communist accounts.

Lieut. Make Mills of the police department, an expert who has followed the activities of anarchists, syndicalists, and communists for years, gave the committee details of meetings of communists in Chicago and other records of their activities.

Mills Gives Organization Data.

There have been 132 communist organized meetings in Chicago since Jan. 1 last, Lieut. Mills said, at which 313 persons had been arrested. Sixty-three are awaiting jury trials, 49 were fined, and the rest were discharged.

The activity around the schools, Lieut. Mills said, is due to the work of the Young Pioneers, a communist organization.

He presented a table showing that throughout the United States there are 51,675 persons, representing sixteen language groups, affiliated with communism, having 4,088 active members. There are 79,325 persons in sympathy with communism, having, however, only 731 active members of the Communist party. Opposed to these are 1,089,107 persons which he classed as active enemies of the soviet system.

Seventy Per Cent Are Aliens.

Lieut. Mills said that 70 per cent of the Communists are aliens, 20 per cent Negroes, and 10 per cent white native born. The Communists are meeting opposition, he said, from the American Legion, the American Federation of Labor, and other organizations, and the situation is "well in hand" here. He said the Communists were making headway with the Negro race and had taken special advantage of the unemployment situation, the market depression, and dissatisfaction with the prohibition law.

In Chicago, he said, there are 2,000 Communists, only one-half of whom pay their dues regularly.

There is a drive now on for 800 new members by Aug. 1, and these are classified as whites, Negroes, women, youths, and shop nuclei.

U. of Chicago Official Is Witness.

"They are a menace," he said, "but they can be kept down as any other social disorder if carefully watched."

William V. Morgenstern, director of public relations for the University of Chicago, testified that there were no communist activities as such at the university, although there was a Socialist club and a Liberal club, and the university had always advocated intellectual freedom.

Asked about the display of the red flag at the university, he said that on the morning of May 1 last, about daybreak, a small red flag was discovered on the flagpole by the campus police. It was taken down at once and no importance was attached to the incident.

REPORTED DYING

MRS. HARRY PRATT JUDSON.

Dr. Russell M. Wilder reported yesterday that the condition of Mrs. Harry Pratt Judson, widow of the second president of the University of Chicago, was "comfortable, but unchanged." Mrs. Judson, who ended a European tour to return to Chicago, is at the Albert Merritt Billings Memorial hospital, suffering from what Dr. Wilder described as "a lingering illness, from which we do not expect her to recover." She is believed to have a brain tumor.

HOOVER OPPOSES U. S. EMBARGO ON RUSSIAN GOODS

Convict Made Products to Be Barred, Though.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—Although he does not sympathize with the policies of the soviet government, President Hoover has no intention of permitting an embargo on Russian goods in this country for the sole reason that the goods come from a soviet state, it was made known at the White House today.

As a result, it was announced that Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman would reconsider his decision denying the entry of two shiploads of Russian pulp wood imported by the Amtorg Trading corporation and destined for the International Paper and Power company.

Applicable to All Nations.

Any action barring soviet goods the President holds, must be based solely on the law applicable to all nations and designed to exclude convict made goods and prevent "dumping" practices on the part of countries competing in American trade.

The investigation of the treasury department, instituted as the result of complaints against the heavy movements of Russian lumber, coal, manganese ore, pulpwood and other raw materials into the United States will be confined to section 307 of the tariff act now excluding convict made goods and after Jan. 1, 1932, all products of "forced or identured labor."

If dumping and unfair competition is charged against Russia and the operations of its agency, the Amtorg Trading corporation, the investigation will be made by the tariff commission under section 337 of the Hawley-Smoot act and an embargo, if recommended on the facts disclosed, issued by the President.

Protest to Treasury.

The policy of the administration, it is disclosed, will be governed strictly by federal statute and not by any theory or view held in the treasury department or elsewhere, that the Russian five year industrial program means that every able bodied Russian is conscripted and forced into the Russian economic army to conquer the world for bolshevism.

Representatives of paper manufacturers, ship owners and a labor organization in a hearing today before Assistant Secretary Lowman protested an order of the treasury department prohibiting the importation of pulp wood from Russia because it was said to have been manufactured by convicts.

The Amtorg Trading company was granted permission to file affidavits to bolster the contention that pulpwood is not being handled by convict labor. Lowman said he had no recourse under the law if goods were made by convicts and that the burden of proof was upon the importers. He said he would announce his decision in two days.

Labor organizations are planning to protest to the United States department of labor that certain products imported from Italy are made by convict labor.

FILM STARS PERILED BY STUNTING PILOT, WANT HIM PUNISHED

Los Angeles, Cal., July 29.—(AP)—A complaint by a group of motion picture people alleging their lives had been endangered by Wilford Deming Jr. in stunting his airplane within eighteen inches of the ground at Malibu beach, where many film stars maintain homes, was on file here today.

The complaint, filed with the aeronautical branch of the department of commerce, said Deming flew close to the beach last Sunday, causing Ernest Lubitsch, director; the two children of Gloria Swanson, and others to flee.

SEEKS DELAY IN LAKE SHORE CAR TRACK HEARING

Delay was sought yesterday by Attorney Weymouth Kirkland, representing the receivers of the Chicago Railway company [north and west side surface lines] in the proceedings before the Illinois commerce commission brought by the Lincoln park board to force the removal of street car tracks along Lake Shore drive between Chicago avenue and Ohio street. He contended that inasmuch as the federal courts have jurisdiction over the street car company the Illinois commerce commission is without jurisdiction.

"I understand there is an alternative plan," Attorney Kirkland said, "but I am not familiar with it. Attorney James Sheean has the matter in hand and he is away. If the tracks are removed some way must be provided to take car riders to the Navy pier."

The Lincoln park board's position is that the tracks obstruct the plan to widen the boulevard from 100 feet to 200 feet and unless removed would cause a bottle neck in the new outer drive. Attorney George E. Woods for the park board declared that the commerce commission must rule on the merit of the petition and then present its order to the federal court for approval. He was given ten days to file a demurrer and the hearing was continued to Sept. 9.

VOTE CROP TIED TO WHEAT CROP OUT IN KANSAS

It's the Politicians, Not Farmers, Who Worry.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Salina, Kas., July 29.—[Special.]—Kansas farmers seem unruffled by the row between Alexander Legge, head of the federal farm board, and Gov. Clyde M. Reed over wheat acreage reduction. They wear an air of detachment. They seem to regard themselves as sitting in ringside seats at another battle between "friends of the farmer" and no matter who gets the K. O. it will be the farmer himself who will decide how many acres shall go into wheat next planting time. Some of them hope Reed is right, but think Legge and the farm board have the right long time policy. Many of them deplore the mixture of wheat with politics, this being an old story in the wheat belt, and what they are most concerned about is farm prices, which are down. Most of them are selling only enough of the crop to pay harvesting expenses and are holding the rest, hopeful that prices will go up. These are impressions gained from talks with farmers at Newton, Abilene, and Salina.

Politicians Are Quaking.

The politicians are shaking in their shoes, however. Kansas is a temperamental state, and unless an improvement occurs in agricultural and business conditions before November, the Republican leaders are looking for plenty of trouble from the Democrats in the election. At that, to this observer conditions in the string of Kansas towns from Wichita and Hutchinson, through Salina to Topeka, seem brisker than in communities of similar size in Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois, and Indiana, and Kansas points out that it has been a white spot on some of the business maps during much of the slump.

The big shots of the state are back for the Aug. 5 primaries. Vice President Charles Curtis and Senator Henry J. Allen are on the ground and Senator Arthur Capper is on his way. The Republican primaries center in the governorship battle between Gov. Reed and Frank [Chief] Haucke, which has taken on a terrific pace.

Governor's Foes Active.

The governor seems to have raised a bumper crop of enemies who charge him with arrogance and egotism, and the Haucke movement is more anti-Reed than pro-Haucke. Reed has been aided by the recent reduction on grain rates, and probably by his stand against Legge, and he has a state machine which ought to be good for a squeeze play in the final days. The result is in doubt right now. If Reed makes it, and the Democrats nominate Harry H. Woodring, an ex-commander of the Kansas Legion, all is set for a battle that will tear the state wide open next fall.

Senator Allen has three opponents at the primaries. If he wins his opponent will be George McGill or Charles Stephens, who are contesting for the Democratic nomination, but neither is rated very strong.

Senator Capper is unopposed in the primaries, but he has a battle before him in November. His Democratic opponent will be ex-Gov. Jonathan M. Davis, a hot campaigner. Davis is out on the stump now yelling calamity over the tariff bill. He says the industrial east loaded down the tariff and caused reprisals from foreign nations that are curtailing the Kansas wheat market. He is shouting about the movement in England for bread made from non-American wheat.

Wheat Prices Main Factor.

Democrats regard this as the keynote of the battle over the tariff in the November election. Republicans hold that the outcome will largely depend upon what happens to wheat prices in the meantime.

Kansas sentiment sometimes undergoes rapid change. In 1920 Harding carried the state by 184,000 and two years later Kansas elected a Democratic governor, Davis, by 20,000.

Incidentally, interest is roused by a little side issue. It grew out of Mr. Legge's reply to the Levand brothers of Wichita when they suggested he resign for insulting 1,673,216 Kansans. Legge said: "Tell Max and Louis to go to hell."

While Senator Capper, who is rated in Kansas as "the finest straddler in forty-eight states," has taken no hand in the acreage reduction row, his paper, the Topeka Capital, touched up Mr. Legge, saying it was getting "disillusioned by his repeated advices to people to go to hell." It said Legge was reminiscent of "Charley Dawes and his 'hell and Maria' complex." When the reporters put up to Mr. Legge the intimation he was stealing Ambassador Dawes' stuff, it almost broke Mr. Legge's cowpuncher heart. He insisted he was a virtuoso in his own right.

"I had the reputation," remarked Mr. Legge, according to the story, "of being the best plain and fancy cusser in Washington long before Charley Dawes hit the town with his 'hell and Maria.'"

Asks First "L" Extension.

Ald. Northrup [19th] presented a resolution to the city council asking that the first "L" improvement to be made shall be to 79th and Halsted streets instead of putting a third rail on the Garfield Park branch, as contemplated.

His resolution directed the council local transportation committee to "immediately order a survey and estimate and invite neighborhood associations to present population records from the recent census to estimate where new elevated lines can be projected to afford the greatest service and produce the largest earnings, in contrast to capital outlays that cannot produce a proportionate amount of new business."

On the construction of subways, the city and utility companies reached an agreement which was hailed as "substantial progress" in the city council last night. This relates to the removal of pipes, wires and conduits in the street preparatory to subway building.

As to Utilities' Facilities.

The promise of the telephone company was contained in the franchise ordinance adopted by the council. On behalf of the gas, electric and the new transit company a statement was issued in behalf of the utilities under the direction of Samuel Insull. This statement, after pledging coöperation in every fair and reasonable way and stressing the importance of subway construction, specifically promises as follows:

"It is Mr. Insull's position that the public utility companies under his general direction should bear all reasonable and necessary expense of relocating and adjusting their facilities during and after construction to meet both of these situations [removal and relocating in the subway], and that they should pay such compensation, if any, as may be just and reasonable, in view of the new locations provided by the city, taking into account both the extra expense, if any, to the city of providing special galleries or other spaces, and such benefits, if any, as the companies may derive from the new locations.

"Inasmuch, however, as it is not contemplated that new locations of this character are to be provided for the pipes or other facilities of the Peoples' Gas Light and Coke company, that company will assume no obligation to pay compensation therefor."

This statement relates to subways contemplated by the transit franchise.

(The story of the city council proceedings which resulted in the adoption of the telephone franchise will be found elsewhere in the paper.)

21 ARE INDICTED FOR CONSPIRACY IN "JAKE" LIQUOR

Topeka, Kas., July 29.—(AP)—Twenty-one men, including eighteen from New York City and Brooklyn and three from Kansas, and six Brooklyn and New York City corporations were named in an indictment charging conspiracy to violate the federal prohibitory liquor law, returned late today by a federal grand jury after an investigation into manufacture, distribution, and sale of adulterated Jamaica ginger. The adulterated liquor, used as a beverage, caused partial paralysis and much suffering among hundreds of persons in various parts of the country. In Wichita, Kas., and Oklahoma City, Okla., the victims were particularly numerous.

FAROE ISLANDS PULL DOWN DANISH FLAG; HALT PARLIAMENT

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

THORSHAVEN, Faroe Islands, July 29.—The Danish flag was pulled down in front of the government buildings here today and the Faroe Islands' flag, a blue trimmed red cross on a white field, was run up. Crowds of excited islanders cheered anti-Danish speeches, while the biggest procession ever seen in the Faroes marched through Thorshaven's tiny streets carrying the Faroes banner.

The opening of the local parliament, scheduled for today, has been suspended temporarily on account of the sudden nationalist outburst which has gripped Denmark's remote island possession.

The feelings of the islanders were hurt when at the recent Icelandic millenary celebrations Iceland's flag was flown but no corresponding recognition was given to their own emblem.

to any agreement or agreements between the city and the Insull companies" relative to the removal and relocation of the public utility plants and agreed to perform the provisions of an ordinance which was accepted by the other companies.

A. J. Horan and others questioned this on the grounds that it did not provide for the unequivocal relocation of the equipment at company expense.

Sidney Gorham, attorney for the gas and oil committee, was asked to explain the ordinance, particularly section 4, and during this he said: "In my judgment the city has the power to force the telephone company to remove its equipment, but I am not so sure that the city has the right to make the company pay the cost of relocation."

It was then charged by Ald. A. J. Horan that the telephone company was trying to force passage of the franchise by holding up the payment of about $3,000,000 it owes the city.

"The company cannot make improvements or extensions without a franchise," said Ald. Clark, "and they have been holding the money as a threat over the council. We have just as much of a lever on the company as it has on us. The reason the company does not want to pay the relocation cost is because it is a subsidiary of a national company which is afraid other cities in the country will insist it must pay the relocation costs in their municipalities as well."

Ald. A. J. Horan then moved to amend the ordinance with a phrase which put the responsibility for relocation expense solely on the company's head, but this was lost by a vote of 26 to 14.

The ordinance was then put upon its passage. During the course of the roll call Ald. Clark, A. J. Horan, and Albert explained their votes with biting criticisms of the measure.

The phone matter finally out of the way, the council adopted the tax levy ordinance which provides a supplemental tax levy of more than 15 million dollars for 1930. It also authorizes the issuance of about eight million dollars' worth of tax anticipation warrants which will be used to pay salaries.

Upholstery and trimming are in keeping with the latest mode. The rear quarter is slightly depressed below the belt to receive the top when down, thus preserving the straight flowing lines of the car.

DIVORCE COURTS SWAMPING CUPID, RECORDS REVEAL

Marriages Decrease as Decrees Gain in 1930.

Statistics that tell the story of a shrinking marriage rate and a rising divorce trend were made public yesterday by Thomas O. Wallace, chief clerk of the Circuit court. Divorce decrees granted by the Superior and Circuit courts numbered 4,902 for the first half of 1930.

The marital ties of 2,016 couples were severed by the Circuit court in the six months—which is 31.5 per cent greater than for the corresponding period in 1925, and 4.29 per cent greater than for the same period in 1929. At the same time, County Clerk Dewitzer announced a decrease of 11 per cent in marriage licenses for the first quarter of this year as against the 1929 figures. The number of licenses issued in June was the smallest for five years, while divorces in the same month were greater than at any time in the same number of years.

61 Circuit Decrees in June.

Chief Clerk Wallace said that the number of Circuit court divorces in June alone was 424, which exceeds by 19 the total granted in the state of Vermont for 1929.

Marriages in January, 1930, decreased 9.3 per cent in Chicago from the total performed in January of 1929, while divorces in January, 1930, increased 54.6 per cent over January of 1925. Marriages in June of this year decreased 10 per cent from June of 1925, while divorces increased over 11 per cent. Circuit court records show six months increases in divorces there of 4.29 per cent as against a decrease in marriages of 6.4 per cent.

The statistics also reveal that contested divorce suits are steadily on the wane, indicating that the principals agree to disagree before the suit is filed. In 1925, it is shown, 19.9 per cent of the cases were opposed by one of the parties to the suit. In the first six months of 1930 only 3.47 per cent were contested, indicating a rate for the whole year of 6.94 per cent.

Desertion Heads the Charges.

Desertion and cruelty were cited as the basis for 87.4 per cent of the suits filed in the six months, desertion being slightly in the lead, with a percentage of 44.2. Drunkenness was charged in 44 per cent, and adultery in 3.1 per cent of the cases.

Further examination of the records revealed that 55.8 per cent of the divorced couples had been married in Chicago, and 9.2 per cent in Illinois towns. The Crown Point gretna green accounted for 7.1 per cent of the marriages that failed. Indiana outside Crown Point furnished 3.2 per cent of the total, and other states, 21.1 per cent. The remaining 4.1 per cent had been performed in foreign countries.

BANDITS KIDNAP BANK CASHIER; MAKE HIM OPEN SAFE; GET $15,000

Alpena, Mich., July 29.—[Special.]—Kidnaped by two bandits as he left his farm home this morning, William F. Neirgarth, cashier of the Montmorency County Savings bank at Hillman, was taken to the bank and forced to open the vault. The bandits obtained $8,000 in cash and $7,000 worth of negotiable bonds and fled after locking in the vault Neirgarth and William Studt, a farmer who interrupted the bandits at work.

A posse of 200 men, including state troopers from the Alpena post, was searching the woods near Hillman tonight after the coupe used by the bandits was found a short distance east of the village.

ROOSEVELT GETS PHILIPPINE POST DESPITE FOES

Attitude Misconstrued, President Says.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—(AP)—Nicholas Roosevelt of New York today was given a recess appointment as vice governor of the Philippine islands in the face of opposition from proponents of Philippine independence.

In announcing the appointment after the senate had failed to confirm Mr. Roosevelt at the special session, the President expressed his conviction that the "misunderstanding" which has arisen on the islands as to the appointee's attitude quickly would be cleared up. He asserted Mr. Roosevelt has been staunch in his support of the interests of the Philippine people, sympathetic with them, and enthusiastic over their progress.

Mr. Roosevelt, a second cousin of Gov. Theodore Roosevelt of Porto Rico, is an editorial writer on the New York Times. He has written a book upon the Philippine problems and made a study of the far east conditions.

After his nomination was sent to the senate, leaders in the Philippine movement attacked his views and urged his rejection.

The senate then declined to act upon the nomination until hearings had been held at the next session.

TURKS PROTEST TO PERSIA FOR RAIDS BY KURDS

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 29.—(AP)—With at least 70,000 Turkish soldiers ranked along the Turco-Persian and Turco-Iraq frontiers, the Turkish government today meant serious business with a note to Persia complaining against Kurdish incursions into Turkish territory.

Well informed circles say the note touches on the necessity of Persia's ceding to Turkey the Aydagh district. This lies between the Turco-Persian and Russo-Persian frontiers, where Mount Ararat descends into Persian territory, and by it the Kurdish rebels are enabled to escape from the besieging Turks.

It is forecast here that Persia will refuse to cede Aydagh and that Turkey will take it by force. Support is lent to these prophecies by a recent speech of Prime Minister Ismet Pasha in which he commented strongly on foreign responsibility for Turkey's trouble with the Kurds.

MOVES TO CURB CREDITORS' LOSS BY BANKRUPTCY

Hoover Orders Quiz with View to Changing Law.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—A countrywide investigation into the operations of the federal bankruptcy law and practice, with a view to saving American business men millions of dollars in credit losses, was ordered today by President Hoover. The department of justice will conduct the inquiry.

The President in announcing plans for the investigation emphasized the tremendous annual drain upon creditors as a result of the inadequacy of the present bankruptcy system. His statement said:

"I have authorized the attorney general to undertake an exhaustive investigation into the whole question of bankruptcy law and practice. It will be a most extensive and vigorous investigation. The work will be under the direction of the solicitor general and he will be assisted by the department of commerce.

Plan Essential Reforms.

"The losses through bankruptcy in the past five years exceed three billion dollars and are now averaging 750 million dollars per annum. The purpose of the investigation is, of course, to propose to congress some essential reforms in the bankruptcy law and practice."

Solicitor General Thomas D. Thacher, who will handle the inquiry and who was said to be instrumental in inaugurating it through Attorney General William D. Mitchell, explained that it is an outgrowth of the federal court bankruptcy quiz in New York City last summer. That inquiry brought about the disbarment of several lawyers and a disclosure of widespread fraudulent practices, Mr. Thacher said.

"We propose to determine if the evils prevailing in New York are common to the entire country," he stated. "If they are then the situation demands fundamental changes in the law and a need for congressional action which will be recommended."

Heavy Loss to Creditors.

In 75 per cent of bankruptcy cases there is a loss to the creditors so heavy, according to Mr. Thacher, that the average dividend paid creditors during the last five years was only 8.19 per cent of the liability. Ordinary business men refuse to take advantage of the law making the creditors custodians of bankrupt businesses because of legal red tape, with the result in New York at least, that they fall into the hands of collection agencies and lawyers, he pointed out, adding that in many cases those responsible temporarily go out of business and start over again in another concern.

"England and Canada have exactly the opposite theory to our practice," the solicitor general continued. "In those countries the bankrupt business man undergoes a public examination as to his honesty and if he is found to be a menace to the commercial life of a community he is prevented from reentering business. Further, there is no time limit on his debts."

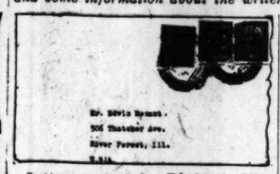
Justice Department to Aid.

Ten representative cities will be selected for the investigation, one of which probably will be Chicago. The actual study will be carried out by the bureau of investigation of the department of justice in coöperation with the department of commerce. The latter department already has conducted inquiries upon the business aspects of the bankruptcy in Louisville, Ky., and other cities.

The joint investigation, Mr. Thacher said, will be started at once with the prospect of remedial legislation at the next session of congress.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.



Letter received by Edwin A. Maxant, 506 Thatcher avenue, River Forest, Ill.

"This letter was sent to me by the Rev. A. J. Tuttle, treasurer and general secretary of the American Baptist foreign mission at Gauhati, Assam, India," Mr. Maxant writes.

"In it he attempts to portray transportation in that part of India. He writes of going to a convention or a church convention and continues as follows:

"'Six of us from Gauhati—Mrs. Tuttle and our daughter and three other Miss Sahibs attended the Mongoldai association in February. Two sturdy Chevrolets made our going possible, and the village people had taken special pains to prepare the roads for the last two miles before we reached the association village. These two miles we had to leave the regular road and literally take to the fields, but two guides were provided and the road was carefully marked, even to the extent of putting quantities of rice straw over the muddy places where they thought we might stick.'

"It is also interesting to note that the people in these parts have little or no education at all. Dr. Tuttle writes that most of the records of the association were inaccurate because the people attending do not know how to read or write and had to give all figures from memory. The average daily working wage in this part of the world is from 12 to 20 cents."

DELIVERY BOY, 16, ADMITS MURDER OF THREE WOMEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 29.—Andre Le Loutre, 16 year old ice delivery boy, was arrested at Le Touquet today and charged with the murder of Mrs. Wilson, an Englishwoman, who was found on the beach stabbed to death. Police accused the lad of responsibility for two other murders, the strangling of an English nurse, Miss Daniels, and the killing of an American woman, Mrs. McMillan.

This series of crimes at Le Touquet has nearly ruined the trade at the exclusive seaside resort, whose casino claims to have the largest baccarat game in Europe this year. Women have become afraid to go out at night.

The youth, whose mother sells vegetables near Le Touquet, after a third degree confessed the three murders. He said he robbed the women after slaying them.

RUMANIA FIRES HIGH OFFICIAL FOR ANTI-SEMITISM

BUCHAREST, July 29.—(AP)—M. Taziauanu, chief secretary in the office of the minister of the interior, whose house was raided Saturday by police in an endeavor to establish his connections with Rumanian anti-Semitic leaders, was today impeached and removed from office.

The charge against him is that he utilized his position in the ministry of the interior to furnish funds to Zelea Codreanu, anti-Semitic leader, while the latter was in jail.

Taziauanu, who was considered the right hand man of Minister of the Interior Vayda Voyvod, did not deny his leadership of the anti-Semitic students. Dr. Vayda Voyvod admitted knowing of his secretary's anti-Semitic connections, but said he had accepted him in order to pacify anti-Semitic organizations.

The son, Willard Hall, said he knew of no reason for his mother taking her life unless it was ill health.

Puller, today reported the destruction of a well concealed camp in northeast Jinotega province used for two years by the forces of the insurgent general, Sandino. Sabar Manzanares, who was fatally wounded in the attack, before dying, said the camp had just been occupied by Sandino and his three lieutenants, Altamirano, Ortez, and Salgado, who fled.

FILE BANKRUPT ACTION AGAINST SECURITY FIRM

Name Equitable Bond and Mortgage Co.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the Equitable Bond and Mortgage company, 180 West Washington street, was filed in the federal district court yesterday. Attorney Joseph Kamfner, representing the petitioning creditors, declared the company's liabilities would exceed $1,000,000.

Various purchasers of Corporate Trust shares have complained to the Investors' Protective bureau and to the securities department of the state's attorney's office, it was stated yesterday, and officials of the company have been cited to appear Friday for questioning at the state's attorney's office.

Charge Failure in Delivery.

According to complaints to the Investors' Protective bureau, the company has sold and failed to deliver at least 4,000 shares of the Corporate Trust securities, now valued at $8 a share, and 500 shares of Inland Utilities stock, worth about $23 each.

Neither Attorney Kamfner nor officials of the Equitable Bond and Mortgage company could estimate the value of the firm's assets. The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1929, showed assets of $1,975,064 and $1,221,000 outstanding indebtedness. The company deals primarily in first mortgage real estate bonds, and much of the assets at present are "frozen," according to Attorney Kamfner.

According to the Investors' Protective bureau, the Corporate Trust shares were purchased from Smith, Burris & Co., Chicago, wholesale distributors of the securities, which include leading utilities and industrials. It was stated that the bankruptcy action casts no reflection on Smith, Burris & Co., nor on the Corporate Trust shares.

Manager Issues Statement.

T. B. Collins, general manager of the Equitable Bond and Mortgage company, issued this statement:

"Last March the president of the company, J. C. Johnson, died. He was succeeded by F. Marvin Austin, formerly vice president and treasurer. On July 18 Mr. Austin resigned and E. L. Augustus, sales manager of the Louisville office, was called in to take charge as vice president.

"Mr. Augustus ordered a cessation of activity pending an audit of the firm's assets and liabilities. The auditors have not completed their report and at present I cannot say where we stand."

Mr. Collins said he first became associated with the company on July 18, being called in at that time to assist in the reorganization. H. E. Christensen, former secretary of the concern, resigned last Friday.

The claims of the petitioning creditors are small. They are: Carlstrand Roofing company, $121; General Highway Service corporation, $282.60; Kahn & Salomon, insurance, $214.69.

COUNTY OPENS BIDS ON FIRST 1930 ROAD JOBS

BY HAL FOUST.

The county board yesterday opened bids on thirteen highway projects calling for 2.4 miles of 40 foot pavement and 8.6 miles of 20 foot, at a total cost of approximately $433,000. Thus, in the middle of the construction season, the county began its 1930 paving program of 160 projects to cost $7,500,000. The first contracts will be awarded next week.

The low bids were approximately 25 per cent below prices paid by the county a year ago. There were about twice as many bidders as last year.

The Chicago Association of Commerce, in its committee report charging the county with having lost $1,677,000 of road money in about a year's time, had alleged that there was little competition for contracts.

Two Years' Prices Compared.

A year ago the county was paying $75,000 to $80,000 a mile for 40 foot pavements. The low bids on 40 foot pavement yesterday averaged $67,782 a mile. A year ago the county was paying $40,000 a mile for 20 foot pavements. Yesterday's low bids averaged $30,293 a mile.

"It's the changing times," said County Commissioner Busse, chairman of the road and bridges committee. "Contractors are willing to do the work cheaper now because they haven't many private jobs."

In the rear of the board's chambers while the bids were being opened were eighty or ninety contractors' representatives, with pencil and paper, jotting down the figures submitted by their competitors. A year ago there were three or four contractors, seldom more, at the opening of bids.

The projects on which contracts will be awarded next week are as follows:

Written Reports Are Asked.

On motion of Commissioner Busse the road and bridges committee directed County Highway Superintendent Quinlan to make a written report hereafter on his recommendations for the award of contracts. The Association of Commerce, in its investigation of the county's road work, pointed out that in the past contracts were awarded to other than the lowest bidders for no recorded reason.

Before opening the bids, the commissioners called for an opinion from their attorney, Hayden Bell, as to whether the advertisements were sufficient, notwithstanding the fact that more public notice was given of these contracts than has been ordinary practice. The Association of Commerce charged the county with inadequate advertising for road bids.

POLICE HOLDING THIS PIONEER AS FIRST MAN TO BEAT PLANE FARE

Atlantic City, N. J., July 29.—George W. Godfrey, 34, of New York City is being held by the police here as the first person on record to beat a pilot out of his fare for an airplane trip. The police say the man is also wanted on charges of failing to pay hotel bills.

According to detectives, Godfrey engaged Harry Nordheim last Friday to take him by plane from this city to New York for $100. When about half way on the flight the pilot started to collect, but found Godfrey had no money. When they reached New York Godfrey promised to visit a hotel and obtain the cash.

It is alleged that while in the Times Square subway station Godfrey eluded Nordheim. He returned here by train and was arrested today.

MOFFETT WANTS U. S. TO SPEND BILLION ON SHIPS

Bay City, Mich., July 29.—(AP)—The expenditure of nearly a billion dollars on the navy was urged as a good "investment" here tonight in a speech by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics, at services dedicating a new airport in memory of James Clements, the first Michigan aviator killed overseas.

"The cost of building to the London treaty navy," he said, "has been estimated to be $990,000,000 to be expended over a period of six years.

"I know of no better investment for the United States—the expenditure of $990,000,000 for building to the treaty navy. By doing so we will maintain our self-respect and prestige as a nation, our force for peace, be able to prevent another war, the cost of which will be billions instead of millions."

Moffett also discussed the merits of the projected 10,000 ton combination ships which could carry as many as two dozen airplanes and yet retain the effectiveness of a cruiser in the battle line.

TWO RUM BOATS FIRED ON, BUT ESCAPE CAPTURE

New York, July 29.—[Special.]—In view of thousands of bathers a coast guard cutter made an unsuccessful attempt shortly before 6 o'clock tonight to overtake two heavily laden speedboats off the Coney Island beach, firing ten times at them with three inch guns.

Hearing the coast guardmen's gun, two patrolmen ran to the end of the pier and opened fire with their revolvers. The two speedboats, now fully a mile ahead of the coast guard cutter, wheeled about and disappeared. The speedboats presumably were loaded with liquor.

$84,000,000 Railway Job to Aid German Jobless

BERLIN, July 29.—[AP]—To relieve the unemployment situation in Germany, the federal railways have concluded an agreement with the government for the commissioning of $84,000,000 worth of railway construction, originally planned for a later period. As the first step toward financing the project, the federal railways intend to issue $36,000,000 of treasury bonds.

Alleged Check Forger Held in $80,000 Bonds

More than sixty complainants against Thomas Hoffman, 39 years old, who is accused of passing $20,000 worth of bogus checks, appeared yesterday in Judge John Sbarbaro's Felony court to prosecute. Hoffman was ordered held to the grand jury in bonds of $80,000. Chief of Detectives Norton appeared in court to press the charges against Hoffman, who, it is charged, made a practice of drawing his false checks on railroad companies.

HUNT FOR LOST JEWELS.

INDICT IRA J. MIX, EX-DAIRY HEAD, ON FRAUD CHARGE

Secretary of Defunct Concern Also Named.

True bills charging embezzlement under a special section of the blue sky law were reported to have been voted by the grand jury yesterday against Ira J. Mix, president of the defunct Ira J. Mix Dairy company, and Reynold S. Brandt, secretary of the company. The indictments are expected to be returned by the jury when it takes its final adjournment tomorrow.

IRA J. MIX.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The criminal action against Mix and Brandt was taken at the request of a stockholders' committee. It is charged by the committee that scores of stockholders in the company were defrauded by the defendants when they allowed stock to be sold in a company which they knew to be insolvent at the time. It is charged that more than $500,000 of such stock was sold.

Held Bankrupt in 1928.

Assistant State's Attorney Jo Calvin Webb, who has had charge of the investigation, said that the Mix company was adjudicated bankrupt in January of 1928. The creditors received 20 cents on the dollar and the stockholders lost everything, according to the prosecutor.

Prosecutor Webb charges that the statement filed by Mix and Brandt with the secretary of state, which qualified the stock issue, was false and that the men knew it to be so. The statement contained, it is charged, a list of fictitious assets valued at $100,000, as well as an allegedly false statement as to the earnings of the company.

Stock Sold in 1926 and 1927.

The stock issue on which the true bills are predicated was sold in 1926 and 1927. The company, it is charged, was insolvent as far back as January of 1926. The statute of limitations on an embezzlement action is ordinarily three years, but Prosecutor Webb said that the special section under which the present action is brought gives the prosecution five years to proceed against defendants.

Mix succeeded to the presidency of the company after the death of his father, who was founder of the concern, which at the time was one of the leading milk companies in the city.

JANITOR DIES IN CHURCH.

Axel Challman, 67 years old, janitor of the Albany Park Baptist church, 4506 North Spaulding avenue, fell dead of heart disease yesterday in the church basement.

RUSSIA SPURNS ARBITER IN DEAL OF $250,000,000

British Mines Company Fights Confiscation.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 29.—Representatives of Lena Goldfields, Inc., will appear unopposed in the court of arbitration in London on Aug. 6 when its claims against soviet Russia will be pressed. These claims involve gold and other mining properties valued at 250 million dollars, which, it is charged, the soviets have rendered worthless by obstructory violations of its contract with the mining company.

The Russians have notified the Lena company and the officers of the court that they will not participate in the hearing and will not be bound by the court's decision. There is even a report that the soviets plan to confiscate the properties outright in order to protect themselves against an adverse decision by the referee.

The properties comprise gold mines at Bodaibo in eastern Siberia, copper and lead mines at Altai, and iron, steel and copper works in the Ural mountains. Moscow claims the right to take over all these properties under its own interpretation of the clause providing for the termination of the agreement.

Charges Breach of Contract.

The English company contends that Russia's action is a violation of the agreement to place questions concerning the termination of the contract in the hands of a court of arbitration for a decision.

The controversy dates from the soviet raids made simultaneously on all the Lena properties last December. Numerous arrests were made. The dispute has come to a head since the Lena company, seeking arbitration, has been given a date for a hearing on Aug. 6. If the court holds for the Lena company, the matter will be turned over to diplomatic agents and will be another stumbling block in the path of Anglo-Russian relations.

German Named as Referee.

The referee of the arbitration court is Dr. Stutser of the University of Freiburg, selected by the Lena company according to the contract, from among six nominees made by the soviets. The findings are expected to be published by the middle of September.

The Lena company claims the right under its contract to work the gold deposits for 30 years, and the right to work other minerals for 50 years. This is the first case of a repudiation of a contract by the soviet government, according to Maj. Frederick W. Bourne, former chief director of the Lena company. He asserts that the repudiation was due to the change of policy under Joseph Stalin's five year program, which seeks to abolish all private initiative.

PREPAREDNESS SAVES SOLDIERS, HURLEY ASSERTS

Bismarck, N. D., July 29.—(AP)—Preparedness is essential to prevent unnecessary sacrifices in time of war, Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war, told the North Dakota American Legion convention here today.

Secretary Hurley came here from Washington by airplane to address the convention.

"Our country usually sends men to meet the enemy untrained at a great cost," the secretary said. "We as a nation are traditionally opposed to a large army in time of peace. Our preparedness, however, should not assume such proportions as to become a menace to the peace of other nations. It should be commensurate with that which we have to defend.

"The government has decided that it must have industrial mobilization as well as man power in time of war. It is unfair, dishonorable, and dishonest to have one man die for the republic while another is profiting."

Secretary Hurley's address was brief. Shortly after completing his talk he left for Fargo by airplane, en route back to Washington.

Judge Cuts Speeders' Fines to Meet Business Slump

White Plains, N. Y., July 29.—[Special.]—Because of business conditions, City Court Judge William Gray announced a cut rate system of fines here today.

Traffic violators, who ordinarily would be fined $35 to $50 will now draw $10 to $15 penalties, he said, "because a dollar today means nearly twice as much to many as it did a year ago."

Many violators recently have told him they are out of work, or that their salaries have been cut.

GOAT GLAND EXPERT DENIES THOREK WIRED REQUESTING HIS HELP

Topeka, Kas., July 29.—[Special.]—Dr. John R. Brinkley, goat gland specialist of Milford, Kas., took the witness stand today in the hearing being conducted by the Kansas board of medical examination and registration.

After describing his goat gland transplantation operation almost as he explains it in the pamphlets he sends out through the mails, he corrected the apparent misstatement made yesterday by C. E. Lasser, telegraph operator at Milford, to the effect that a message was received at Milford from Dr. Max Thorek, head of the American hospital at Chicago, asking Brinkley to "come to Chicago and help in the case of a millionaire who had taken a goat gland operation and was not doing very well."

No such message was received by him from Dr. Thorek, Brinkley said. He said he believed Lasser was honest in making the statement that such a message was received, but that his memory had been at fault. Dr. Thorek never sent any such telegram, Brinkley said.

In a dispatch from Chicago Dr. Max Thorek said, referring to the statement that he had asked Brinkley's aid:

"It is an absolute falsehood. I never sent any such telegram in any such case. It is a fabrication in its entirety."

HE CONFESSES SLAYING CAFE MAN IN HOLDUP

CRIMINAL COURT.

Edward O'Shea, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Paul Gren, burglary, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell, by Judge Joseph David.

Thomas Patrice and Frank Gates, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; William Adams, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary, by Judge Peter Schwaba.

Richard Sullivan, 33 years old, arrested a week ago at his home, 4317 Greenwood avenue, on information volunteered by his robbery accomplice, Frank Bell, who was disgruntled because Sullivan did not visit him in the county jail, confessed last night that he had shot to death Christ Patras in an attempt to rob the Villa Rica restaurant at 2572 North Clark street on June 25.

Sullivan said he fired six times at Patras, the manager of the restaurant, after Patras had drawn a pistol. Sullivan had previously confessed 68 robberies, committed during two years with William Barnes, who was finally slain in a holdup.

The Fillmore street police had in custody last night Charles Svoboda, 23 years old, 1409 South Lombard avenue, Cicero, and Gerald Belsan, 24 years old, 1919 South 56th court, Cicero, who were captured with guns and changes of clothing in their possession yesterday at Flournoy street and Central avenue. They are suspected of having killed Samuel Esserman, 45 years old, who was shot when he resisted the holdup of his grocery at 264 North Kedzie avenue on Sunday. Witnesses of the killing were to confront the prisoners today.

SLOVAK LEADER ON TRIAL AGAIN ON TREASON CHARGE

Supreme Court to Hear Case of Dr. Tuka.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, July 29.—Emaciated and haggard looking after 18 months in a Czecho-Slovakian prison, Dr. Adalbert Tuka, former professor of jurisprudence at Bratislava university and Slovakian autonomy leader, went before the Slovakian section of the Czecho-Slovakian Supreme court today in his last attempt to escape prison bars.

Dr. Tuka was convicted of conspiring against the safety of the Czecho-Slovakian republic because he suggested that the Pittsburgh agreement allowed the Slovaks complete autonomy if they became dissatisfied with their union with the Czechs after ten years. He was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment on Oct. 5, 1928.

Conviction Is Confirmed.

On April 9 of this year, the court of appeals affirmed the first sentence, and Dr. Tuka was sent back into jail.

Today's trial in the Supreme court was confined to legal matters and it is expected to last only about four days. The Supreme court is expected to affirm the 15 year sentence.

Intellectuals the world over have appealed to President Masaryk to pardon Dr. Tuka. Thus far President Masaryk, who was never jailed by the Austrians in the pre-war days, has refused clemency.

Priests Go on Trial.

Another trial opened today at Znaim, Czecho-Slovakia. Several Slovak Catholic priests with monarchist sympathies are charged with treason against the state on grounds that they were working for the restoration of the Hapsburgs.

The defendants belong to the "Prayer league for the beatification of former Emperor Charles." They distributed religious tracts throughout Czecho-Slovakia asking all Catholics to pray for the beatification of Charles, the last of the Hapsburg rulers. The Czech authorities charge that the priests asked the people to pray not only for the beatification of Charles, but also for the restoration of the monarchy, and that many peasants enlisted to aid the restoration of the Hapsburgs. Karl Otto, a Capuchin monk; Felix Christian, a priest, and Wilhelm Schmiedt, chief of the Vienna "Prayer league," are the chief defendants.

$1,000,000 SUIT CHARGES UNFAIR TRADE TACTICS

The praecipe of a suit for $1,000,000 damages against the American District Telegraph company and its local subsidiaries was filed in Superior court yesterday by Attorney Benjamin Wham on behalf of the Reliance Electric Protective company, 309 West Jackson boulevard.

"The Reliance Electric Protective company states that the American District Telegraph company is employing unfair and unscrupulous tactics in the solicitation of business," said a statement by Attorney Wham. The statement says that affidavits of Reliance customers quote agents of the A. D. T. as declaring their organization is determined to ruin the business of the Reliance company. The statement also charges the A. D. T. company has cut its rates below a point that eliminates competition. The attorney also charges threats and intimidation in an effort to get customers from the Reliance company.

You Can Save 20% on Your Automobile Insurance

Automobile insurance is one of the benefits available to members of the Chicago Motor Club. Every year this department returns a cash saving to subscribers.

Last year this return amounted to $711,332.11. Many members save enough to pay their annual tire bills. The Inter-Insurance Exchange always has returned 20% of the amount paid the "exchange" for insurance coverage.

In addition to the cash saving to subscribers, other features will appeal to you. For example, most insurance policies exclude coverage on tires and accessories; yet it is far more likely that a thief will steal your spare tire than that your car will be stolen. The "exchange" does cover accessories and at no additional cost.

The "valued form" policy is still another feature that accounts for the growth of the "exchange." In the event of total loss, you are paid the face value of your policy, the amount upon which you have paid insurance.

The "exchange" settles claims quickly and satisfactorily. Claims are not referred to a distant "higher up." Home office service, and other features explain why insurance sales in 1929 amounted to approximately four million dollars.

A few of the services available to members are:

Free mechanical first aid and towing service at any hour of the day or night.

Travel service, which provides you with maps, logs and the most complete and up to the minute advice on road conditions.

Bail bond service, which guarantees your appearance in traffic violation cases, where a bond not in excess of $100 is demanded.

Accident prevention work, which seeks to cut accidents, especially among school children, by means of safety posters and by fostering school boy patrols.

Home district service, which attends to special conditions around your home, such as seeing to it that refuse is promptly removed.

RELATIONS WITH CANADA.

What the effects upon the relations of Canada and the United States of the Canadian elections may be, very few of us on this side the line are either fitted or diposed to predict. The outgoing government was planning tariff increases against us and preferences to Great Britain which perhaps threatened important consequences in our trade, but the Conservative government, whatever specific measures it may have in mind, is hardly less likely to take action which will call for judicious handling at Washington.

In fact, we have no relations with any country which it is more important for our government to treat with tact, practical sense, foresight, and justice than those we have with our northern neighbor. They are difficult relations economically, for the two nations have some substantial interests which tend to collide, notably that of agriculture, and while happily there are other interests which are parallel and complementary, our respective governments will have need of all the good sense and good feeling they possess to work out policies which will protect the substantial interests of their own people while contriving mutual benefits. We do not say this problem is beyond the solution of real statesmanship, but it needs nothing short of it, and we hope it will be forthcoming.

What is essential at the beginning and at all times is a recognition of the fundamentals, of the larger community of common interests and of the substantial profit to be derived by both peoples from intelligent compromise and the coöperation of our respective resources. Difficulties in the path are obvious enough and some are serious, but they can be overcome, we are confident, by patient and fair minded consideration of our respective needs and conditions and by that friendly spirit which ought to rule the deliberations of two nations whose welfare is so largely and inevitably interdependent.

LIFE SENTENCES FOR MURDER.

Attorney General Carlstrom has given his opinion that a man sentenced to life imprisonment for murder in Illinois cannot be liberated from the penitentiary until he has served at least twenty years. The opinion came in a case from Saline county. The murderer had been sentenced for life in 1918, but Gov. Small had commuted the sentence to 30 years' imprisonment. The parole board ordinarily will consider releasing a prisoner after he has served a third of his sentence. Accordingly, this prisoner might have been regarded as eligible for parole in 1928. Mr. Carlstrom has said no. He holds that the minimum sentence for the crime committed is 20 years and that the prisoner must serve at least that long before he may be released. The parole board has accepted Mr. Carlstrom's opinion and will abide by it.

In Gov. Small's administration the use of the governor's pardoning power had been a recurring scandal. Professional criminals and criminal allies of professional politicians were released almost as soon as the jail doors had closed behind them, and some were actually released before they saw the inside of a prison.

Executive clemency was written into the constitutions of the nation and the states because of a certain rigidity in the judicial processes. Every so often men are convicted and their convictions are sustained in the highest courts, though these convictions violate, in one way or another, the community's sense of justice. Perhaps one conviction in ten thousand is in this category. The other 9,999 are not proper subjects for executive clemency, and the use of the pardoning power to circumvent the punishments prescribed by law is vicious in its origin and in its effects.

The probabilities are overwhelming that a murderer who is sentenced for life deserves the sentence. The jury heard the story of the crime, and juries are notoriously kind hearted. The case for the defense was made as effectively as it could be. Every mitigating circumstance was stressed. The right of appeal was exhausted. No one supposes that any or all of these circumstances always do justice to the defendant, but injustices are extremely rare.

The notion that the behavior of a man in prison, if good, warrants his early release is not well founded. Most criminals, even hardened ones, do not flagrantly defy prison discipline if only because it is futile generally to do so and is likely to result in deprivation of privileges. The fact that a murderer sent up for life has behaved himself well by prison standards is no evidence that he is the kind of man who can safely be sent back into society, and the fact of his release is calculated to encourage contempt for the law in some minds.

The presumption is that the jury's verdict was the correct one, made with a full knowledge of all the relevant facts. In normal circumstances neither the parole board nor the governor is so well equipped to judge the appropriate punishment as the jury. To the extent that Mr. Carlstrom's opinion reinforces this position it is to be commended.

GETTING BACK TO PRINCIPLES.

The letter written by the late Justice Eschweiler of the Wisconsin Supreme court to the chairman of the President's commission on law enforcement is a most timely contribution to the growing discussion of prohibition by men learned in the law. Lay discussion in the first years of the experiment was discouraged by the moral bullying of dissent by prohibition propaganda. The militant prohibitionists, who are generally ministers, constantly presented the case of prohibition as merely a combat between light and darkness, between self-restraint and self-indulgence, between altruism and gross appetite, between virtue and vice. It is only in recent years that this assumption has given way and it has been respectable not only to deny the expediency of prohibition but to raise the profound and far reaching issues of law and government which it involves. Now that the moralistic taboo has been pretty generally raised, these issues are receiving a rapidly increasing attention, and especially from lawyers, both as individuals and in their societies.

The letter of the Wisconsin jurist is illustrative of the new stage of the debate which now no longer splashes in the shallows but reaches for the fundamentals. We think this change is of great moment. It perhaps may be more important in the long run than the problem of the efficient control of the liquor traffic, for it reaches the basic principles of representative government and the essential nature of municipal law, its proper objects and its essential limits.

No doubt most of the discussion of such questions will seem abstruse to the average man and woman and seem to be futile so far as an educated popular opinion may be an end in view. Prohibition is collapsing under the weight of its own concrete results, not from reasoned analysis and argument. Nevertheless discussion of the nature of law and government and of the principles underlying the American system of ordered liberty reaches the leader, the legislator, the journalist, even the jurist, and will be effective eventually upon our social and political evolution. If this discussion spreads and persists, as we hope and believe it will, it ought not to be too much to expect it will tend to save us from some careless and costly law making, some ill advised and hurtful experimentation, some bartering of our birthright for messes of indigestible pottage concocted by impatient and unbalanced reformists. It ought to induce in us some wholesome self-restraint and some disposition to think before we leap. It ought to restore in some measure at least the authority of those principles which the wisest group of statesmen the world has yet seen embodied in our constitutional system and left us for our guidance in its application and development.

TRACKS IN THE NEW DRIVE.

The petition of the Lincoln park commissioners for the removal of street car tracks now entering the Lake Shore drive at Chicago avenue and proceeding thence in the drive to Navy pier ought, we think, to be granted. At great expense a new main artery is to be created by the bridging of the river at its mouth, and the traffic it is destined to carry is certain to be very heavy. The present street car tracks would undoubtedly be a serious obstruction to the efficiency of this thoroughfare as well as out of place in a boulevard. The drive is intended to shorten the time of communication between the north and south sides and also to be a pleasure drive along the lake between the north and south park systems. It has both practical and esthetic purposes and will be an important addition to the recreation resources of inhabitants and visitors alike. The Chicago avenue line turning athwart the traffic and occupying double track space, with landing places along nearly a mile at the center link of the drive, will be a great inconvenience and detriment. It has met a substantial need for transportation, but that benefit will be outweighed by the general interest of the community which the new drive is being constructed to serve.

KANSAS HAS FUN.

Kansas has been so interested in various expectable social phenomena that it has not been able to get its mind on the hot weather or take any interest in its political campaigns. Usually an election of constable offers the primitives all the drama they need aside from looking at the thermometer on the livery stable door, but now the two new attractions, jake paralysis and the reprocessing of certain hopeful ancients, have caused more excitement than Kansas has had since territorial days of the border ruffians.

Between checking up on who's got the jake shuffles and wondering whether Doc Brinkley at Milford actually can make young goats out of old ones Kansas can't be bothered with the primaries. The jake paralysis is a prohibition disease found in the great dry tipple fake Jamaica ginger. A treatment by the doc and two jake sundaes would send a Kansas Volsteader leaping from crag to crag, but nature evens up on the lively citizenship. Even if the doc can make a sterling patriot feel more like a goat, by the introduction of glands, the jake float on the sundae paralyzes the legs, and so what's the use? The citizen is all dressed up, but can't get anywhere.

It is evident that the jake gets results. There are hundreds of shufflers to prove it, but there is a suspicion that the old goats are nothing but old goats after a Milford treatment. Nevertheless in its good old moral way, always exemplar to the rest of the nation, Kansas is having its good, clean fun. Good old Kansas, the great American home state.

THE FATE OF EWING COLLEGE.

[Illinois State Journal, Springfield.]

Ewing college, near Benton, is for sale and "no reasonable offer will be turned down." The campus, with buildings and books, is valued at $100,000, but only a few months ago there were no buyers when the entire plant was offered for $20,000.

Once advertised as "a place where students are not surrounded with distraction, temptation and vices," Ewing college never had an enrollment greater than 140 students.

Such an institution without a stadium and free from spicy scandals received very little publicity. It was nothing but a seat of learning and so perished.

WORK OF ROTARY CLUBS.

ROTARY clubs everywhere make philanthropy a part of their work—service to the needy, or service to the community in some altruistic or beneficent endeavor as distinguished from direct service to business, to the club, or to the members of the fraternity. This story tells the beginnings of Rotary in such service.

Many years ago a one armed preacher named Mathews lived at Onarga, Ill. Mr. Mathews, by reason of an experience, became very sympathetic toward babies born in penitentiaries, prisons, and jails. Finally he became convinced that environment was more important than heredity in determining criminality. He felt that he could take babies born in prisons and jails, and in the families of criminals generally, put such babies in a good environment, break all connections between the old and the new, and turn out good citizens. He devoted his life to gathering up such children and rearing them in his own home in Onarga, under religious influence.

He had a team of horses for the use of these children. One year one of his team died. He needed a horse. He found his way to a member of Chicago Rotary. That member collected enough money in Chicago and La Grange Rotary clubs to buy Mr. Mathews a horse. After that, members of these clubs participated in donations to the Mathews experiment. This was the unorganized, unofficial, spontaneous beginning of philanthropy in Rotary. It led to the next step.

Chicago was in need of comfort stations. Chicago Rotary became convinced of the need and officially, and in an organized way, promoted a movement for comfort stations in Chicago.

Chicago Rotary was the first such club organized. Naturally, what they would do was accepted as an example by other Rotary clubs. So many clubs took up philanthropy and community service that presently this came to be one of the planks in the Rotary platform.

Before long Chicago Rotary took a part of the movement for the care and reëstablishment of crippled children under their wing. But as early as they were in this they found other Rotary clubs in the field.

The motive had spread with rapidity and become a part of Rotarians' spiritual credo before it was formulated in the words of the platform.

KETOGENIC DIET TREATMENT.

F. S. M. writes: My boy, 10 years old, suffers from epileptic spasms at intervals of two or three months. These attacks nearly always come on at night about half an hour after retiring. He commenced to get these spells at the age of four years. I have had doctors, but none can give me a definite answer as to what to do for him. They all hope, of course, that he will outgrow it. Isn't it possible for you to tell me if cases like this are curable? If so, whom would you advise me to consult? If it is not curable, what could be done to relieve?

REPLY.

If this is true epilepsy there is little chance that the boy will outgrow the disease. I suggest that you have your physician try the Ketogenic diet treatment. It is reasonably successful, especially with children. Epileptics should get plenty of exercise, regulate the diet and the bowel habits. They are prone to gorge. The diet habits must be watched. In fact, epileptics, more than other people, should lead hygienic lives.

SUNLIGHT AND REST.

1. What is the treatment for tuberculosis of the joints and bones?
2. Should the patient be in a sanitarium?
3. Do most cases recover?
4. Does climate have any effect?

REPLY.

1. Sunlight and other forms of heliotherapy, rest in bed, open air, good diet, and surgical treatment as needed.
2. In some instances, but not all.
3. Yes.

BANKRUPT.

Chicago, July 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We borrowed $200 from a loan company, giving our furniture as security. Between last December and this March we have paid about $50, including interest. Then my husband lost his work, and has not worked since, except very irregularly, which keeps us in food. We have offered to give the loan company our furniture ever since we missed the first payment. Now we can't pay the rent, yet we are afraid to move our stuff; in fact, I don't believe we could afford to move it. We are a family of seven, five children.

MRS. L. C.

Your difficulty is the common one of not having enough funds to pay your debts. We can suggest no legal remedy other than bankruptcy and that would involve surrendering your assets, in excess of exemptions, to your creditors.

NICE WORDS FAILED.

Chicago, July 21.—[Friend of the People.]—Our kitchen and back porch face an alley in which garbage is thrown because of inadequate facilities to care for refuse. In this hot weather the odor that we must stand is intense. We have spoken very nicely to the landlord of the offending house, but he doesn't pay any attention to us. I wonder if the proper authorities will not see that another container is placed there. P. W.

Report is made that notice has been served on the owner to provide additional and sufficient number of receptacles to care for refuse output. Location will be kept under observation to see that there is no undue delay in complying with notice.

OUR WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW.

The G. O. P. has just got out what it calls its "Hornbook." It is a review of the first sixteen months of the present administration and tells all that the Republicans have done for the country and humanity.

It begins with the collecting of all the animals on the earth and herding them into the ark by Noah so that they wouldn't be drowned. If they had been drowned we wouldn't have any dogs or cats or racehorses today, and we couldn't go to the zoo to hear the lion roar or watch the elephant. Noah was the chairman of the farm board of his day, and he was hot stuff on taking care of the interests of the boys down on the farm, just as Mr. Legge is doing today. It seems from what the book says that the Republicans organized the army that turned back Genghis Khan in Europe, otherwise we'd all be slant-eyed Chinese today. A Republican sailor, Christopher Columbus, sailed from Spain and discovered America, and another G. O. P. leader named Wellington defeated Napoleon at Waterloo and saved Europe some more. The Republicans in America marched out in 1776 under the command of that grand old Republican war horse George Washington and drove King George and his British and Hessians out of Brooklyn and chased 'em across the Atlantic and gave us liberty up to the time of the eighteenth amendment.

The Republicans also put the Appalachian and Rocky mountains where they are today, and after hanging up the sun, stars, and moon did a few more things, such as sending the beneficent rain down upon the thirsty crops. (The Hornbook sort of soft pedals about the rain, because we are getting so little of it right now.) Anyhow, we won't tell you any more about the Hornbook or who committed the murder; you'll enjoy it more finding out for yourself.

HAVENS AND HIGH SEAS.

Havens or high seas!
Choose which you please,
Land-bounded comfort,
Contentment and ease,
Fire on hearthstone,
Wind in the trees,
A hand at home-coming,
Would you have these?
Or do you still long
For nights that are gone,
Wind in the rigging,
Red sun at dawn,
Where blue touches blue,
And the limitless view
Is pregnant with longing—
Do these call to you?
Havens or high seas,
Cyclone or breeze,
Whichever you choose,
You will never have ease!

E. LESLIE SPAULDING.

HAM FISH and his congressional committee combing the hinterland for Soviets were chilled to the bone when they were told by a witness that once the Communists had histed a red flag right atop the University of Chicago. Maybe it would be better while Ham and his snark hunters are in town to change the red lights in the stop-and-go street signs. The red could be softened down to a sort of pale pink with yellow polka dots so as not to scare Ham and his boys half to death every time they take a taxi.

ANOTHER WHAT TO SEE IN LONDON.

To your "must see" list of London—Westminster Abbey, St. James Palace, Piccadilly, the Zoo, Hyde Park, St. Paul's, Bow Church, Wallace Collection, British Museum, Limehouse, National Gallery, the Rag Market, Chelsea, and the Guildhall—you might as well add Dennis King. For everybody else has; every boat brings us a batch of letters and postcards from tourists who've "done" Dennis in between afternoon charabanc trips to Stoke Poges and morning calls on the Life Guard at Whitehall. And Dennis is not only playing at old Drury Lane in London, but his name is in big letters in front of the theater above the name of the play, "Three Musketeers"—the which being the first time such a thing ever occurred at Drury Lane since it was established back in 1663. It is presumed that Garrick, Sheridan, and John Kemble have not only kicked the dashboards out of their coffins because they were not accorded this honor, but that they are still turning over rapidly in their graves. And Dennis writes that people from Chicago are coming around to his dressing room after every performance to call on him, and how pleased he is to be remembered after all these years since he played in Chicago.

A LOT of copies of Nick Roosevelt's book on the Philippines are floating around in Manila bay. The Filipinos said the book was a libel on their lovely islands, and so yesterday when Nick was appointed vice governor of their lovely islands they got hold of as many of the books as they could and hurled them into the stormy main. Which won't hurt the feelings of the publishers of Nick's book; they'll probably get out a new edition with a blurb on the jacket headed: "Tremendous Demand for This Book; It Is One of the Six Best Sailors."

STAR-CREATION.

The First Night drank the First Day's memory,
Her chalice of a young moon lifted high;
Then flung that down and splashed immortal drops

LAGNIAPPE.

KANSAS IS YELPING for the scalp of Chairman Legge of the farm board because he said that the Sunflower state in refusing to plant less wheat was a hog lying in its own trough. Well, we must say that Mr. Legge might have been more tactful and followed the manner of spelling his own name and merely said that Kansas was a hogge.

AND EVEN if the governor of California does turn Tom Mooney loose after the chief witness against him gets through reversing his evidence, maybe they'll make Tom pay for his board in the penitentiary from the time they put him in back in 1917.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 30, 1865.

LAWRENCE, Kas.—Reports from Fort Halleck state that the Indians are committing more hostilities along the road every few days, and it is impossible to keep them in check with the small force scattered along the route. Freighters from Fort Larned to Fort Lyon go mostly in trains, numbering from seven to nine hundred wagons, with heavy escort.

CHICAGO.—George F. Robinson, the soldier who saved the life of Secretary Seward from an assassin, was recently married at Springfield, Me. It is proposed to give him a substantial testimonial. A number of his friends have arranged for the sale of photographs and the circular urging subscription to them is signed by Gen. Grant, Gen. Howard, Secretary McCulloch, Senator Wilson and others. Different styles of photographs may be had at 50 cents, $2 and $5. We commend the plan as a deserved tribute to a brave and disabled soldier.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 30, 1900.

MONZA, Italy.—King Humbert has been assassinated. He was shot by a man named Angelo Bressi, and died a few minutes later. The king had been attending the distribution of prizes at a gymnastic competition, and had just entered his carriage with his aid de camp amid the cheers of the crowd when he was struck by three revolver bullets fired in rapid succession. One pierced the heart of his majesty. The assassin was immediately arrested and was with some difficulty saved from the fury of the populace. The murderer described himself as of Prato in Tuscany. His motive is unknown. Queen Margherita is prostrated.

LONDON.—The Chinese legation in Berlin has received a message from Sheng, director general of railways and telegraphs in China, saying that he has received a dispatch from Peking announcing that Gen. Tung Fuh Siang at Peking threatens to kill all members of legation if the international forces advance on Peking. A Shanghai report says that the Boxers massacred from 2,000 to 3,000 Christians at Pao-Ting Fu on July 5, the Chinese general, Li Ho Keh, giving the order to exterminate the Christians.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 30, 1914.

ST. PETERSBURG.—It looks tonight as if only an act of Providence can prevent Russia declaring war on Austria. Russia does not swerve from its determination to support Serbia. An imperial ukase calls to the colors an immense number of reservists. There is every indication that the whole vast military and naval machine of Russia will soon be set in motion. The port of Riga has been closed and mined. It is understood that Emperor Nicholas will be generalissimo of the armies in the field.

LONDON.—The day's events brought no relief to the suspense nor any diplomatic achievements to restrict the Austro-Serbian war to those two nations. Direct negotiations between Russia and Austria, which gave other governments a hope of compromise, have failed. Russia is mobilizing against the Austrian frontier four army corps in each of four districts, consisting of 1,280,000 men.

LONDON.—A Vienna dispatch says: "After heavy bombardment by the Danube gunboats, Belgrade was occupied by Austrian troops on July 29."

BERLIN.—Germany is in the uncanny grip of the calm which precedes a storm. The imperial capital is in constant expectation that a few hours will bring the dreaded signal that the European conflagration is at last at hand—the posting in public places of the order for the mobilization of the kaiser's army and navy. In quarters usually reliable it was stated that the kaiser had given the czar twenty-four hours in which to cease mobilization or else Germany would mobilize and that this was the kaiser's last appeal to the czar.

PARIS.—Popular sentiment in regard to a general war was more optimistic today and the feeling that everything may yet be arranged satisfactorily is gaining ground. Although the reservists have not been called out, France has completed an unofficial mobilization of its forces.

CORN SUGAR.

Watseka, Ill., July 28.—I was mighty glad to read your editorial this morning on corn sugar. It is timely and vigorous. The definition of sugar was formulated by the agricultural department in 1913, immediately after the passage of the pure food act, before there was such a thing as sugar made from corn out at the Argo plant in Cook county. This new and wholesome sugar was not developed until 1923, ten years after the department formulated its definition as set out in bulletin 136 on page 10.

That definition reads, "Sugar is the product chemically known as sucrose, chiefly obtained from sugar cane, sugar beets, sorghum, maple, and palm." If modified to read "Sugar is the product chemically known as sucrose and dextrose, chiefly obtained from sugar cane, sugar beets, sorghum, maple, palm, and corn" the trouble would be passed. As it now stands corn sugar is treated as an adulterant.

There is an ounce of sugar used in each can of sweet corn. There are about 600,000,000 cans of sweet corn put up each year in this country. This uses up approximately 37,000,000 pounds of cane or beet sugar because the canner cannot use our Illinois corn sugar without putting on this discriminatory label. It would take a million and a half bushels of Illinois corn to produce this sugar. This is but one item and reference is made thereto because it is somewhat startling but is very near home.

The use of Cuban sugar to increase the palatability of Illinois sweet corn is a trifle revolting when Illinois sugar made at Argo is just as good for the purpose and just as healthful. If all the industries were permitted to use it as freely as they are permitted to use sugar made from Cuban cane the market for Illinois corn would be greatly increased.

C. W. RAYMOND.

REAL DISTINCTION.

Fairbury, Ill., July 28.—If corn sugar is so good and its unrestricted use will benefit the farmers as THE TRIBUNE asserts, and confer an equal economic benefit to the consumer, why not label all food products where it has been used? Then the editorial writer and all of the others so clamorous and vocal for its use, in purchasing their household supplies can demand and insist upon their grocer furnishing them with only such preserved foods as those in which it appears.

THE FAIR OF '58.

Oak Park, Ill., July 24.—In this morning's TRIBUNE there was a letter from Mrs. Annette Osborn stating she could find no one who remembered a fair held south of 31st street in September of 1859. I attended the fair at that time and place. The civil war, 1861, and the fire of 1871 blotted out all former events. Few are alive now that were old enough to go to that fair. I am in my 93d year and not one of my friends that attended is living. As I remember, it was a wonderful affair and well attended.

AT CLARENDON BEACH.

Chicago, July 28.—Regarding the letter which appeared in last Sunday's TRIBUNE, stating that one of the life guards at Clarendon beach had been charging patrons for parking space, the proceeds of which were supposed to go to the junior guard fund:

I first discovered this about two weeks ago, when a man came to me and complained about a certain life guard charging for parking cars south of the beach, otherwise known as "Hogan's alley." I immediately investigated the matter and found it to be true. A young boy, 15 years old, known as "Texas," who was thrown out of the junior guard camp three years ago, was posing as a life guard and wearing a life guard suit. I could not locate him, but learned that he has been arrested several times and has been soliciting for junior guards under false pretenses. The police are handicapped in the matter on account of the boy being a juvenile. The Juvenile authorities interfered.

At the present time I have a policeman stationed at this location in order to prevent a recurrence of same.

COMPLAINT.

Chicago, July 28.—Last Sunday I decided to go to Clarendon beach. I arrived there about 6 in the evening and found a line of ten waiting to get in, although scores of people were continually leaving. I was apprised of the fact that I could have a key without waiting in line by greasing the palm of some racketeer in the guise of an employé. The other alternative was trusting my belongings in a locker that was opened and closed with a master key in the hands of another employé, who would "appreciate anything" for his trouble.

ABOUT ENGLAND.

Chicago, July 21.—In the SUNDAY TRIBUNE yesterday you ask, "What do you know about England?" and the 30th question is: "What part of England is associated with Wadsworth?" Obviously, you mean "Wordsworth." In the answers to the quiz, No. 4 should read "clotted cream," rather than "clouted cream." It is always referred to in England as "Devonshire cream." In No. 25, the White Horse is always called "the Westbury White Horse," and is close to the town of Westbury, in Wiltshire, and not near Oxford, as stated in your reply. The spelling of "Buckinghamshire" in No. 35 had the "g" omitted. The Greenwich observatory is not "at London," but some miles away in Kent, on the river Thames.

THE PRICE OF MILK.

Park Ridge, Ill., July 22.—Could some one explain to me why farmers receive 1½ cents per quart for whole milk and then we pay 14 cents per quart at our back doors for what is left after part of the cream has been taken out of it? Just one of life's little mysteries!

The Nine Hundred Block

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

To the nine hundred block, with its deteriorated dwellings, moved gentle, lovely Theresa Ames and her mother, Mrs. Colt, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Baum, neighborhood gossip. Theresa makes friends with Katie Warner, who lives upstairs, and B. Jones, a reporter; also Johnny Deane, who left a home of wealth to make good for the girl to whom he regrets, since meeting Theresa, he is engaged. He has found employment painting automobiles. Theresa does typing at home to support herself and her mother, who has been of her own girlhood.

Theresa's father, Arnold Ames, married again after Theresa's mother divorced him to marry Barrington Colt, who recently died. The father now has a belated desire to help his daughter, but his wife threatens to leave him if he does. He arranges with Harold Gale, a friend, to secretly give Theresa work.

Johnny Deane had determined not to tell Theresa of his love for her until he had broken his engagement, but does not keep his vow. Theresa loves him, but her mother doesn't approve of so poor a suitor as Johnny supposedly is.

Johnny sends his laundry to a neighbor, and Mrs. Baum, noting the Paris and London labels, spreads the report that Johnny is a prince in hiding.

Theresa is upset by Mrs. Baum's gossip. She sees Johnny, and he tells her some incidents of his past.

"I hate to hear that," she said; "your father probably sacrificed a great deal in order to give you an education——"

"Yeh——" Johnny murmured, "I know it was rotten."

"Wasn't he disappointed?"

"Yeh. I guess he was. We never talked of it. . . . But I've been thinking lately, maybe he was. I'm going to try to make up—some things—to him. You'll like my father and he's going to be cuckoo about you. I'll bet he'll buy out Cartier's—after one look at you!"

"What is Cartier's?" she asked.

"Gosh!" thought Johnny. . . . He did need a guardian. . . . He told her, feeling a rise of shame over an evasion that he felt to be necessary, that it was a place where they sold jewelry "at almost nothing."

"I'd rather see him save his money for his old age," said Theresa, "although, Johnny, I'd just love to have him live with us!"

As Johnny looked at her warmly the door opened and Arnold Ames stepped into the station. He was going to take the nine-forty for New York. He bought his ticket and then, turning, he glanced wearily around the waiting station. Suddenly he lost color to regain it in so full a fashion that his face was purple and looked inflated with the warmth.

He could not help it, he made way toward them; he had to, no matter what Laura [if she heard] thought, felt, or did.

"Where are you going? Why—are you here?" he asked and close to desperately. He had envisioned, without a look at her companion's decent face, her running off with some scamp to find that love and trust were sometimes the road to ruin. Theresa, freeing her hand consciously, stood up; Johnny instantly followed her lead. "It's warm here, you see," she explained, "and we wanted, needed, some spot where we could talk. May I present John Deane to you? John—my father——"

"My father——" echoed in Arnold Ames to make him dizzy with a happiness that held an ache. Laura had no right to ask him to forget a fact that no man can forget without losing decency. Slowly, measuringly, he studied the young man whose name, she had said, was John Deane. Then he turned to Theresa, satisfied that she was safe with the young man who was obviously a decent sort. He could not look enough at Theresa and he could not, in any way, say that which he so wanted to say. He could only fumble in a pocket, to put his hand over hers, which he had turned first, palm upward and many are the symbols for emotions that turn strong words pale and weak!

"My father"—echoed in Arnold's ears to make him dizzy with a happiness that held an ache."

"Please," he begged—tears in his eyes—"I can do so little for you and I want to do—so much."

"You do a great deal for me," Theresa said, "and—if you didn't, the fact that you want to would be—more than enough—really!"

He saw that she spoke truth and he wondered, remembering Elsie, so influenced by price marks; so unable to value things save by them! He folded her fingers around the bill and he held her hand, closed on it. Then he turned to Johnny.

"The town's small," he said. "You'll be careful of her, won't you?"

"You may be assured that I will, sir," Johnny stated a little stiffly. Arnold Ames nodded, satisfied.

"This is the first time we've come here," Theresa explained, "and we probably won't again. . . . We couldn't talk at home; mother had a headache."

Arnold remembered those headaches. So—Elsie didn't like the young man.

"Remember," he said to Theresa and he laid a heavy, hungry hand on her arm, "that life can be long and bitter if you marry for any wishes except your own."

"It's going to be all right," she answered. "I'm going to marry Johnny when he gets a raise. But that's a secret. Even mother doesn't know——"

"Thank you," said Arnold Ames.

He didn't sleep that night and usually he slept easily—wishing to—wherever he happened to be. He would send her an engagement present from New York. And he would do something to help the young man along.

What-that something was to be, Arnold Ames could not, then, dream.

Johnny had been very tender with Theresa going home. He had heard Theresa's and her mother's story, early, from Theresa, but he had not savored its full strength until that night. Mrs. Colt was still up, "suffering agonies" with her head; she had been "so lonely, too," and she had been weeping. Billy Treadway had called.

"Mother wants to know, dear, just how serious this affair with young Mr. Deane is and how far it has gone?"

"Can't we talk of it at another time, mother? Your head——"

"Mother wants to know and now, Theresa!" [Elsie laid her tightly rolled, pink corset on a chair]. Silence. "Did you hear mother, Theresa?"

"Yes, mother, I did, but——"

"But what, Theresa?"

"I—I don't want to talk of it—tonight."

"Is that the way to answer mother's request, Theresa?"

Silence.

"Did you hear me, Theresa?".

And there are those who think, fondly and fatuously, looking upon idle racks, that inquisitions were practices of a long gone past!

"Mother wants to know and now, Theresa! Did you hear mother?"

"Mother wants to hear every word of what has gone on! Mother knows that you've met Mr. Deane at Katie's . . . in the rooms, Theresa, of a woman who goes out by the day!"

Theresa turned; "I love him and I'm going to marry him," she said. She sagged then against the bureau, shaking. Elsie Colt began to weep stormily and to rail. It would kill her—kill her! Theresa was all she had! She'd rather see Theresa in her coffin——

Katie getting in an hour later from a session with her new love—indulged despite her inability to be off with the old—heard Mrs. Colt's hysteria as she passed their door. The hour had whipped it to a fury; Elsie Colt was screaming her accusations and her appeals. Katie did not hear Theresa's voice at all. "You poor little kid," she thought. "You poor little kid!"

Gloom filled the Bellevue court apartment house that night. Johnny had found under his door a special delivery letter which had been poked there by Mrs. Nulman's knotted hand. It was from Collette. Unless Johnny came across, she threatened, and "fixed it up" with his "old man" so they could marry, she would sell Johnny's letters to the Fulper papers.

Johnny sagged to his lumpy bed to groan loudly. He heard Katie come up rather soddenly.

Katie's door closed firmly; silence settled; Johnny stood up to pace his room. He considered appealing to his father, who would give Collette, Johnny knew, if he said the word, a price beyond any price which the Fulper papers would give her.

Then firm, suddenly square, he decided against appealing to his father. He, Johnny, was twenty-six and he would fight his own battles. Drearily he began to make ready for the night. Certainly Theresa would—stick to him? And suddenly fear turned him sick. In his pyjamas—with the funny writing above "Paris" on the inside of the collar band, rear—he wrote Collette.

He never could bring his father around to her, he wrote bluntly. He knew his father. She had never loved him, he knew that; she had loved his father's money. Some day if she would hold them, he would buy those letters of his, from her, himself. He could take no more of his father from whom he had already taken too much. Would she give him this chance?"

It was a good, honest letter. He sealed and addressed it to a theater where a new musical comedy was playing in New York.

GASOLINE ALLEY—A WALLOP

DOC'S GOT ME WORRIED ABOUT INHERITANCE TAXES, MR. MACROTH. HAVE YOU GOT THEM FIGURED OUT?
COME IN, MR. WALLET. I'VE JUST BEEN GOING OVER THEM. CODA'S SECURITIES AND QUICK ASSETS WILL TAKE CARE OF THE MILLION DOLLARS FOR ATTORNEYS' FEES AND COSTS OF ADMINISTRATION.
I AM HOPING IT WILL COVER THE FEDERAL ESTATE TAX WHICH, ON THE TEN MILLION CODA ESTATE AMOUNTS TO $232,700. THAT LEAVES $9,767,300 TO BE DIVIDED BETWEEN SKEEZIX AND MME. OCTAVE.
THAT'S NOT SO BAD.
NO, THAT MAKES SKEEZIX'S TWO THIRDS $5,844,867. BUT ON THIS THE STATE INHERITANCE TAX COMES TO $806,000 MORE. AND ALL THE CASH YOU'RE GETTING IS $300,000 FROM MME. OCTAVE. THE REST IS LAND.
WE TRIED TO GET A BIG ENOUGH CASH ARRANGEMENT WITH OCTAVE TO COVER TAXES BUT COULDN'T DO IT. SO THE BALANCE MUST BE REALIZED OTHERWISE.
GREAT GUNS! YOU MEAN I'VE GOT TO GIVE THE STATE ALL THE $300,000 CASH AND DIG UP $500,000 BESIDES! I'M SUNK.

Italy, France Recall Days of History Making

With Different Emphasis on Kingly Throne.

ROME, July 29.—(AP)—King Victor Emmanuel today received the salute of the Roman populace, on the thirtieth anniversary of his reign. Standing before a multitude in the square in front of Pantheon the monarch hailed his subjects who, Roman fashion, stretched up their arms in the ancient pledge of fealty.

After three days in the earthquake zone the monarch appeared saddened and weary. This day always has been sad for him as it marks the death by assassination of King Humbert, his father, at Monza, near Milan.

There was a mass in the temple, now also known as the Church of Santa Maria ad Martyres, where rests the body of Humbert, with the artist Raphael, and Cardinal Consalvi, who was papal secretary of state during the Vatican's negotiations with Napoleon.

There were messages of congratulations for the king from all over the world, mingling with cables of condolence for the great losses of Italy in last week's earthquake.

On Aug. 9, date of the king's official ascension to the throne, another celebration will be held, this time with real rejoicing.

At Fascism's Cradle.

MILAN, July 29.—(AP)—The forty-seventh birthday of Benito Mussolini, premier of Italy, today was celebrated in this "cradle of Fascism," and in every other important center of the country, by demonstrations in keeping with the nature of the Fascisti.

The "Arditi," famous world war shock troops, first to wear the black shirts later adopted by the duce and his followers, were the central figures of the celebration. The premier's anniversary falls on the thirteenth occurrence of the date when the assault divisions were formed.

Deputy Carlo Sforza of Lucca, president of the national association of the Arditi, in a manifesto announced that today would see all of these veterans enrolled in the Fascist militia.

France Also Celebrates.

PARIS, July 29.—(AP)—The French government today celebrated the centenary of 1830, the year when Paris forced the abdication of King Charles Tenth and restored the tricolor as the flag.

To mark this event, the feature of this afternoon's ceremony in front of the city hall was President Doumergue's hoisting of the French colors.

The official program was the culmination of a three day celebration given over to dancing and other entertainment in the Place de la Bastile and the Place de la Republic, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday corresponding to "The Glorious Three" days of the revolution when Marquis De La Fayette was given command of Paris troops after the people had stormed the Louvre.

At that time hundreds took turns sitting on the king's throne and finally a corpse was seated there as a sign that the monarchy was dead. Ten days later, however, Louis Philippe was elected monarch.

It was a coincidence that the revolution precipitated by a king's suspension of the freedom of the press should be commemorated today by Premier Tardieu, whose life work has been journalism.

What's It All About.

The French government of today is known as the third republic. The second republic, which followed the overthrow of Louis Philippe, "the citizen king," was overthrown by the coup d'état of Napoleon III. That ruler, a student of and great admirer of Julius Cæsar, lost his empire as a result of the Franco-Prussian war. The third republic followed. The occasion of yesterday's celebration in Paris was the fall of Charles X., who succeeded Louis XVIII., a Bourbon, put on the throne after the Emperor Napoleon I. was sent to St. Helena.

Olive Borden Here from Vacation in Minnesota

Olive Borden, who made her mark in Hollywood through her ability to wear clothes distinctively, lived up to that mark on arriving in Chicago yesterday from Minnesota, where she has been on vacation. The petite, dark eyed actress was smartly garbed in a dark, tailored traveling suit with a green blouse and a vivid green scarf, with a small hat. She will return to Chicago in about a week to inspect the attractions here, she said before leaving for New York to discuss contracts.

King Albert and Queen Elizabeth met the royal visitor and departed with him immediately for Laeken palace for a three days' sojourn. The prince will fly back to England on Friday.

Eleven temples, a number of pyramids and many valuable specimens were found, according to first reports. Several excursions are being planned in the hope of further discoveries.

Hays Predicts World Movies on New Scale

Cites the Recent Pacts Made in Europe.

New York, July 29.—[Special.]—Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, who has been in Paris and Berlin as chairman of the conference between American and foreign motion picture producers and patent holders, returned today on the French liner Ile de France. He announced a successful program of coöperation between film interests of the two countries.

"The agreement reached," Mr. Hays said, "frees the talking motion picture art from the limitations imposed on it by the patent controversy that threatened world-wide litigation. It defined the various fields of effort for American and German communication and electrical manufacturing interests in the sphere of sound development.

"The agreement, I am confident, will open a new era of coöperation for technical progress of the motion picture art through the interchange of patent rights, manufacturing, etc.

"Finally, it paves the way for the same measure of recognition by the German government of the mutual interests of the motion picture here and abroad, as displayed in the position taken by leading members of the industry and by educational and other authorities in Germany with whom I discussed the situation. Certainly, judged by the popularity of our pictures abroad, there is every reason to believe that the American motion picture industry will continue to play its part in making the motion picture a potent instrument of entertainment and education throughout the world."

Mystery, Color, Paris Style Theory for Autumn Gowns

PARIS, July 29.—(AP)—Milady's frocks this winter must be both elegant and subtle if she wishes them to bear the 1931 style stamp.

Mysterious peplums, tiers and tunics mark the silhouettes displayed this week by half a hundred style establishments which consider themselves "high style," before buyers searching for the new and beautiful with which to clothe Eve's posterity.

The lines, interrupting but not distorting the outlines of the now completely feminized figure, promise complication for the home dressmaker's art.

While the style shows are rapidly approaching a climax, none of the half dozen biggest houses has yet exhibited and until they do final "style dope" is still subject to upset.

The consensus is, however, that skirts are to be only slightly longer for day wear, while waistlines hug the curve nature designed for them. Colors to date emphasize a rich brown called "Van Dyke" after the painter, greens in many dark shades, rich reds, some purple—and black and white for morning, noon and night.

More Long Skirts.

Skirts are going to stay long, whatever Paris may say to the contrary. That was the assertion of stylists yesterday at the Morrison hotel. There 90 exhibitors have set up shop for a month to spread their wares before a couple of thousand retail buyers.

"The length of women's skirts," declared David Cohen, director of the exhibits, pointing to a skirt length chart, "won't be any shorter than they are this year. Sport dresses and ensembles are 16 inches from the floor, street dresses, 14 to 15 inches; formal frocks, 12 inches; dancing frocks, 5 inches, and the extremely formal frock will, of course, touch the floor.

"Nor are American women going to pay French prices for their frocks. They find they can buy them equally as stylish at home for much less money."

CRIME WELL TUNED BRINGS, APPLAUSE FOR VERDI'S OPERA

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Back to a story of unabashed crime, told with a frankness that reminds one of what some of the outside newspapers say about Chicago, Ravinia held out "Rigoletto" as an attraction last night. The audience, not wasting time in moral reflections over the plot, continued to applaud the tunes, of which there are many.

A curious phenomenon these tunes are, too. No one ever doubted Verdi's honesty, whatever score he happened to be composing. Yet his very honesty led him into a complication of music that represents some of the finest musical imaginings combined with some so utterly faded and banal as to be moribund when the composer's ink dried. It is a good thing that his first imagination outweighed the rest, because it resulted in the survival of "Rigoletto."

Last night's performance presented Florence Macbeth, one of the most charming and most expert singers of all the Gildas, with a solo of one of the best tunes and a concerted part in one of the worst of the score; Giuseppe Danise, whose studies in the title role have made it a highly dramatic and vocally impressive character; Armand Tokatyan, who loved them and left them to the gay lilt of an uncommonly good tenor voice, and a number of others, including Virgilio Lazzari, whose explorations into the depths of the score produced some of the most striking singing of the evening.

It may be that some of the singers grew thoughtless over the obligations of the beat of the music; also that the kidnaping scene was naïve beyond previous experiences of an opera not noted for its subtlety. But Conductor Papi swept all along by the compelling force of his baton, and temporary slips were lost in the general effect of a performance that moved and pulsated.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BROKEN HILL, Rhodesia, July 29.—The site of a 4,000 year old iron foundry has been discovered by an Italian scientific excavation at Mumbwa in northern Rhodesia. Buried at a depth of six feet in a big cavern in strata of the paleolithic age and the excavators found evidence that some superior race had smelted iron by primitive methods. Skeletons showed the knowledge of smelting came to Africa in Bushman times at the earliest phase of Stone Age culture.

The discovery is believed to throw an entirely new light on the history of metallurgy, especially in South Africa, and has an important bearing on the ancient mining industry of the Transvaal and Rhodesia. Incidentally, it may throw fresh light on the mysterious Rhodesian Stone Age ruins.

Mexico Waits on Hoover to Pick Date for Visit

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, July 29.—President Ortiz Rubio received foreign correspondents today at Chapultepec castle. He said that President Hoover had not yet fixed a date for his proposed visit to Mexico. Mr. Hoover accepted the invitation when President Rubio visited Washington.

Should other industries show signs of going on the rocks, the government will not hesitate to go the same length as with the mining and textile problems, President Rubio declared. This means that no labor unions will be allowed to block the progress of industries as they have been doing for the last ten years. A government decree permitted the redajustment of the number of workmen in the mines and textile factories which were facing the danger of having to close.

President Rubio declared himself personally opposed to the granting of franchise for gambling and said he is using his influence against it. One obstacle in the way is the fact that certain concerns have obtained concessions legally, either from local congresses or other means provided by the law and as a constitutional president he is forced to respect these concessions although they are against the interest of the nation.

Warn Campers that Radio Music Draws Rattlesnakes

Los Angeles, Cal., July 29.—[Special.]—County forest rangers, with C. O. "Several times when the radio was turned on about the campfire, rattlesnakes came in towards the music," the ranger said.

Doctor Depicts the Tragedy of Lincoln Widow

Says Bitterness of Politics Upset Her Mind.

The bitterness of public men toward her was a leading cause in the insanity that for a time afflicted Mary Todd Lincoln, Dr. W. A. Evans told the Rotary club at its luncheon in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

The speaker, who is health editor of THE TRIBUNE and a former health commissioner of Chicago, for years has made a study of the tragic story of the widow of Abraham Lincoln. To the Rotarians he read yesterday from newspapers of that time and from speeches in congress to show that men who had been fulsome in their praise of the martyred President had been unsparing in denunciation of the widow. In particular he referred to Senator Edmonds of Vermont and "a senator from Illinois," meaning Richard Yates, previously Illinois' civil war governor.

Dr. Evans spoke of the charges made that Mrs. Lincoln had taken from the White House things not rightfully hers and had offered for sale belongings of the martyred President. He read from the New York paper dominated by Thurlow Weed, one of those who had contributed to Lincoln's election, attacks on Mrs. Lincoln.

Mrs. Lincoln was examined as to her sanity before twelve men in Chicago in May of 1875, Dr. Evans told, and was committed to a private sanitarium at Batavia, Ill. She remained there until September of that year and it was not until the following year that her legal status as a person competent to hold property was restored to her. In the interim she was under the guardianship of her son, Robert T. Lincoln, later president of the Pullman company. On the jury that sent Mrs. Lincoln to the sanitarium was Lyman J. Gage, who in 1897 was secretary of the treasury under William McKinley. Another member of the jury was Charles B. Farwell. Mrs. Lincoln died July 16, 1882, in Springfield, Ill.

Dr. Evans entered into a popular explanation of the mental difficulties of Mary Todd Lincoln. He did not attempt to make any detailed application of modern pyschiatry to her case. He said:

"Mrs. Lincoln had a pathological personality, out of which there developed insanity. This personality came into her family from her mother's side. This type of personality, which is not in itself insanity, also was a quality of some of her brothers and sisters, but not of her half brothers and sisters. Her father married twice, and had two groups of children, and the peculiarity belonged only to the first group.

"The abuses and villification to which Mrs. Lincoln was subjected came in 1867, when she sought to sell some of her personal property, and in 1869, when she asked congress for a pension. The unkind manner in which she was treated by the press, writers and politicians brought about her insanity.

"When the private bill for a pension was debated on the floor of the senate, Senator Edmonds of Vermont and a senator from Illinois were specially bitter. One congress failed to act; another finally gave her a pension of $3,000 a year."

Polo Matches to Aid Infant Welfare Work

BY THALIA ——.

The popularization of polo for spectators as well as for the participants is being successfully advanced, and the Hinsdale Infant Welfare society is profiting thereby, through the efforts of the members of the latter organization. They are selling the tickets for the weekly games being played on Sundays at the Oak Brook fields, and report an increasing attendance.

Season boxholders for the games being played throughout the summer and fall include Mrs. Paul Butler, whose husband is captain of the Oak Brook team; Mrs. R. R. McCormick, Mrs. Edward Hillman Jr., F. O. Butler, Ralph R. Richardson, Horace O. Wetmore, Frank Schaeffer, Robert W. Hamill, and Carl Henderson.

A "spectators' handbook," containing the history of polo, the rules of the game, and explanation of the play compiled last year by Paul Butler for one of the polo tournaments, has been dispatched to some 1,000 prospective polo enthusiasts by the Infant Welfare polo committee, of which Mrs. Walter M. Sheldon is chairman.

One of the colorful aspects of the weekly games is the arrival of Capt. Max Corpenning in his airplane from Lake Forest. The personnel of each of the teams hereabouts is not a static one, as I understand it, as the lineups are constantly changing. The players are rated according to their ability to make goals, and each team is handicapped in relation to the number of goals it is judged capable of making.

So great has the interest in polo become that they are having afternoon sessions of pony polo now for the youngsters. The Chauncey McCormicks' children are among the youthful players.

Mrs. William H. Mitchell of Lake Forest is to take time off from her labors at the office of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform next week. She will take her children, Billy and Ginevra, to Watch Hill, R. I. There they are to remain for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Horton Stafford of Lake Forest are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter, Cora Edith, at the Passavant hospital on Monday. Mrs. Stafford was Miss Cora Virginia Howland before her marriage, and is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. George Carter Howland. The baby is named for Mrs. Howland and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. E. H. Stafford, and is the fifth generation Cora in the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Byfield announce the birth of a daughter on Monday. Mrs. Byfield was Mrs. Kathryn Prest Rend before her marriage last summer.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Schmidt have returned from their wedding trip to Europe. They are to reside at 1510 North Dearborn parkway. Mrs. Schmidt was Mrs. Virginia Wood Safford before their marriage last spring. Dr. Schmidt's sister, Miss Dorothy Schmidt, departs tomorrow for a brief visit with Miss Peggy Hambleton at Charlevoix, Mich. Miss Schmidt, who is president of the Junior league, is busy just now making arrangements for the entertainment of the women flyers in the National Air races, which task the league is undertaking.

Mrs. Bowman C. Lingle of the Ambassador East has returned from the Lingle summer place near Traverse City, Mich., and is to sail on the S. S. Veendam on Friday with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Holstman. Mrs. Lingle and the Holtsmans are to make a fortnight stay at Biarritz, after which the former will be joined by Mr. Lingle and their son, Kendall for a motor trip in England. Tney are returning on the Majestic, landing about the middle of September.

George W. Dixon Jr. and Latham Castle, who are touring Europe, were in England last week, and were entertained by the American ambassador, Charles G. Dawes. They flew to Brussels, and are now embarked on a trip through the countries on the continent. They are to return in September.

Mrs. Ernest R. Graham works daily at her job of managing the milk-for-undernourished-children fund, and Mr. Graham and her son, William, go over to Lakeside, Mich., every week-end to watch the progress of the new summer place there. It is expected to be ready for occupancy by Sept. 15, and the Grahams are planning some pleasant informal parties for the fall, when gathering hickory and beech nuts, and tramping the autumn woods will be in order.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Trimble Levings announce the birth of their second son, Sanford Hopkins Levings, on July 19 at the Evanston hospital. The elder child is with Mrs. Levings' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Hopkins at their summer place, Pineycrest, at Spring Lake, Mich.

Two-Pay-Envelope Problem Stands as Bogeyman in Home

BY DORIS BLAKE.

It is to be hoped that the June brides and their respective mates have gotten down to sensible money talks by this time. If the wife is working, more need there is for an understanding about money disbursement.

While I am reminded weekly of the trouble that is caused in young households over the disposition of the double pay envelope, a case is reported today that brings the importance of the subject to mind.

The couple has been married two years, during which time the wife kept on at her job. She bought most of the furniture for the apartment, her husband's income being used for the actual running expenses of the house and his own private indulgences. In addition to paying for the furniture, the young wife saved enough to buy a car. Her intention was to buy an inexpensive one of popular make. The husband took it upon himself to order a car that cost a thousand more. So now he argues that he will have to turn all of his money in to pay for the car and the wife must look after the house and everything else.

It does not matter that it is a car in this case that trouble has started over. What is going to matter in the successful outcome of the venture of the two-pay-envelope scheme is an understanding on money matters. I cannot tell how many couples in my experience here have run upon the rocks over money. The reason, in most cases, is that there never has been any definite ruling about what each shall pay and what each shall save. The consequence is that the combined pay envelopes make it seem there is a good deal of money there and extravagances may be permitted. So one or the other, or both, get ideas that are all out of proportion to the combined salary standard.

What is frequently forgotten is that two people are living on the two salaries—not one. Two people have to eat, dress, be housed and so on. The money should be disbursed by the two—not by one, unless there is an amicable agreement that one turns her or his full envelope over to the other for his or her more capable management.

It is just a little common sense that is needed to adjust the finances so that one or the other will not be nursing a grudge that he or she is getting the worst of it.

Paris Stamps Seal of Smartness on Alpaca

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Paris has lately rediscovered the summer virtues of alpaca. Our grandfathers, who liked their comforts too, knew what they were about when they adopted it for their more négligé summer coats, with cool shiny surface almost as delectably slippy as the horsehair sofa. But they never succeeded in making it really elegant. That tour de force remained to be turned out by the textile creators of 1930.

They have woven an alpaca that shines like spun silk, is as supple as satin and sheds heat like a waterfall and, naturally, the Paris couturiers have been inspired to sartorial hot weather heights by this new reincarnation of an old favorite.

Nicole Groult used printed alpaca to make one of the smartest ensembles I saw at the Grand Prix and Dorothy Dulin sketched it so that you might see it, too. The princess dress in black alpaca printed with white coin spots opens over a front panel of alpaca that is plaited in the skirt and plain at the top. A fitted cutaway jacket of the printed alpaca has a band of black fox to accentuate its line. It is collarless, the white alpaca collar of the blouse being worn outside.

The hat, also from Nicole Groult, has the latest "headline" favored by Paris. You will notice that it is cut far back so as to show all the front hair; the crown fits the back of the head tightly and the wide brim is rolled up irregularly in the front and draped in the back. This one is of fine black straw faced with white straw.

Peru Indians Soon to Lead Modern Lives

BY C. N. GRIFFIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, July 29.—The problem of educating and making useful, in a modern way, 3,000,000 or more of mountain Indians, constituting for Peru a great human reservoir of industrious workers who had a civilization before many European lands, is one of the urgent problems which the Peruvian congress faced when it opened its sessions today.

President Augusto B. Leguia stressed the need of appropriations for such work in his annual message. Plans for agricultural schools, hospitals, and sanitation for the Indians are under way.

This was President Leguia's eleventh annual message since his return to power in 1919 and the fifteenth presidential message which he has delivered to Peruvian congresses since 1908.

He announced preparations for the exploitation of a 200,000,000 ton iron ore deposit on the Peruvian coast near Ica, with plans for harborage that would hold 20,000 ton ore boats.

While admitting hard times, the president announced that the comptroller general's office, established at the beginning of the year, along lines recommended by Prof. Edwin W. Kemmerer, American financial expert, in other South American republics, had functioned in keeping the budget well within the prescribed limits. This policy, he said, had permitted prompt payment for all public department services and government administration requirements. Financial arrangements have been completed so that the work of the great Callao port project may be continued without interruption, to be completed early next year.

The president also announced the granting of a 15 year omnibus concession for Lima and its suburbs to a new company owned by the Pan-American Finance Corporation of New York, representing an investment of between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. With all the boundary questions finally settled, save that of Ecuador, the president stated negotiations with that nation toward an early agreement were well under way.

New College Head.

St. Louis, Mo., July 29.—(AP)—The Rev. Robert S. Johnston, S. J., arrived today from Mundelein, Ill. He officially took office as president of St. Louis university.

A Father Should Not be a Tyrant; Love Necessary

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A booklet on sex education will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

It takes two to make a quarrel—and a marriage.

It doesn't actually take two to raise a child because many a child has been happily and wisely reared by a mother or father alone—or by a mother or a father who gets no coöperation from the other parent.

Still it is infinitely better for every one concerned—husband, wife, child—if the two parents do get together on the matter.

So often and so sadly I read, "My husband has no interest in the children—reading to them or playing with them. He expects instant obedience and is always ready to whip them if he fails to get it. It makes me so unhappy and shows on the children."

Of course it would. Not only in making them unhappy or fearful—but also in the ideas it gives them of family life—ideas instead of ideals.

On the other hand many letters speak of "our children," "our home," not my children, my home. And very frequently I have the happiness of reading, "My husband and I both read your articles and discuss them and save them for future reference. He is as interested as I am in the children's training."

Compared with the average family these quotations show the two extremes. But surely the many fathers who are harsh, uncompromising, and do nothing toward the training of their children could modify their attitude even if they can't feel this degree of intelligent fatherhood and affection.

After all, they have not the right to set themselves up as a tyrant whose word is law—but at the same time assume none of the sacred responsibilities that become automatically theirs when they become fathers. With the power of a father go also the duties of a father.

A father should command more than his children's obedience. He should command their love and real respect.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bright Sayings of the Children

Junior, playing he was a kangaroo, said to his sister, "I's tall and have big feet, a long neck and haven't much hair. What am I?"

The answer was, "Uncle Dick," an all too perfect description. G. H.

Our dog had pups. When my neighbor's little girl, aged 4, came over to see them she said to me, "Now, let's see, that makes you grandma, doesn't it?" MRS. H. K.

More Children Take Trip to Camp Algonquin

In the midst of much ado about benefits for THE TRIBUNE free ice fund, which has been usurping this column for the last ten days, came a reminder yesterday that Camp Algonquin is much in need of soup bowls.

BAYLEH CHANENSON.

GRACE CHANENSON.

The soup bowl — champion of the piping hot breakfast porridge, luscious vegetable soup at luncheon, and fruit at supper-time—is as essential to Camp Algonquin as the food itself. And because soup bowls must perform triple duty, they seem to break that much easier. Mrs. Astrid Save, camp superintendent, said yesterday that there are not enough soup bowls to go around among the 500 hungry mouths, in spite of the fact that a generous gifts of them were received last year.

Cool weather came just in time to make the trip to Camp Algonquin comfortable yesterday for another 90 mothers and children, who for the next two weeks are trading life in the tenement districts for the carefree days in the open along the Fox river. The party left over the Chicago and North Western railroad — which furnishes transportation free to the travelers—and arrived at camp just in time for supper. Before the train left district workers from the United Charities were on hand to see that mothers, children, and baggage were safely tucked aboard and nothing left behind.

Here is a reminder, too, to readers who want to help THE TRIBUNE Free Ice fund that two benefits are scheduled for this week.

The first benefit is "The Juvenile Follies of 1930," which will be presented on Thursday night at the Almira Simons hall, 1640 Hancock street. The audience will be let in on the secrets of a toy shop at midnight and all kinds of special variety numbers by juvenile radio stars, singers, and dancers. Among the performers will be Bayleh and Grace Chanenson.

The Warner Brothers' theaters received a wire yesterday from their New York headquarters offering congratulations upon the selection of THE TRIBUNE ice fund as recipient of the proceeds from the charity matinees to be staged in conjunction with Warner Brothers' theaters' silver anniversary on Friday afternoon.

"We agree with you that your choice was a wise one, considering the season. We trust you will do everything possible to make your contributions to this worthy and timely charity as substantial as possible," the wire stated.

The Warner benefits will be in the following theaters from 1 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. Friday: Capitol, Highland, Grove, West Englewood, and Stratford.

Food Talk.

Do you sometimes fail to get the normal size and texture in your baked products—biscuits, muffins, cake? If your technique in handling such batters and doughs is correct, perhaps the trouble is with your baking powder. A can whose lid does not fit snugly or whose lid is left off too long for the measurement of the baking powder is allowing the contents to lose strength all the time.

The other day I tried this experiment: A well known brand of baking powder, which I always use with success, was opened to make some biscuit for breakfast. The results were excellent. The can was left standing open all day [the day was hot and dry]. The next morning I made biscuit again, used exactly the same method and the same proportions of ingredients and my biscuits were a flat failure.

What happened? The atmosphere on the outside was hot and dry, but that in my kitchen was more moist because of the steam from cooking. This moisture evidently was sufficient to eliminate the carbon dioxide, which is the leaven. The powder which was left, therefore, was worthless so far as its leavening quality was concerned.

You may say, "Well, in what way does this experiment help me?" I never leave the lid off my can of baking powder for one day." Perhaps not, but maybe you do dent the lid when you first remove it, leaving a small opening where moisture and air can enter. You may also forget, now and then, and leave the lid off while you are mixing a cake. Such conditions are allowing the baking powder to be robbed of its potency. I am sure that dissipated powder accounts for a good many of the variations we obtain in baked products.

Now, the question is raised, how can I avoid such variations and how can I ever keep baking powder of the original strength? My answer is, "Purchase a small can unless you are doing quantity baking to justify the purchase of a large can. Cover the can as soon as you have demoved the necessary amount of powder. While small cans cost much more in proportion to large ones, it is more satisfactory to buy small ones. A fresh, live powder enables one always to obtain uniform products.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

"Can you help me get the clothing my children and I need? We lost our furniture and had to move in with my parents because we could no longer pay rent, and now my father isn't working and we are having a dreadful time trying to get along. My boys are 7, 5, and 3½ years old and the baby is just 7 months. I wear size 38 or 40. We would appreciate it if you could send us a washing machine, too. Mrs. C."

With no employment and so many children to care for, the outlook for this distracted mother certainly is a dark one. Can you help her by providing the children with the clothing they need so badly? Perhaps one of you will have a washing machine to dispose of, also.

Kotex is lighter and cooler. Five times lighter than cotton, for the same amount of absorption. Cooler, because it is made up of many filmy layers, laid lengthwise, which permit free circulation of air.

Made of unique substance

Kotex is not made of cotton, nor of any other usual material. It is made of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding... the same material used by 85% of our greatest hospitals to replace fine surgical cotton.

Isn't it wonderful that the absorbent chosen by famous hospitals is available to every woman in the United States? Kotex Company, Chicago, Ill.

KOTEX IS SOFT...

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

Fashion Note from Africa Part of Circus

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

There is a tribe of savages called the Ubangis. Their idea of beauty and fashion is to use wooden discs to expand upper and lower lips until that elegant bird, the spoonbill, well might envy them. These natives wear bright colored fabrics and live in Africa, but Ringling Bros. and Barnum-Bailey circus has included a group of these men and women in their show this year. We will see them when we have our circus party a week from tomorrow.

From India the show has brought trained elephants whose chief occupation is to amuse us. You'll enjoy their funny antics as they lumber about the ring and perform in an amazingly humorous way. There is one daring exhibition in which one of these huge beasts carries the trainer about in his mouth. The elephants, however, are not the only trick animals in this menagerie. Trained seals, dogs, giraffes, zebras, camels, and a number of others will be there for us to see and enjoy.

There's a wire walking comedian whom you will like immensely. He sways from side to side on this slim rope above the heads of the audience, and, although you are sure he's going to fall and you hold your breath and want to warn him to be careful, he never loses his balances. The hundred clowns are sure to be excruciatingly funny as they always are and you'll be thrilled at the Wild West show which is really a whole party in itself.

To be a spectator with ninety-nine other boys and girls at this marvelous party a week from tomorrow you'll have to write and post your letter today because in the morning I shall select those who are to accompany me. This letter writing is really quite a simple matter, once you get started. All you have to do is tell me what you like about a circus and why you'd like to see it with me and the other children who are to be my guests. If you are enthusiastic enough and can prove to me that you are, you'll be sure to win an invitation. To include you in the lucky group I must know your name, address and age, so do not omit them. Isn't that easy? Of course it is!

Red Lips Versus Red Cheeks Cause a Beauty Debate

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

A certain lady of the theater who has delivered herself of a couple of plays that under no circumstances could be construed as right and proper for a maiden aunt to sit through holds to the Victorian privilege of calling those things which take so much of our pin money to wrap in chiffon—limbs.

To add to the incongruity of "hooman nature" as it may be met on a rainy day or a dry Sunday, Mrs. X, as we must call her, infers not by arrogant speech, but by moral restraint that rouge on the cheeks makes a lady look fast ['twas the word she used], but tinting the lips a vivid carmine has no such desultory influence.

Some of our best known waywards adopt the slogan about putting all on the lips and letting the cheeks blanch with intentions that are not exactly what you might interpret as spiritual. And so it goes. What is one woman's restraint is another woman's red flag—and life goes on according to the individual tempo.

But, a devastating femme, recently met up with tells me how abandoning cheek rouge for an extra layer of lip coloring made a new woman out of her. Formerly, she used to lay a mild finger upon the upper and lower sections of her mouth and her cheeks wore an equally mild bloom. Along came a painter [not house, or sign] but one with considerable reputation as portrait maker of beautiful women. He told the girl she was all wrong in her color applications.

He said no woman with red hair should put color in her cheeks unless she wanted to put the stamp of commonness on her face. The lips could and should take all the day's paint supply. However, he ordered her, too, to flatten down her dress colors. No high lighted colors or material. What he suggested was a background of dress that would in no way distract from the pale cheek and the red, red lips.

It proved effective in her case—but for you and me it might be not what the beauty doctor would order at all. However, one can try out the full red lips and the damask cheek and if it is not bewitching, it is simple enough to pick up the rouge pad and rub the roses into the cheeks again.

For Profanity.

Several nights ago I was driving down one of our side streets, which as usual had a washboard pavement. The street lights, in further conformity with the municipal economy campaign, were at half mast. These two conditions, together with an annoying rattle somewhere between the tail light and the front bumper, left me in a not too amiable frame of mind. My anger had just reached the kindling point when a car parked at the curb pulled abruptly out and scraped my front fender. This was the spark needed to set my wrath aflame.

I jumped out of my car and commenced reciting the most expressive trooper monologue I knew. My flow of eloquence continued until I thrust my head through the open window of the offending car. Then it hastily ceased and I scuttled back to my car hoping that the addressee had not recognized me. He was the president of our church society for the eradication of profanity. R. J. McN.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 29.—The White Sox today unfolded another episode in their heroic struggle to climb to the top of the second division. They defeated the Browns, 6 to 2, thereby attaining their ninth triumph in the last twelve starts. This constitutes a dizzy pace even for champions.

Today's game, giving the Chicago lads a sweep of the two game series, found Tommy Thomas restored to the role of a winning pitcher. The Baltimore blond has turned out better games, but he was skillful enough to escape from most of the jams in which he was placed by 11 St. Louis hits.

The young men enrolled as members of the Sox inner defense also contributed elaborately to a timely attack against Rolland Stiles. Blondy Ryan, who would have been benched today if Kamm hadn't reported with some sort of lameness, slammed a triple and a single.

Jolley Helps with Homer.

Then there was Watwood with a single and double, and Spider Cissell with a productive two bagger. Outside of this trio nobody did much except the tall Jolley, who assisted with a single in the fifth and later treated the thousand assembled fans to a home run blow.

The Sox will resume their labors tomorrow in Chicago. They will be called upon for two games against the same team they whipped today. Faber and Caraway probably will handle the pitching against Stewart and Blaeholder.

The Brownies started the day's scoring with a run in the third inning. A single by Stiles and a triple to right by Goslin accounted for the tally. In the fourth Chicago harvested a run after two were out, on Ryan's three bagger to right center and Tate's single through short.

Watwood Starts Four Run Rally.

Watwood opened what developed into the four run splurge in the fifth. He singled to left and Mulleavy sacrificed. Stiles decided the cheapest way to be rid of Fothergill was to pass him. Jolley then looped a low fly to left for a single and Watwood scored. Barnes bounced into a force play on Jolley, but Cissell whacked a double to center, sending Fothergill home and Barnes to third. Ryan completed the rally by driving Barnes and Cissell across the plate on a single over third.

The next outbreak against Stiles was provided by the carefree Mr Jolley. He stepped up with one out in the seventh and plunked his homer into the pavilion in right center, thus giving the Sox a 6 to 1 advantage. The Browns came back with one run in their half of the seventh. A pass to Manion, followed by singles by Gullic and Metzler, were the ingredients.

Court Wrecks Foundation of Fugazy's Latest Air Castle

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 29.—It looks as if Humbert J. Fugazy, the noted air castle architect, never will take his place in the foyer of the Metropolitan coliseum on inaugural night, with the Kleig batteries glowing on the swollen bosom of his ceremonial boiled shirt, to welcome the best people of the town to an amphitheater greater than Madison Square Garden, greater than the Boston Garden and greater even than the late Paddy Harmon's Chicago Stadium.

HUMBERT FUGAZY.

It looks as if there will be no Metropolitan coliseum, for the Brooklyn Supreme court has issued an order with the reluctant consent of Mr. Fugazy, himself, forbidding further sales of stock in the Metropolitan Coliseum, Inc. Obviously, if a man cannot sell stock he cannot build a stadium. Moreover, the district prosecutors, federal and state, are poring over the records of the sales already made, principally among Italians, to the amount of $145,000, not enough to build an arena greater than Paddy Harmon's, but quite enough to cause a man a spell of trouble, especially if the subscribers happen to include numbers of the picturesque, illiterate poor.

Like Paddy, But Different.

Mr. Fugazy and the late Paddy Harman, who was killed in an automobile accident a few days ago and buried from his Chicago Stadium, were alike in certain respects. Both were of the poor, both of immigrant parents, both neighborhood philanthropists and both wanted, for their vanity, to build the biggest stadium in the world.

But there was this difference, that Paddy Harmon was a worker and Mr. Fugazy a trifler. Paddy talked a big stadium, but as he talked he hustled. He had something of Tex Rickard's resourcefulness and perseverance and a sincerity that Mr. Rickard never had. Fugazy talked a big stadium and talked and talked.

He talked his stadium one night in a back room in Brooklyn and as he talked he dabbed his finger in the beer puddles on the table where the seidels were foaming over and drew a magnificent picture of the Metropolitan stadium, in stale beer, on the table. He drew towers higher than the Chrysler spire and the house was planned on a scale so grand that with a sweep of his finger, he indicated where the best people, wooed away from Mr. Rickard's temple, would land on the roof in their planes and descend in elevators straight to their seats. But just then the bartender

BATHORSE ADDS ANOTHER PLUM TO BRADLEY BASKET

Whips Pittsburgher by 5 Lengths.

BY FRENCH LANE.

It's a Bradley year at Arlington Park all right and there is a possibility that Col. E. R. Bradley, master of Idle Hour farm in Kentucky, will wind up as the leading money winning owner of the richest racing meeting ever conducted in this or any other country.

Blue Larkspur won the Stars and Stripes handicap and the Arlington Cup and his earnings at the meeting approximate $50,000. Only Gallant Fox tops Blue Larkspur as a result of the former's victory in the rich Classic.

Bathorse Does His Stuff.

But the Post and Paddock stakes for 2 year olds comes up for a decision at Arlington on Saturday. Bradley was pretty well fortified for this $30,000 encounter with B'ar Hunter and Boys Howdy. But he uncovered another youngster in the Champaign purse yesterday in Bathorse which caused the Bradley stock for the Post and Paddock to boom more than ever.

Bathorse, a son of Durbar II.-Believe Me Boys, a Bradley home bred, met such smart Post and Paddock candidates as Pittsburgher, La Salle and Booster Twist, and he made a show of them. Before the race many westerners believed Pittsburgher was the best 2 year old in this section.

A victory for either of the trio of Bradley stars in the Post and Paddock will give Bradley the high money winning honors of the Arlington season, it will make Dick Thompson the leading trainer and Jockey Jimmy Smith the high money winning rider. Smith has guided all the Bradley color bearers to their string of victories.

Leads All the Way.

Bathorse was in front from start to finish in the Champaign and didn't begin to run until he had headed into the stretch. Then he opened up a lead of five lengths over Pittsburgher and held it until the end. Booster Twist, a long shot, was up in time to be third. La Salle was the real disappointment when he ran far back all the way.

Pittsburgher had but one excuse. He was slow to get into stride, but he has displayed the same weakness in most of his races here, and for him to keep pace with the fleet band that will meet in the Post and Paddock appears to be hopeless. Bathorse, like all Bradley horses, was stoutly backed and paid 2 to 1 in the betting. He ran his five and a half furlongs in 1:06 4-5, which was good time, as the Arlington running strip was just getting into good condition when the field went to the post.

While the Bradley followers did considerable cheering after Bathorse's victory they came to grief later in the afternoon with the running of the Minnesota purse, in which Buddy Baur, wearing the Bradley green and white jacket, was made the favorite, but finished third.

Hot Toddy Wins.

The race was over the mile Hertz course, and Hot Toddy, which holds the world's record for a mile and a furlong, ran it in 1:37 1-5. In the betting he paid $7.34. After Hot Toddy had conquered him, Buddy Bauer had but little left, despite the rousing ride he was getting from Jockey Smith.

Primo Carnera Knocks Out George Cook in 2d Round

Cleveland, O., July 29.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, the Italian heavyweight boxer, tonight added a second round knockout over George Cook, who claims the Australian heavyweight championship, to his string of victories, before a crowd estimated at 10,000 at Taylor Bowl here. The bout was scheduled to go ten rounds.

Metzler's .182 Becomes .484 with Browns

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 29.—Changing the color of his hosiery from white to brown appears to have revitalized Alex Metzler. It may be only a temporary revival of skill, but one way or the other he is at least basking in popularity that he seldom knew while engaged in employment with the Chicago club.

Part of the answer for the comeback is that Mr. Metzler now is satisfied. Like all athletes he craved steady work and the White Sox couldn't give it to him. Being a bench orphan irked him. There also was a little bitterness in his system over a salary difference which occurred last spring. With these two things in mind it was no trick for him to smoke up quite a grievance against the club.

Makes Good Early.

Since coming to the Browns a week ago for the waiver price of $7,500, Metzler has acted quite the reverse of what would be expected of a man whose season's batting mark up to the time of his arrival was a mere .182. In his first game as a Brownie he was dropped in toward the close of the contest and marked the debut with two singles in one inning. The next day he was promoted to a regular job and he contributed a single in four attempts. The day following he assisted with a double in three appearances.

He continued to make a local name for himself with a hit that drove in two runs on Saturday, which was his fourth game in his new flannels.

Then he climbed right up to the pinnacle last Sunday. In the first game of a double header he tore off three hits in five times at bat. In the second game it was three hits in four tries. One of these was a homer that won the decision for Bill Killifer's crew. Against the White Sox yesterday and today he kept up the merry pace with four hits out of eight efforts.

He's Batting .484.

That in the aggregate constitutes 15 safeties in 31 times at bat for an average of .484. That's enough to make one wonder why the Sox didn't keep a man like that. They would have if Metzler had displayed that same industry when he had his chance.

It was on the advice of Lena Blackburne, last year's manager of the Sox, and now coach under Manager Killefer, that the Browns claimed Metzler, and to show he had some faith in his assistant's judgment, Killefer promptly put Metzler in center field in place of Fred Schulte, who a few years ago cost Phil Ball about $75,000 and was touted as a second Ty Cobb.

They Used to Boo Jimmy Smith; Now They Cheer Him

Racegoers at Arlington are beginning to have lots of respect for Jockey Jimmy Smith, who rides for Col. E. R. Bradley.

Smith is no juvenile in the saddle game and has become a star only after years of hard and discouraging work. His case is similar to that of Johnny Maiben, who drifted around from one track to another for years until he reached New York. In New York Maiben outrode nearly every boy on the metropolitan circuit and came to be ranked with Sande and Fator.

Smith also journeyed around the country quite a bit himself, but until he landed his contract with Bradley, he didn't accomplish much. As late as two seasons ago Smith's presence in the saddle was a signal that the horse he was piloting could not win. Race crowds have stood and booed him.

Yet he kept at it, and when the offer came from the Bradley stable he made good.

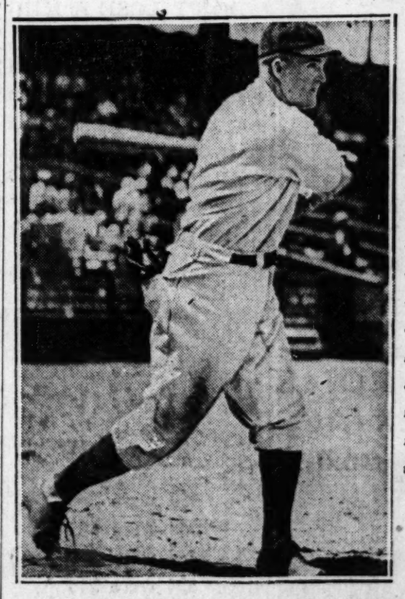
The more famous the Bradley horse the better Smith has ridden him. The great gathering of turf followers from the east and west at Arlington agree that his work this season is as brilliant as that of any other boy on the American turf. He handles 2 year olds as competently as he does older horses. He's beating the other boys away from the barrier. He takes his chances bravely in the closely grouped fields and keeps his mount out of trouble. He rides a finish that would make old Snapper Garrison jealous.

Smith is in his early thirties but looks fifteen years older. He has powerful hands, a good seat and a crouch which is so like the famous Tod Sloan crouch that when he goes down the backstretch on one of the Bradley horses, old timers say they think it is Sloan riding again.

He has been riding for nearly a dozen years but never before has he ridden as he has for Bradley this season.

HOME FOR THAT STRETCH DRIVE

Lester Bell, Cubs' third baseman, is thrown out at second in the ninth inning of yesterday's game with the Reds at Wrigley field. Bell had singled with one out, but Woody English forced him at second, Ford to Durocher. [TRIBUNE Photos.]



Rogers Hornsby bats out a few flies. The Rajah has been absent from the Cub lineup since Memorial day, but states he's in good condition and feels like a man just reporting for spring training.

35,000 Women Seek 17,500 Free Tickets for Cubs' Game

The Cubs' management still is without a solution of the problem of admitting all women fans free on ladies' day without turning away the male cash customers. As many women will be turned away on Friday as will be admitted free, as a result of the failure of the latest system to cut down the number of requests for free tickets.

Originally, women were admitted to Wrigley field without tickets on ladies' day, but the crowds became so great that the Cub management was faced with the prospect of having the stands filled with women, while men fans, anxious to pay for admissions, were turned away from the gate. To obviate this situation, the club tried a system whereby the women called at the park on Wednesday for free tickets for Friday's game. It had no effect on the size of the free crowds and it was abandoned.

Then, last week, the club advertised that 17,500 tickets would be issued by mail for next Friday's game, in the order in which requests were received. Yesterday 35,000 requests had been received and each mail was bringing in more.

Hornsby Feels Cheery; That's a Good Sign

Just when Rogers Hornsby will play ball again remains something of a problem in the public mind. But the fans who think the great slugger never again will play regularly have nothing in common with the player himself.

Observers who traveled with Hartnett last year noted his panicky manner, which many times bordered on melancholia. And while Tommy Thomas of the Sox was an invalid this spring, he was a preoccupied, glum person at all times. Ball players who think they are through before the date they had set for themselves all are that way.

"The bones are all right," Rogers said after his workout at Wrigley field yesterday. "I'm in the hands of a masseur and when he loosens up the muscles and ligaments, I should be able to play.

"I can't set any date, but I feel like a fellow reporting for spring training—just enough overweight to get in shape gradually and eager for the "season to start."

Hornsby has started batting practice, but will not attempt fielding workouts for several days. It is probable he will appear in several games as a pinch batter before he even slips on his glove.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Old Man Eppa Rixey and Old Man Harry Heilmann became boys again yesterday under the tonic influence of that breeze from Lake Michigan and what the twain did to our Cubs was just too bad. The score was 4 to 3 in favor of the Cincinnati Reds but the game wasn't really that close, seeing as Marster Rixey had his famed control whenever real need arose.

Rixey allowed three widely scattered singles until his club, led by Heilmann, had given him a four run lead. He suffered no embarrassment whatsoever until the sixth, when Cuyler led off with a flukey single and came home ahead of Hack Wilson when the latter smacked out his 33d homer of the year. And the old fellow was masterful in handling a rally in the eighth through which the Cubs made one run, when they needed two to tie.

What Mr. Heilmann Did.

As for Mr. Heilmann's part: Harry cracked a double with two on and two out in the first inning to give the Reds a two run edge at the outset and in the fourth he furnished a run single handed by driving a homer over the wall in left center. The winning run was produced in the fifth when Swanson singled after a double play and came home on Stripp's triple over third.

In stumbling yesterday the Cubs lost a chance to advance to a half game behind the leading Robins, who lost an extra inning combat to the Boston Braves, after being in front 3 to 0 up to the latter stages of the clash.

Today and tomorrow the Cubs will rest and there is fear that when they resume on Friday they will be three games out of first place, for the Robins will be operating in Philadelphia the two days with a double header today and they should not find it difficult to fatten up. However, the Phils haven't won a game in days and days and the law of averages might give them one of the contests at least.

Reds Take 6 Out of 8.

Now, to return to these seventh place Cincinnati fellows: The game yesterday was the sixth they have won from the Cubs in eight played during the month of July. And just recall these scores: Cincinnati won 5 to 4, with three runs in the ninth; 8 to 7, with one run in the eighth; 4 to 2, after the Cubs had enjoyed a 2 to 0 lead in the seventh; 4 to 3, in the tenth, and 6 to 5. Four games by a margin of one run and the others by a margin of two runs. In Monday's games the Cubs won 3 to 2 and 5 to 3 and then came back again yesterday to take it on the chin by another one run margin. Whew!

Yesterday the game started mildly when Blair threw out Walker. Then Swanson singled and stole second. Stripp walked, but Blake seemed on the way out of the woods when Cuccinello forced Swanson at third for the second out. Then Heilmann cracked that double, scoring Stripp and Cuccinello.

No Help for Blake.

It was apparent from this point that Blake was destined to be marked up for his eleventh defeat for his mates wilted perceptibly and were pushovers for Rixey except in the instance of the Wilson homer.

The manufacture of the third Cub run afforded some excitement to the 10,000 customers, however. Wilson walked to start the eighth and stopped at second on Dan Taylor's single. Grimm, who has made one single in the eight July games with the Reds, took no chances on a double play, and bunted. Wilson then scored on Hartnett's sacrifice fly. Stephenson batted for Beck and flied to Walker.

Lester Bell returned to the Cubs' lineup in the second inning. McCarthy shifted English to shortstop and sent Beck to second base after Blair had been ruled out of the game in the first inning. Blair made the mistake of touching Umpire Quigley in protesting a decision at first base.

NEGOPOLI WINS CLOSING RACE AT EMPIRE CITY

Frumper, Heavy Favorite, Finishes Last.

New York, July 29.—[Special.]—To the tune of "Old Lang Syne," heard by a small crowd, spring and summer racing in the metropolitan district came to a close today at the Empire City track. The few who visited the Yonkers course witnessed a series of startling upsets, none more amazing than in the feature event, the Melrose claiming stakes.

Only four went to the post for the mile and a sixteenth feature, but H. P. Whitney's Frumper, the confidently played favorite, finished last. Mrs. J. A. Coburn's Negopoli, ridden by Apprentice Chirch, was the winner, three lengths ahead of G. C. Winfrey's Tony Joe. The California stable's Sign Off was third.

Negopoli earned $2,820 for his owner and rewarded his backers at the rate of 7 to 2. Frumper opened at 9 to 5, but persistent backing sent the price to even money at post time.

Fugazy's Air Castle Falls in Ruins Again

came in, grabbed up the seidels with one hand and with one wide obliterating swipe of a moldy bar towel in the other, wiped out Mr. Fugazy's coliseum.

Only a Minor Catastrophe.

"Never mind," Mr. Fugazy said, leaning back with a laugh. "I will draw a bigger one tomorrow night. All my life bartenders have been wiping out coliseums on me."

I thought of many great American dramas and novels which had been wiped out in the same way and began to feel a kindly understanding of Mr. Fugazy. At the same time I became reasonably certain that I never would cover a prizefight at the Metropolitan coliseum.

It is years too late to build the Metropolitan coliseum now, anyway. The professional sport industry reached its full development in Rickard's time and even Paddy Harmon, though he carried his plan through and lived to open the greatest indoor amphitheater in the world in a town where he had been a newsboy, also saw his ambition fail.

Mr. Fugazy has had a fine time. Some of the sport pages are rather loosely edited and every so often there would drop down on the sport editors' desks in Fugazy's mailing tubes a splendid new architect's drawing of Fugazy's proposed coliseum, for which the ground was forever being broken the day after tomorrow.

Some of these showed up in print and at such times Abe [Singletooth] Yeager, who was Fugazy's press agent, used to expose his lone incisor in a sly and knowing grin. I asked him once if the latest version of Fugazy's stadium was not in fact the original drawing for the Arkansas state capitol and Singletooth didn't say no.

Fate Wields Bar Towel.

Once Mr. Fugazy was actually on the point of laying plans to take definite steps looking toward the formulation of a program with the eventual purpose of turning a spade in the earth to singalize the beginning of his building. He even asked for bids on a spade. That was when he attached himself to the late Francisco Ferrarri, the president of the City Trust company. But Ferrari died and his bank failed for $5,000,000 and fate reached down with a bar towel.

Again he established relations with a remarkable youth calling himself Edwin Cole. Jack Dempsey got $40,000 from Cole and if Fugazy didn't get his he has only himself to blame. It was there for anyone to take, for Mr. Cole gave away money to show how rich he was. But in time he ran out of money and of late the law sent Cole away, so again the bar towel swabbed the table clean.

It is just as well, though, these catch-as-catch-can financiers can't protect themselves in the clinches with the finance houses. Tom Duggan once owned the exclusive franchise rights for major league professional ice hockey in New York and Brooklyn, but the Garden corporation owned them when he died a few days ago.

DIEGEL, ARMOUR PLAY TODAY FOR CANADIAN TITLE

ANCASTER, Ont., July 29.—(AP)—Tommy Armour of Detroit and Leo Diegel, pro at the Agua Caliente club, will meet in 36 holes of medal play over the Mailton Country club course tomorrow to decide which shall wear the Canadian open crown for the next year.

Armour and Diegel tied for the lead at 277 at the end of the 72 hole competition last Saturday, and the playoff was set for Wednesday.

Diegel ruled the favorite to win the title for the second straight year and the fifth time since 1924. He played consistent golf through all four rounds of the championship proper last week, while Armour needed an amazing 64 on his fourth round, two strokes under existing course record and six under par, to tie the Agua Caliente pro for the lead.

RELAYS FEATURE ANGLO-AMERICAN TRACK GAMES

Team strength rather than individual prowess will be the deciding factor in the British empire-United States track and field meet to be held at Soldiers' field the night of Wednesday, Aug. 27.

Instead of using the orthodox American track program, the officials have adopted the English system, which consists of relays rather than individual races. Hence, instead of a mile race, there will be a four mile relay in which four men from each team will compete, and instead of a half mile run, there will be a two mile relay with four men running 880 yards.

This procedure will be followed throughout the meet. Under such a system there will be seven relay events, each relay to count one point for the winning team.

GEHRIG LEADS BIG SIX WITH DOUBLE, TRIPLE, 2 HOMERS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Lou Gehrig almost dazzled the Big six with his slugging yesterday, but the other five, with the exception of Al Simmons, were too busy getting hits of their own to pay much attention to his hitting feats. Gehrig slammed his way into first place among the American league's batters by hitting two home runs, his 30th and 31st, a triple, and a double, in five times at bat. He lifted his average six points to .390.

Simmons went hitless four times and dropped five points to .386. Chuck Klein was outhit by his rival, Frank O'Doul, getting two hits in four times at bat, while O'Doul hit three out of four, but Klein held first place, gaining one point to O'Doul's three. Bill Terry made one blow in four tries and dropped a point to .398, while Babe Ruth hit twice in four attempts and gained two points. The standing:

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Mrs. Melvin Jones began defense of her Chicago district title in brilliant fashion by setting a women's course record of 76 in defeating Florence Beebe, 8 and 7, yesterday at the Illinois Golf club.

Mrs. Jones' mark is two strokes under that established Monday by Mrs. John Arends and six strokes under the previous record held, by Mrs. Leona Pressler, former western champion. Women's par for the course is 80.

Mrs. Lee Mida, who won the women's Western Open recently, was forced to the 19th green before she was able to defeat June Beebe, 1 up.

Mrs. Jones had five birdies and one eagle on her card. She one putted for birdies on the first two greens and shot the third and fourth in par. She was one over when her tee shot was short of the fifth green but got back to perfect golf on the sixth. She birdied the seventh by getting on in 2 and shot the eighth in par. She three putted the ninth but won the hole to reach the turn 7 up.

Wins on Eleventh Hole.

She won the tenth with a par five and the match ended when the eleventh was halved in birdie 3s. Then Mrs. Jones continued to play and clinched her course record by sinking a six foot putt for an eagle 3 on the 17th. Her card together with par follows:

Par—Out	5	5	6	4	5	3	4	4	4	40

Here's a Good Fish Story for All U. S. Anglers

BY BOB BECKER.

The welcome news that Uncle Sam is going to spend his money in large chunks to produce more game fish with which to stock the lakes and streams in the Mississippi valley is receiving three cheers from the fishermen who have seen the finny tribes decrease in recent years.

Uncle Sam has been told to go ahead by congress and build a number of fish cultural stations. Illinois is scheduled to get a $75,000 plant of this character in the year 1933. Wisconsin also is going to be presented with such a station to produce fish for her lakes and streams. The United States bureau of fisheries is the deparment which will build and maintain all of the new hatcheries which the states will get, and congress has appropriated $3,000,000 to build them.

Inasmuch as nearly all of the states are way behind the parade when it comes to raising game fish for restocking purposes Uncle Sam's move to help the fish business should mean much to the rod and line enthusiasts. There are approximately 10,000,000 fishermen in the United States, not counting the thousands of youngsters who go after the bluegills, trouts, crappies and other finny tribes with rough tackle equipment.

With the increased use of automobiles making it possible for this Walton army to fish oftener and take fish from more lakes and streams than they were able to visit ten years ago, there has been a constant depletion of our fish resources. Due to lack of money to spend on hatcheries the states have not been able to keep up with the demand for more and more fry and fingerlings. This is especially true of black bass. The game fishing has been going down hill year after year in most of our lakes, ponds and streams.

In view of present conditions Uncle Sam's help will be welcomed in every section. If it can be supplemented by scores of new hatcheries or bass rearing ponds in the central states there is some chance to get better fishing in the next few years.

Yanks Defeat A's, 12-3; Lou Hits 2 Homers

In the WAKE of the NEWS

CUB PITCHERS.

DEAR HARVE: While the Cubs have been carrying on their fight for the pennant—a battle disappointing to some who expected them to go right to the front from the start, and the Brooklyn Robins to crack and fold up—it has been customary to blame our reverses on our hurling staff, even at times to be mildly sarcastic toward certain pitchers.

Now I, for one, think the Cubs will win that pennant because they are the best team in the National league, whether or not that is saying a great deal if you try to compare them to great teams of the past. But what I protest is this slighting of the hurling staff.

Look at the unofficial averages published in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. The Cubs rank fifth in composite team hitting. They are excelled by Philadelphia, New York, Brooklyn, and St. Louis. The Cubs rank fifth in composite team fielding. They are excelled by Cincinnati, New York, Boston, and Brooklyn. In other words, the Cubs are a second division outfit in team batting and fielding, and yet they are only two games out of first place behind Brooklyn.

Doesn't that look as if the maligned pitchers were "carrying" the rest of the team? Let's give them credit. M.

You and I.

Big brown eyes and knees quite bare.
You roll your hose and powder your nose,
You might even smoke, no one knows.
You go out with boys now and then
And come home late—goodness knows when.
Go to dances, yes, quite a few
And dance like most all flappers do.

Our mothers think we're rowdy and wild,
But beside some kids we're timid and mild.
I wonder when we're old and gray
And grandchildren look back to this day,
They'll laugh at our flapper pictures, I fear,
And say, "My, how old fashioned, Grandma, dear."
If we tell them about when we were a kid,
About places we went and things we did,
They'll kiss us and sigh and smile and then Say, "Grandma, I'm glad I didn't live

You were a girl. . . ." A. F. D.

Mystery!

We received by express, prepaid, at our residence a fair sized package. We were expecting no package. We looked at the shipping tag. The shipper was unknown to us. It came from a town on the New Jersey coast. We recalled that strange cargoes sometimes were unloaded on the Jersey coast. We smiled hopefully, meantime wondering whether we had an unknown admirer. We shook the package. It did not gurgle. Moreover, it was light in weight.

We lighted our corncob pipe, and with trembling fingers and ill concealed curiosity took the hatchet and pried off the cover and found—a bunch of shavings, several wads of packing paper, a piece of burlap such as one sees on mysterious packages in Florida, and NOTHING ELSE. In the center was a vacant space which might might be used for a receptable. None was there. Possibly it had been removed en route.

Now what we cannot understand is why any one, unknown to us, should send us an empty package, charges prepaid, from the coast of New Jersey.

Do You Remember 'Way Back When:

In the good old days at the Lyceum, Harry Kernell sang:

And to me it was a timely warnin'.
On Saturday night I had a fight,
And I got home rather tight,
But divil a cent I had on Sunday mornin'."

SCOTT HAS NO EXCUSE FOR HIS DEFEAT, BUT—

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 29.—Phil Scott, the man without a public, has no excuses to offer for his defeat in 5 minutes and 35 seconds by Young Stribling last night, but the former fireman feels the world is entitled to know he is still suffering from the effects of that alleged foul blow Jack Sharkey handed him at Miami last winter. And besides that he lost his breath.

"I am not making any excuses," he said. "I give Stribling full credit for his cleverness. I trained conscientiously and was fit for the fight.

"While I have been under medical treatment for three months for the injury to my side which was caused by Sharkey when he fouled me at Miami, I have never been entirely cured. I found that out when Stribling first landed one on my side.

"I am sorry to disappoint the British public, but the only explanation I have to offer is that I could not get my breath after the first body punch I received, even during the interval between the first and second rounds. Stribling is a hard puncher."

Illinois Board Approves Carnera-Chevalier Fight

The Illinois state athletic commission yesterday approved Promoter Mique Malloy's proposed "Battle of Vindication" between Primo Carnera and Leon Chevalier, California heavyweight, at Comiskey park on Aug. 14. The suspension of Carnera, which followed his first bout with Chevalier, was lifted several days ago by the National Boxing association, with which the Illinois board is affiliated. The Italian's manager, Leon See, is still under suspension and will not be permitted to represent Carnera in the negotiations for the Chevalier bout.

$5,230,000 FUND VOTED BY ITALY FOR QUAKE AREA

Ministers Order Building Begun Immediately.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 29.—The council of ministers today voted a fund of $5,230,000 for the reconstruction of the provinces in southern Italy damagede by last week's earthquake. This fund will be added to the annual budget of the ministry of public works. The council directed Minister of Public Works Crollalanza to return immediately to the devastated regions to get the reconstruction work under way.

Thanks was expressed by the council to foreign nations who sent messages of sympathy.

The ministers also confirmed the abrogation of all tax payments by the inhabitants of the destroyed districts.

District Returns to Normal.

The work of reconstruction, it was decided, will be directed by three inspectors in the each of the damaged provinces of Campania, Puglie and Benevento. The new houses will be built to resist earthquakes in future.

Reports were received today from Undersecretary Leoni announcing that normal activities were being resumed throughout the district with the initiation of new house construction and the withdrawal of troops. Daily ration trains from Naples have been reduced. Many shops have been reopened near the damaged towns and food now will be obtainable through ordinary local sources.

The death list remained today at 2,142. Sanitary conditions throughout the region are reported normal.

Turkish Tornado Toll 22.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 29.—(AP)—Refugees today began to arrive here from Adrianople with tidings of the storm of Sunday, in which, according to latest reports, 22 persons lost their lives and damage was caused to the extent of about $4,000,000. According to eyewitnesses the tornado was the worst in the Balkans in the last 100 years.

The famous mosque of Sultan Selim II., an impressive 16th century edifice, suffered damage of at least $50,000. The mosque was the most notable building in Adrianople.

The Jewish quarter escaped with little damage. Thousands of storks, eagles, and smaller birds, according to refugees, were killed by hail. The birds fell in the streets amid the debris.

JARECKI DIRECTS CASE TO SPEED UP MAGUIRE HEARING

Orders Prosecutor to End Evidence Friday.

County Judge Jarecki yesterday ordered Assistant State's Attorney Charles Center Case, who is prosecuting the petition to oust Fred V. Maguire as chairman of the board of election commissioners, to complete his case by Friday of this week. The judge declared he will give the defense a week's time to present its case and upon that he would rule.

The day's hearing was marked by fequent verbal clashes between Case, the judge and attorneys for the defense. The hearing is now entering its third week. The petition, filed by Case, charges Maguire with employing persons with police records as election officials.

Examination of 826 police record cards bearing the same names as those of election officials was completed yesterday. The cards contained alleged charges against 349 of the 456 persons named in the petition, leaving 137 names with no police records. Of the 349 cards, 288 were ruled out and 61 are being held for further investigation.

At the start of the hearing Case demanded that Francis X. Busch, now attorney for the election board, be denied permission to sit on the bench beside Judge Jarecki. Case argued the hearing was a judicial proceeding and not a court inquiry. The judge ruled otherwise.

Case was again censured by Judge Jarecki for calling to the stand a number of witnesses after police cards containing charges against them had been ruled out of the records.

Judge Rebukes Prosecutor.

"I am not going to persecute these persons," the judge said. "After they have been found not guilty in the eyes of the public they should be treated the same as any one else."

"But I have a duty to perform," Case asserted.

"Yes, but not at the sacrifice of names and reputations," replied Judge Jarecki. "Your duty is to prosecute the charges against Maguire. Produce the proof of your charges and Maguire and all others implicated with him will go."

One of the witnesses called by Case was Ben Anderson, 1231 Adams street, a veteran of two wars. Anderson said he was mystified as to why he had been summoned. There were no police charges against him. He had qualified as a judge and had been removed following the filing of charges against him by Case, then attorney for the election board. Judge Jarecki said that he would see to it that Anderson was immediately reinstated as an election official.

Colored Veteran Testifies.

Another witness was George Taylor, colored, 3003 South Wabash avenue. He had enlisted in the army immediately after war was declared, and was wounded in action. He had been arrested and dismissed once on a disorderly conduct charge while he was a life guard at a Lincoln park beach. Another time he had been fined $1 for parking a truck without lights.

Judge Jarecki declared it would take several years to complete the hearing if he had to sit as a reviewing magistrate. He offered to conduct night sessions to give Case more time to present his evidence. Case replied that his health would not permit working at night

BODY OF AIRMAN, WHO CRASHED IN JUNGLE, FOUND

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 29.—The body of Eric Hook, British airman, who crashed in the Burmese jungle on a flight from England to Australia, has been discovered by an expedition of twelve Englishmen which, under the direction of the London Daily Mail, set out from Rangoon. Hook and J. Matthews, his companion, crashed July 3 between Akyab and Rangoon and, after struggling seven days through the jungle, Hook collapsed. INDIA'S REVOLT CHIEFS BALK AT BRITISH TRUCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, July 29.—The outlook of peace in India through the negotiations being carried on with Mahatma Gandhi seemed gloomier today owing to the opposition of the working committee of the all-India national congress.

While Sir Tej Bahandur Sapru and Mr. Jayaker will visit Gandhi in the Yervada prison at Poona again tomorrow to present the replies given by the Pandits Motilal Nehru and Jawaharl Nehru, imprisoned at Allahabad, extreme doubt exists whether Gandhi, even in the event that the peace plan has been indorsed by the other imprisoned rebel leaders, will be willing to call off the civil disobedience campaign.

The working committee of the India congress having been declared illegal in the central provinces, it has moved its headquarters from Allahabad to Bombay where a meeting will be held Wednesday. The sentiment of this committee is seemingly strongly against a truce of any sort.

MORE BARS NOW THAN BEFORE DRY LAW, JURY TOLD

New York, July 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Christian R. Holmes, Long Island society woman, who received a subpoena several days ago after she had said in an address to club women that Nassau county has five times more speakeasies than it had saloons before prohibition, was questioned before the Nassau county grand jury in Mineola today.

Mrs. Holmes, chairman of the state meetings committee of the women's organization for prohibition reform, spent forty minutes before the jury.

Elvin N. Edwards, district attorney of Nassau county, after interrogating Mrs. Holmes, implied that her testimony, while not startling nor overly important, would result in an investigation by his office.

Mr. Edwards said several of the places named by Mrs. Holmes were on his suspended list as public nuisances and that one place mentioned by her he had closed a month ago.

U.S. STEEL CORP. EARNS DIVIDEND BY BIG MARGIN

Full Year's Needs Are Nearly Met.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Business can't be so bad when the largest industrial corporations in the country can earn their dividends comfortably. That is just what the United States Steel corporation has done so far this year, according to its semi-annual report issued yesterday. And last week the General Motors corporation also showed its dividend earned and to spare.

MYRON C. TAYLOR. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

In fact, U. S. Steel came within striking distance of earning its full year's common stock dividend in the first half of this year, and so did relatively better than its chief rival. Furthermore, its officials expressed belief that the turning point in the steel industry has been reached and that the balance of the year will witness an upturn.

Net Is $67,904,524.

Net income of U. S. Steel for the first half of this year was $67,904,524, equivalent to $6.46 a share on the common stock, which pays $7 a year. This compares with $96,011,290 or $11.72 a share in the first half of last year, which marked the high tide of earnings since the war, but exceeded earnings in the first half of 1928, which were $47,200,629 or $4.86 a share.

Net income for the second quarter of this year was $32,126,717 or $3.02 a share, compared with $35,777,807 or $3.44 a share in the first quarter and $32,825,843 or $6.68 a share in the second quarter of 1929.

"At this date the manufacturing plants are operating at about 63 per cent of capacity," a statement issued by Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee, said. "Indications in the industry point to an increase in this rate of operations during the balance of this quarter, with an improvement in volume during the last quarter of the year."

Adds to Surplus.

After paying second quarter dividends United States Steel was able to add $10,840,265 to its surplus and in the first quarter it added $14,491,355. There had been some talk that an extra dividend might be declared, but the directors yesterday voted only the regular quarterly payments.

The steel industry, taking the country as a whole, has maintained the same level of production this week as in the previous week. Operations have been around 57½ per cent of capacity, compared with 57 per cent a fortnight ago, and 96 per cent a year ago. Independent concerns are now around 52 per cent. A year ago U. S. Steel was at capacity and independents were around 92 per cent.

Inland Steel Income.

The Inland Steel company also issued its report yesterday. Net income for the first half of this year was $5,341,617, equivalent to $4.45 a share, compared with $6,134,151, or $5.11 a share, for the first half of 1929. Net income for the second quarter this year was $2,620,299, or $2.18 a share, compared with $2,721,318, or $2.27 a share, in the first quarter, and $3,126,909, or $2.61 a share, in the second quarter of 1929.

Agreements to curtail petroleum production in various parts of the country again brought results last week. At the same time another reduction was made in storage stocks of gasoline. The daily average gross crude oil output was 2,488,700 barrels, a decline of 11,400 barrels a day from the preceding week, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum institute. Oklahoma once more was the chief factor in the curtailment, with a reduction of 19,450 barrels a day in its output. Panhandle Texas and California also effected sizeable declines, but increases occurred in several other Texas fields, north Louisiana, and Wyoming.

Refiners expanded operations somewhat last week, taking 2,518,600 barrels of crude oil a day and operating at 71.4 per cent of capacity, compared with 2,466,000 barrels a day and 69.3 per cent of capacity in the previous week.

Sees Waterway Benefits Hit by Discrimination

BY SCRUTATOR.

Unless the interstate commerce commission overrules a recommendation of its examiners, which holds that it is a worthy idea for rail carriers in the Chicago area to charge more for freight that comes to them from the water than for that which is transferred to them by land, many of the benefits of the gulf waterway will be lost.

This recommendation is contained in the report made by examiners on the rates in the Chicago switching district, which is to be considered and passed on by the commission in the near future.

An exception to the discrimination against freight that comes by water has been taken by the Chicago Association of Commerce on behalf of shippers and a brief containing the organization's views has been prepared by Attorney Luther M. Walter.

Extent of District.

The Chicago switching district, roughly, compares with the metropolitan area, although it does not extend quite far enough north or south to be all inclusive. Within this district there has been for two decades a special transportation rate of from $15 to $18 a carload. Some millions of revenue are derived by the carriers from transportation originating and ending in the district.

As a matter of policy, perhaps, the rail carriers inserted in the rate agreement on this important traffic that the usual charges would not apply to tonnage that was trans-shipped to their cars from lake vessels, when such traffic was in transit. The latter clause was eliminated in 1923 and at present no freight brought into Chicago or taken out by boat qualifies for the low switching rates.

Mr. Walter's brief shows that it costs now from $9 to $18 a car more to transport freight that arrived by water than that which came by rail or motor truck to the city, and that if the examiners' proposed increase in all switching rates goes into effect there will still be from 43 per cent to 100 per cent discrimination against the carloads of freight that are turned over to the railroads from docks or barge terminals.

Decision of Examiners.

At one time as many as twenty-two railroads had agreed to apply the industrial switching rates to the so-called ex-lake freight, but later fourteen of the important ones asked that the differences be maintained.

The examiners decided that there should continue to be differentiation in rates to the prejudice of boat and ship traffic because it had not been shown that traffic from rails and traffic from water had the same transportation characteristics. This in spite of the fact that James P. Haynes, executive vice president of the Association of Commerce, had testified there was no difference from the railroad standpoint between the two kinds of freight.

Ex-lake traffic has not amounted to a whole lot in many years. Once the railroads owned the boat lines. The Panama Canal act required them to dispose of their boat holdings and they were sold to one "Fingy" Connors, a picturesque resident of Buffalo.

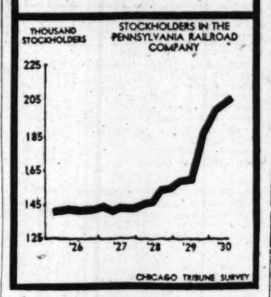
Claim of Traffic Men.

Traffic men claim that in spite of the change of ownership, little effort has been made to get rates low enough to encourage joint shipment, rail and lake, on merchandise from Chicago to the east.

The maintenance of higher rates on the switching traffic from docks and barge terminals certainly is not going to help make water transportation popular. Section 500 of the transportation act declares it is the policy of congress to encourage and develop water transportation and to preserve in full vigor both rail and water facilities.

This, added to the fact that some of the railroads in the switching district are still willing to make the same rates apply for water and land freight, make it the duty of the commission to wipe out the discrimination, it is argued by the Association of Commerce.

PENNSYLVANIA STOCKHOLDERS HAVE INCREASED SHARPLY IN THE LAST YEAR



SEEK APPROVAL OF KOLSTER RADIO PLAN FOR REORGANIZATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 29.—The New Jersey Chancery court has been asked to approve a plan of reorganization for the Kolster Radio corporation and to order acceptance of an offer made to the three receivers by S. P. Woodard & Co., Inc., who will underwrite the plan, it was reported today.

The offer is contingent on the willingness of Rudolph Spreckels, Frederick Diedrich and the National City bank of New York, the three creditors, to agree to a settlement of their claims. The claims are $602,998, $756,537 and $1,198,541, respectively.

Under the proposed reorganization, holders of the 825,829 outstanding shares of Kolster common will receive one share of new stock for three shares of old, plus the right to buy one new share at $10.50 for each share issued in exchange, the new corporation to credit the Woodard company against purchase commitments with $1.50 a share for each new share so purchased.

The petition also proposes that for the combined debt to Spreckels and Diedrich and the 80,000 shares of preferred stock held in their names, 200,000 shares of new common stock will be issued to them and split between them at their option.

The corporation will be capitalized at 5,000,000 shares of no par value common stock and an authorized $4,500,000 par value 6 per cent ten year convertible debenture notes.

Steel Merger Opponents to Pry Into Schwab's Salary

Youngstown, O., July 29.—(AP)—Further probe into bonuses paid to officials by the Bethlehem Steel corporation was indicated by attorneys for the Cyrus S. Eaton interests, who are seeking to enjoin merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company with Bethlehem.

CHAS. M. SCHWAB.

The attorneys said they will attempt to get into the record of the suit the salary paid to Charles M. Schwab, Bethlehem chairman, and the bonuses paid to several lesser officials. President Eugene G. Grace of Bethlehem testified last week he received salary of $12,000 and bonuses of $1,623,753 in 1929. The bonuses of six vice presidents, ranging from $110,077 to $375,784, were revealed at the same time.

Schwab, it was brought out, apportions the bonuses according to the earnings. He does not himself receive a bonus, but the Eaton attorneys said they will ask the Bethlehem corporation to volunteer information on his salary.

Seek Ore Contract Copies.

The Eaton side today completed, or nearly completed, its inquisition into the proxies and stock which was voted to ratify the merger last April 8. Introduction of evidence on this phase of the case required nearly three full days.

W. J. Morris, vice president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, is expected to be on the stand tomorrow to testify about the purchase of stock during the proxy battle that preceded the April 8 meeting. Eaton attorneys also requested their opponents to bring into court tomorrow copies of ore contracts between Sheet and Tube and Pickands, Mather & Co., Cleveland ore firm, and an $880,000 check with which Pickands, Mather & Co. repaid a loan to the Bethlehem corporation.

Most of the testimony in today's session concerned stock which was sold to merger opponents just before the ratification meeting, but voted by pro-mergerists who appeared upon the company's books as the owners.

Witnesses were Walter E. Meub, secretary of Sheet and Tube; Harold T. Clark, attorney, and Carl Ullman of the Dollar Savings and Trust company.

Dispute Voting Right.

Transfer records of 32,945 shares of stock sold to Otis & Co., a Cyrus S. Eaton interest, but voted to ratify the merger, were introduced into evidence today.

The Eaton attorneys contend the pro-mergerists acted without legal right in voting the stock, which they sold after the record date of March 22, 1930, and prior to the stockholders' meeting of April 8, when the deal was ratified.

The point of law to be decided by Judge David G. Jenkins, presiding, is whether a stockholder can vote stock which he does not own but which is credited to him on the books of the company.

Income of 145 Companies Shows 16.2 Pct. Decline

Income statements of 145 industrial, railroad, and utility corporations so far reporting net for the first half of the year show a decrease of 16.2 per cent from the similar period of 1929, a compilation by Standard Statistics company shows. The survey points out, however, that the record this year as compared with 1928 is nowhere near so poor—in fact, a slight gain in earnings being shown this year over 1928.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 29.—The stock market slipped backward today, and what few traders were about just sat tight and let it slide. From its action it might as well have been on one of those pleasure cruises to "nowhere" that are so popular these days. Total sales amounted to only 1,849,580 shares and aside from the public utility group nothing was able to move against the trend.

Look for Explanation.

While favorites up and down the list were in a dead calm or wavering, pronounced weakness broke out among the railroad shares and merchandising stocks. Leading rails from Atchison to Union Pacific tumbled 2 to 8 points. Southern railway hit a new low of 88 and then struggled back to 89⅝ for a 5⅝ net loss on the day. The assured dividend payers were in just as much trouble as the shaky rails.

ROSENWALD PUTS OLD SOUTH SIDE HOME ON MARKET

Julius Rosenwald has put on the market the eighteen room mansion at the southeast corner of 49th street and Drexel avenue in which he lived for many years. The residence with its gardens was one of the show places of the south side. Mr. Rosenwald is said to have lost interest in the house after the death of his first wife. Since his return from his tour of the Mediterranean with his second wife, the former Mrs. Adele Goodkind, Mr. Rosenwald has been living at his summer residence at Ravinia. The Rosenwalds plan to reside at the Drake Towers during the winter. James J. Parker & Co. are agents for the south side property for which $150,000 is being asked.

Applying Specialized Experience To Trust Work

No one person among the 638 in the Trust Department of this Bank attempts to specialize in every single phase of trust work. But at least one officer and a corps of qualified assistants always are ready, with knowledge based upon experience, to meet any trust problem which presents itself. Such method of organization, where each division concentrates on a specific line of trust activity, assures that every detail in connection with your estate will be handled by the particular persons best qualified and equipped to give it experienced attention

INSULL UTILITY LEADS CHICAGO STOCK ACTIVITY

Price Changes in Main Are Unimportant.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Quiet trading on the Chicago Stock Exchange yesterday resulted in few price changes of importance. An absence of either aggressive buying or selling made for a humdrum market which produced no unusual features. Transactions for the day amounted to only 110,000 shares.

Insull Utility common was the most active stock on the board with a turnover of more than 14,000 shares. Announcement of a stock rights "melon" for shareholders was made on the previous day. The price on the final sale yesterday was a fraction below the previous close. The second preferred shares on a few odd lot sales were down 1½ for the day.

Leaders Inactive.

The traditional leaders in point of sales were dull, and not one showed any material change. Grigsby Grunow slipped a minor fraction and Middle West Utilities eased to 30¼. Majestic Household was off slightly on the last sale.

A few sales were made in Borin Vivitone substantially below the last price. The issue closed at 8, down 4¾ points. The regular semi-annual of $1.25 on the company's preference stock has been omitted by directors.

Consumers common sold down a fraction on a few trades following the announcement that directors had omitted the regular quarterly dividend on the preferred stock, which is due at this time. The usual quarterly of $1.50 on the prior preferred stock was voted. Failure of the Consumers company directors to declare the preferred dividend is seen as a result of the conditions which have existed in the building industry for the last several months. The company handles building material, coal and ice.

Shows Improvement.

The company reported net profit after all charges including taxes for the six months ended June 30 of $781,471 which compares with $757,237 in the corresponding period last year, an increase of $24,234.

CHICAGO CURB EXCHANGE STOCKS

Heavy trading in Insull Utility rights and general activity throughout the list swelled the Chicago curb volume to 26,470 shares yesterday. Insull common rights declined fractionally. Hammond Clock gained a point. American Tobacco B marked up its best price of the year at 121¼, but reacted to finish with a fractional decline. Chicago Rapid Transit common lost more than a point.

CORN, WHEAT MARKETS NOW PART COMPANY

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Corn and wheat markets parted company yesterday, corn showing a strong undertone from the start, while all deliveries of wheat sold at a new low on the crop. July wheat sold down to 85¾c, or 1¾c under Monday's finish and at the last was 86@86¼c. July corn closed at 86⅝c, and September at 86@86¼c, wheat going to a discount for the first time since July, 1927, when cash corn sold as high as 1c, or 9c above the price of wheat.

Crop damage reports on corn are increasing, and a statement by Chairman Legge of the farm board calling attention to the similarity between weather conditions now and in 1901, when the yield per acre for the country was only 16.7 bu, caused a great deal of comment. In that year the condition dropped from 81.3 on July 1 to 54 on Aug. 1, with a total crop of only 1,523,000,000 bu, and far below domestic requirements. The July 1 condition this year was 79.9.

Corn Prices Advance.

There was rather persistent commission house and local buying of corn futures, which found offerings small except from local longs and holders of offers. Outside buying was not as aggressive, however, as on Monday, and the late weakness in wheat caused a reaction of around ½c from the best figures. There was some buying of corn against sales of wheat by spreaders, and also closing of spreads between September and December corn, the latter being sold. Net gains were ⅝@1¼c, with December finishing at 80⅜@80½c.

No rain was shown overnight in the main corn belt and the forecast was for generally fair and continued cool, although there was a possibility of showers in Kansas. Each day of dry weather is regarded as lowering the prospective yield, and the claims of damage are now coming from sections of Illinois and Iowa that have been sending favorable reports heretofore. No attention was paid to reports that Argentine corn had been bought to go to Boston or that a cargo of Rumanian grain was now afloat for Canada.

Wheat Market Lacks Support.

Decline to a new low on the crop for all deliveries of wheat was said by pit brokers as due more to lack of support than to any aggressive selling. Final trades were at net losses of 1¾@1⅝c, with July at 86@86¼c; September, 87⅝@87¾c to 88c, and December at 93¼@93⅜c to 93¼c. Winnipeg turned weak toward the last and had considerable influence here, as it closed 2¼c lower. There was closing of spreads between Chicago September and Winnipeg October during the day, the difference being around 6¾c, against 8c recently.

An estimate that the three Canadian provinces would harvest 391,000,000 bu of wheat this season was made by the Searle Grain company of Winnipeg. This would compare with 276,000,000 bu harvested last year. Foreign demand has been inactive for several days, with sales of 500,000 to 600,000 bu in all positions on Tuesday, largely Manitobas. Liverpool closed ⅛@½d lower, with a German official estimate showing a prospective yield of 140,000,000 bu, or 21,000,000 bu in excess of last year. Offsetting continued wet weather on the continent.

Oats market was influenced to a large extent by the action of corn, and closed unchanged to ⅛c lower, with July at 34⅜c and September at 34¾c. Cereal interests were credited with buying futures, while the northwest sold, presumably hedging against purchases of cash grain to arrive.

Rye was easier with wheat and finished 1@1½c lower, July being 91¼c and September 55⅝c at the last. German crop is officially estimated at 333,000,000 bu, compared with 298,000,000 bu last year.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Butter futures moved within a fractional range on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, holding fairly steady. A bullish storage report acted as a brake on a good amount of realising sales. November storage standards lost ¼c from the final figure Monday. Egg futures worked fractionally higher early, failed to hold the gain at the close, and final sales were unchanged from Monday.

Realising sales on the upturn at the opening of butter brought about a slight reaction, which was readily absorbed. The 26 cities reported a 2,500,000 lb reduction in the excess. The market appeared to be resting and many traders believe that most factors have been fairly well discounted. Expectations that the reports on the make would show a further shrinkage, aided by continued warm weather, helped the steady undertone. Sales: Butter, 155 cars; eggs, 38 cars. Receipts: Butter, 12,943 tubs; eggs, 11,972 cases. Prices follow:

FIRMER MARKET FOR LARD

Offerings of lard were light, with only scattered liquidation and some short selling. Everything was absorbed and prices closed at 2½c net higher for the day. July bellies were bid up 25c and there were deliveries of 150,000 lbs. Good demand for bellies from the south, with offerings said to be small. Cash trade in lard and meats was fair on domestic account and a good export business was also closed in lard. Export clearances of lard were 1,100,590 lbs and of bacon, 24,950 lbs.

A feature was the advance of 10 to 25 cents in hogs on light receipts here and in the west, being more than a week and a year ago. Prices follow:

The Southern Sugar Company

The undersigned Committee of creditors of The Southern Sugar Company has been formed for the purpose of obtaining unity of action by the creditors of said Company in the protection of their interests. The Committee has prepared a Creditors Deposit Agreement, copies of which may be obtained from the Secretary of the Committee or from either of the Depositaries named below.

Creditors of The Southern Sugar Company may cooperate with the Committee and become parties to the Creditors Deposit Agreement by depositing their claims in negotiable form with either of the Depositaries designated in the Agreement at their specified offices, viz.:

Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company,
70 Broadway, New York City, N. Y.

Central Farmers' Trust Company,
West Palm Beach, Florida.

In the opinion of the Committee, a forced liquidation of the Company at this time either through bankruptcy or otherwise would be prejudicial to the best interests of all creditors. The Committee is advised that a group of influential stockholders are engaged in the formation of a Stockholders' Committee to provide sufficient working capital to carry the Company through the approaching season and to formulate a plan for the reorganization or readjustment of the affairs of the Company upon equitable terms both to creditors and stockholders which will permit the Company to continue its operations.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Failure of the corn market to hold the outside prices as well as the disappointment over the failure of local and outside traders to support the market around the top prices, brought selling orders among the trade. There is an unusual amount of timidity as regards buying corn on bulges and with prices higher than wheat there was less disposition to load up, fearing that there might be good general rains, which it is believed would dampen bullish ardor. It was said there was less long corn held by big professionals than for several days.

Despite the fact that wheat prices are down to the lowest and hedgers are more careful about putting out their lines, trade sentiment has become bearish. The disposition is to look for lower prices, unless weather conditions become unfavorable for harvesting spring wheat. It is believed that while the peak of the winter wheat movements has been reached more export buying is needed to hold values at the present level. Late advices from the seaboard said that exporters are becoming more cautious regardless of the decline in prices.
